Acknowledgments

This family has been so fun to research. The diversities of personalities uncovered were so vast it made each person come alive again through what they left behind. It also allowed for an excuse to travel to New York State, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and to even do some research in Arkansas.

This book would not have been at all possible without the help and resources of Peg Crouch, Theron and Joy Hanes, the late Florence Hardin, Tom and Joy Hardin, and my immediate family, Jim and Amanda Wells and Jaime and Mike Hanni-Wells.

Thanks also to Amanda Wells who helped with a lot of the more tedious (ha ha) work, such as copying, transcribing letters and diaries, identifying pictures, and accompanying me on many trips to libraries.

There are numerous websites and books cited throughout, but I would like to acknowledge the people who helped directly: Betty Geyer, Karen Kysilka, Ken Everett, Regina Fallace, Laura Dietz, Bruce Cotton, Skip Wiest, Rob Altenburg, Fred Wagner, Barbara Engle, Nancy Schultz, Rich Tumblous, Jean Ann Childers, Norm & Genie Smith, Cindy Lolling, Mary Ellen Maurer, Catherine Martin and her sister Caroline, Michael J. Moore, Ken Everett, Richard Cooley, and Rebecca Furnell. A very BIG thank you to all of you!

I hope you enjoy this and learn a great deal!

4. Wilhelm Aden³ Altenburg (Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born September 09, 1756 in Hersfeld, Hesse-Cassel, and died January 19, 1821 in Oppenheim, Fulton, NY. He married Elizabeth Mosher Abt. 1781 in prob. Dutchess Co., NY, daughter of Nicholas Mosher. She was born July 12, 1765 in Dutchess Co., NY, and died July 03, 1845 in Attica, Wyoming, NY.

Notes for Wilhelm Aden Altenburg: In the 1790 census, they lived in Ballston. They were in Oppenheim by 1796 and lived there until William died in 1821.

In the files at the Historical Research Center located in Herkimer County, New York it had a letter and packet. "Sue, Herb Schielbe? brought this in to me and thought the Herkimer County Historical Society might want the information. As near as I can make out, Herb became interested in this Altenburg family after watching A & E's series on the Revolutionary War in which some of the family is mentioned. He has done a lot of research via "America On-Line," etc. on this family. Apparently his latest research led him back to the town of Manheim where this Wilhelm Altenburg is apparently buried. Note on second page is where the tombstone is located in the Snells' Bush Church Cemetery..." Liz Hall

This information that he had on the second page is repeated in the first few sentences below this paragraph so I will not repeat it. In addition to this it states: Interesting family history The Altenburg Castle is still standing in Altenburg, German. It contains an organ once played by J. S. Bach. Louise of Saxe-Gotha-Altenburg was the mother of Prince Albert Augustus of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. Prince Albert married Victoria Hanover, Queen of Britain. Also, someone else writing another letter is asking about a John William Altenburg born in Germany Sept. 28, 1756 married to Elizabeth Mosier. (Mrs. Robert Yeazell 1830 Stratford Place, Springfield, OH 45504 (1974) Note: Many German families gave their children four names such as Johannes (John) Wilhelm Aden Altenburg. I have yet to see all four names together though.

The first Altenburg to come to America was Wilhelm Aden Altenburg. He was born on Sept. 9, 1756 in Hersfeld, Hesse-Kassel. The town of Hersfeld is now known as Bad Hersfeld, and is located about 20 km southwest of the city of Kassel, between the towns of Fritzlar and Melsungen. About 30 km to the northwest is the small town of Altenburg. (Note: there are several towns in Germany called Altenburg).

Wilhelm came to America in 1776 as a private with the Prinz Carl regiment of Hessian troops (German soldiers hired by the British). He served in Company 4, under the command of Obrist (Colonel) Johann Wilhelm Schreiber. Another Altenburg from Hersfeld, Bernhard, also came to America. He was assigned to the Johann Lengerke Grenadier Battalion. Records show that he died of a non-battle related cause (probably disease) during the war. It is possible that this person was a brother of Wilhelm's. In approximately 1781 he married Elizabeth Mosher - presumed to be the daughter of Nicholas (b. ca. 1740) who was a loyalist to the British crown. This likely took place in Dutchess Co. New York. Elizabeth was born July 12, 1765 in Dutchess Co. and died on either June or July 3, 1845 in Attica, Wyoming Co. According to Hessian records Wilhelm deserted his regiment in August, 1782 to settle in America. In 1790, Census date shows that he and Elizabeth lived in Ballston, NY, but were in Palatine, NY by the Census of 1800. Wilhelm was living in Montgomery county during the 1810 Census as well. In about 1820 Wilhelm paid four dollars towards the salary of Rev. David Devoe of the Dutch Reformed St. John's Church, St. Johnsville, Montgomery County, NY. He was, most likely, still living in Montgomery county, but he does not appear in the 1820 Census. Wilhelm died on January 19, 1821 and is buried in the Snells Bush Church Graveyard in what is now Manheim Township, Herkimer Co., NY. (Prior to 1797 the town of Manheim was part of the town of Palatine, Montgomery County, NY) The 1821 Assessment Roll for the town of Oppenheim, Montgomery County, NY listed Wilhelm's widow Elizabeth as the owner of 200 acres of land in that town. (The town of Palatine is now part of the town of Oppenheim.)

In an article (Skip Wiest dwiest@delphi.com) about the Regiment Prinz Carl: On Jan. 21, 1776, the Regiment marched from Hersfeld. On March 23, they embarked in Carlstadt at Bremerlehe, and sailed on April 17, 1776. They landed at Staten Island, NY on August 15.

They fought in the battle of White Plains (on October 28, 1776) and participated in the capture of Newport, RI (July 29 to August 31, 1778). Otherwise, they were only involved in unimportant actions. On November 12, 1783 the Regiment sailed from New York for Bremerlehe. On May 28, 1784, the Regiment returned to the garrison at Hersfeld. The unit was garrisoned Newport, RI until 1777 and then garrisoned in New York until 1783. There is also information to suggest that they fought at Brooklyn (Aug. 11-30, 1776) and participated in the Virginia Raid. Unlike many other Hessian units, the Regiment Prinz Carl did not have a contract with the British that required "Blood Money" be paid for each soldier killed.

William is buried at Snells Bush Church, Manheim, NY founded 1750 where Wilhelm's grave marker is. It says, "William Altenburg died Jan. 19th 1821 in the (65th) years of (his) age". We went there and took a picture of the grave and church August 2000. We also bought a Snells Bush History book at the local historical society.

William gave $4.00 to the salary of Rev. David Devee at the Saint Johns Church in Oppenheim, NY.

The following information is from the Rob Altenburg pages on the internet: "THE STORY One of the stories in the Altenburg family is that the first ancestor to come to America was the son of the duke of Saxe-Altenburg in Germany. While stories of fame, fortune and royal relatives are common in genealogical research, these claims are still worth investigating. It appears that the story can be traced to Ephraim Francher Altenburg (1855-1935) who told his daughter that his father George Altenburg (1825-1869) and his uncles sent a lawyer to Germany to recover some of the "estate" but never heard from the lawyer again. It is clear that Ephraim believed the story, and it seems reasonable that his father believed it too. George was the grandson of Wilhelm, who came from Germany, but because Wilhelm died before George's birth, the two never met. If George heard anything about the story at all, it was from likely his father Daniel, although there is no evidence to suggest that. One interesting point is that, so far, the story of the Duke only appears in the line that descends from Daniel although most Altenburg researchers are aware of the regal history of the name. WILHELM ALTENBURG There is little doubt that the first Altenburg of this line to come to America was Wilhelm Aden Altenburg of Hersfeld (now Bad Hersfeld) Hesse-Cassel, Germany. This family tree has been clearly established by multiple researchers tracing their lineage back different lines and is supported by all the records that have been found. Although a later family Bible gives the date of his birth as Sept 9, 1756, the date of his tombstone and recent research of baptism records in Germany suggest that May of 1755 may be the correct date. In either case he was definitely born sometime in the mid 1750s. This Wilhelm came to America as a Hessian mercenary in 1776 to fight for the British during the revolution. He was a Private (Gemeiner) in the Prinz Carl Regiment and, after the war in August of 1782, deserted his regiment. These facts appear in the records of the Hessian troops that were kept by the Germans. It is reasonable to assume that he left his regiment to stay in American with his wife and son. The fact that Wilhelm's rank was that of a Private it is almost certain that his family lacked the wealth or social status needed for him to be given a commission. It's worth noting that if Wilhelm knew he had any claim to wealth or title in Germany he did not make any reference to it in his will or any documents that have been found. This information does not imply that there no close or acknowledged relationship. THE DUCHY OF SAXE-ALTENBURG The stories mention the Duke of Saxe-Altenburg. (In German, the title "Duke" is "Herzog" and "Saxe-Altenburg" is spelled "Sachsen-Altenburg.") Like most royal families, the records of those people who ruled the region of Germany in question have been kept in great detail. The family of Saxe-Altenburg is of the Ernestine line, common to all ducal families of Saxony, as opposed to the Albertine line common to the kings of Saxony. Although the house of Saxe-Altenburg did not become extinct until 1991, legal claim to any privilege has not been made since Ernst II

v. Sachsen-Altenburg renounced the throne in 1918. (Since 1919, according to the German republican government, the nobility no longer exists as a legal entity. Nevertheless, the titles and noble designations of the nobility have not been abolished.)

He is in the Wisconsin census in Marathon County, Knowlton Town. He is 81 and an Afa Altenburg, widow (22) born in NY is living with him along with Tracy D. born in Wisconsin. I am guessing that he moved along with some of his nephews to Wisconsin.

He had Sarah Latson from another source, and I know that is wrong because she married our Daniel.

Notes for Henry E. Altenburg: Information from the webpage of Skip Wiest at <http://www.geocities.com/Heartland/Ranch> Oct. 1999.

I think this is wrong. I think he ran across his Civil War Records and put him with the wrong Daniel. Actually there could be two Henry's. I found two Henry's in the civil war pensions file. I do not have birthdays for them but one is our Henry from Indiana and then there is a Henry from NY which would have fit into this line.

8. William⁴ Altenburg (Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born October 02, 1790 in Ballston, Saratoga, NY, and died October 05, 1878 in Darien, Genesee, NY. He married Elizabeth V. She was born Abt. 1796, and died December 20, 1871.

Notes for William Altenburg: Information from the webpage of Skip Wiest at <http://www.geocities.com/Heartland/Ranch> Oct. 1999.

On the LDS files it says William was Christened on Aug 20, 1791 in the First Presbyterian Church at Ballston, Ballston Center, Saratoga, NY.

We found information at Montgomery County, saying he was baptized at Milton and was the son of William Altenberg and wife Elizabeth. He is buried at Summit View Cemetery near Bennington, NY.

In the will of his father, it mentions Daniel, son of William Junior but it does not mention him in William Junior's will. The following people were mentioned: Gains Altenburg of Darien, Genesee County, NY; Barney Altenburg, Oakfield, Genesee County, NY; John W. Altenburg, Elena City, Wausekin, Minnesota; George W. Altenburg; Portage, Wisconsin; Lucinda Klock, Cedar Falls, Black Hawk, Iowa; Catharine Wait, Attica, Wyoming County, NY, Eliza Sanderson, Pembroke, Genesee County, NY, and Elizabeth Jefferson, Batavia, Genesee, NY. Notes for Margaret Altenburg: Information on he and his sons from the website:
http://www.paonline.com/rea/rob/gene/epf_alt.htm. This website is no longer available.

28. Daniel A.⁵ Altenburg (William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born July 19, 1809 in Montgomery County, NY, and died January 19, 1888 in Auburn, IN. He married (1) Sarah A. Latson March 14, 1833, daughter of William Latson and Hannah Valleau. She was born September 12, 1811 in Genesee Co, NY, and died May 24, 1862 in DeKalb Co., IN. He married (2) Susan Stine June 03, 1867, daughter of John Stine and Susanna. She was born October 18, 1824 in Washington, Montour County, PA, and died June 07, 1915 in Union Twp., DeKalb County, IN.

Notes for Daniel A. Altenburg: I am not sure if I have Daniel with the right parents. According to the guy that researched the Altenburgs, this Daniel was born 1814. I am wondering about the coincidence of originally Daniel's birthday was written 1814 and then crossed off and 1809 was put in. Maybe it was written down wrong somewhere and this is where he got his information from (Bible, county history books, record of some sort in NY). Will look into this later.

In the 1885 DeKalb County History Book it says on page 825 under Churches that Daniel Altenburg and James R. Cosper were the only two living that was a member of the first class of the first Methodist Episcopal church that was organized in 1839. It was first called the St. Joseph Mission and the church was built in 1843, at the northeast corner of the square.

Daniel is in the 1840 census for DeKalb County as Daniel Aldenburgh. This census for DeKalb is very hard to read and we are fortunate that his name is in one of the places that you could actually read the names at all.

In a Land Patent Report it shows, "Daniel Altenburg in the Fort Wayne Land Office filed August 1, 1844 land in township 34-N, 40 acres in DeKalb County, Range 13-E, Fract. Sect. N, Sec/Blk 35, Aliquot NWNE

He had an accident with a tree limb and had his arm amputated. (left arm)

They were in the 1850 Union Twp census, DeKalb County, IN. He was 39.

Daniel bought land in 1850 from William McDaniel. Daniel bought land March 3, 1859 from Robert B. Showers and his wife of DeKalb County according to a warranty deed filed at DeKalb County Courthouse. Daniel and Susanna Altenburg sold land to Cosper Altenburg 1868.

He is in the 1860 Union Twp. DeKalb Co. census. He is 50.

They were in the 1860 Union Twp. census. Daniel is 50. Sarah is 48, Cosper is 18, Isaac is 15 or 16, Cilves is 13, William is 8 and Frances is 5.

He is also in the 1880 DeKalb County, Auburn City census. It says he is the Justice of the Peace and he is 70 and Susannah is 54. Franklin is living at home (20 years of age) and so is Mary Seibert, a daughter in law to Daniel (His wife, Susannah was married to a Sibert before Daniel and she got married.) and Amelia Fuller, a granddaughter that is 3.

In the March 9, 1882 Waterloo Press, it says, "Squire Altenburg of Auburn, one of the earliest settlers of the county, is in feeble health this winter."

The Waterloo Press, Feb. 1, 1883, "Squire Altenburg, who has taken The Press for twenty-four years, this week transferred his paper to his son, Frank."

Jan. 31, 1884, Waterloo Press, "Daniel Altenburg submitted to the painful operation of the amputation of his arm, on Tuesday last. His arm had been amputated about twenty-five years ago, and by reason of some carelessness of the operation, the stump has continued to pain him from adhesion of cords and muscles, until he could not endure it longer. He has been a great sufferer for the past three months, and made up his mind, that he might as well loose his life in this second operation as to suffer longer. The stump was taken off close up to the shoulder, under the direction of Dr. J. N. Chamberlain, of Waterloo, assisted by several other eminent surgeons, and from the fact that Mr. A. is past 71 years of age, it speaks well for the skill of these physicians, and also the nerve of the subject."

In the Waterloo Press, Feb. 14, 1884, Thurs., "Father Altenburg has been gradually failing since the operation upon his arm, but at this writing is resting easier, but it is feared that he will never recover from the strain."

"Mrs. Chas. Hanes returned from Auburn last Tuesday, bringing her father, Mr. Altenburgh, who is an invalid, to spend a few weeks with her for a change, "The Waterloo Press,, June 12, 1884, Thursday.

This is from the 1914 DeKalb County History Book. "Daniel Altenburg was a native of the Mohawk valley, near Buffalo, NY, and eventually moved from that locality to Sandusky, OH, where they lived two years. They moved to DeKalb County, IN in 1838.

"1914 DeKalb Co. History Book, pages 133-134" says, "Mr. Altenburg and Walsworth were among the early settlers in the vicinity of Auburn. They moved in together and left Steubenville, in Steuben County, on the morning of the fourth of November 1838, in the midst of a very heavy fall of snow, which continued all day. Having a narrow, blind, crooked track to follow, without a house for nine miles, the snow flakes falling so fast as to bewilder the traveler, and, at some times, weighing down the bushes across the track, it became necessary for one of the men to walk before the teams, to find the way, and remove the bushes overhanging it. They also had some stock to drive, and their help being rather scarce, the women were under the necessity of walking, and assisting to drive them. The snow being soft, and hanging on the bushes, those on foot became completely wet. On, on the slow ox teams passed, through snow and mud, along the crooked, narrow path, until night came on, and still all around was a bleak, snow-clad forest. They began to think of lying in their wagons for the night, but having no way of making a fire, and nothing for their teams and the wagon got entirely out of the way, and so entangled among the trees and logs that the latter had to be left. Hitching both teams to one wagon, they drove on until they began to think they must be near to the only dwelling between Steubenville and Auburn, Isaac B. Smith's. Stopping the teams, Mr. Altenburg proposed that all should unite in one desperate yell in order to find whether any human being was near. Loud and shrill arose that cry on the midnight air, but the loud howl of a pack of wolves, who name appeared to be legion, was the only reply. After holding their breath in silence for awhile, Mr. Altenburg proposed that they tune their throats anew, and pitch their voices a note or two higher, and even pinch the baby (Henry Altenburg); that he might join his voice with theirs. This effort was successful, and Mr. Smith came to their rescue with a light, and welcomed them to the hospitality of his little cabin, for although about full already, he had room for two families. The next morning, bringing up the wagon left in the rear, they started on, and succeeded in driving all of three miles through mud and snow before dark, reaching a little board shanty put up by Wesley Park for two men to lodge in, who were building a bridge over Cedar creek, where Uniontown now is. During the day, they caught a coon, and on it they feasted the following morning, the two families and the two bridge builders having somehow contrived to stow themselves away for the night in the little shanty. In the morning the question was how to get down the steep bank of the creek with the loaded wagons. This feat was accomplished by running poles under the body of the wagon and between the spokes of each wheel, so as to lock them all, and then hitching a yoke of oxen to the tongue to hold back, and another yoke to the hind part of the wagon to pull back, the oxen hitched behind, making of course, a desperate effort to prevent being dragged down.

I have his birth date and death date as 1809 and 1888 in the "Veteran's Cards for veterans of DeKalb County who served in the Civil, Spanish American, and Mexican Wars," compiled by Reba Sliger. He is buried in Old Evergreen Cemetery, grave 6, row 4, lot 27. He enlisted October 25, 1864 and was discharged Oct 23, 1865. I think this may be a mistake and they meant the son, Daniel.

In the Waterloo Press, March 11, 1875, it says that Daniel Altenberg was serving as a grand juror. I am not sure if this was he or his son, Daniel.

According to the Diary of George William Hanes, In March and April of 1876, George William Hanes and Daniel Altenburg went to Ithaca Michigan to stay with Oscar Bates and they also stayed with William Altenburg.

In the Waterloo press Oct. 19, 1876, it says that Daniel Altenburg is the Trustee of Union Twp. I am yet unsure if this is Daniel or his son. It also mentions on page 813 of the DeKalb County History Book that David (spelling error) was an early justice of the peace of union twp. and a trustee prior to 1860. I know Daniel was a justice of the peace.

In 1876, he was marrying people as justice of the peace. (example James Likens)

His death date was Jan. 19, 1888 according to his obituary (in the papers that Theron Hanes gave me).

In the Waterloo Press, January 26, 1888 (Thursday), it says, "Daniel Altenburg, an old pioneer of the county, died last Thursday at his residence in the north end of town, in the 79th year of his age. Mr. A. was well known throughout the county and observed by many who were unacquainted with him on account of his affliction, having lost an arm almost forty years ago, on account of which he was an intense sufferer, his head being bowed forward until it was difficult for him to look into the face of another, yet amid all this excruciating pain, he bore it with a patience and fortitude seldom equaled. The funeral services were largely attended at the M.E church last Sabbath by relatives, friends, and neighbors."

In another obituary it reads, "DANIEL ALTENBERG Daniel was born in Montgomery Co., NY, July 19, 1809 and died at his home in Auburn January 19, 1888 aged 78 years, 6 mos. He was married to Miss Sarah Latson March 14, 1833. To this union were born nine children all of whom are living. Mrs. Altenberg departed this life in 1868 and he was again married this time to Miss Susan Gilbert who survives him. He came to IN in 1838 when there were but few homes in Auburn and settled 2 1/2 miles east of the village where he remained until (1873 or 1875) when he sold his farm and came to Auburn. He met with a serious accident from a falling tree which necessitated the amputation of his left arm, Feb. 10, 1848. The operation was not successfully performed and in consequence he has been a constant sufferer ever since, some of the time the pain has been terrible and his strong frame has writhed in awful agony.

In hopes of obtaining relief he suffered a 2nd operation in Feb. 1884? but found relief and was compelled to suffer on until death released him. Mr. Altenberg was an earnest Christian and bore his sufferings with Christian fortitude. He was converted and joined the M.E. Church 1826, he served his church in various official positions with great acceptability. While the family feel keenly the fact that they shall see his face no more, still they can not help being grateful that at last after 40 year of constant suffering, he is permitted to rest. Surely a good man has gone to his reward."

In an obituary found in the Clara Hanes McCague and family scrapbook... "REST COMES AT LAST The Pioneers are Falling One by One Before the Reaper of Death ALTENBURG -- THE PIONEER. On last Sunday, citizens of Auburn, old neighbors from the country and many sympathizing friends, attended the funeral of Daniel Altenburg. This old man whose later years have been marked by constant pain belonged to a heroic race, now rapidly becoming extinct. He was a pioneer to DeKalb County when its present fine farms, fenceless, and houseless, save at long distances, formed part of a seemingly unbroken forest tenanted by howling wolves and herds of deer. His first night on his farm was marked by fall of snow, dismal howling of wolves, and hardships of winter. Only the pioneer himself knows what labors were required to clear a piece of ground of its heavy timber, what sense of loneliness, so far away from the old home, and so far even from neighbors. Mr. Altenburg is deserving of especial remembrance for his courage and perseverance in leading and preparing the way for the present comfort and wealth of DeKalb County citizens. It was a singular circumstance that on the day his arm was broken by the falling of a tree, two others were injured by like cause. Newspapers in the forties were rare in Northeastern Indiana but of such as were published, Altenburg was a subscriber and from their columns kept himself well informed on current events and perhaps partly owing to this fact and partly as a recognition of his claims as a pioneer, he was chosen Justice of Peace. Altenburg is dead, his pain racked body rests peacefully in our cemetery but his memory should live as long as futurity cherishes gratitude for the pioneers of civilization."

In the Courthouse history it says, "In September, 1864, the old building was sold to Daniel Altenburg for the sum of twenty-five dollars. He partially dismantled it and removed everything of value. This was near the end of the Civil War, and when news reached Auburn that Richmond, the capital of the waning Confederacy, had been captured by the Union Army, a huge crowd of local citizens congregated around the Square for a public celebration. It was suggested that a bonfire would be appropriate, to which Mr. Altenburg replied, "If you want to make a bonfire, you may burn the old courthouse." He was soon taken at his word, and the old building, for years the scene of local justice, found a glorious end in the blazing flames of a national celebration."

In the July 26, 1883 paper it says, Birthday Greeting. On Thursday the 19 ins. a few friends of D. Altenburg Esq. of Auburn met at his residence to pay him a tribute of respect and sympathy. It being his seventy-fourth birthday it was considered an appropriate time to extend to him the greeting. On entering his house he was found on his bed suffering intense pain consequent upon an unskillful amputation of his arm which occurred about thirty-five years ago. But the greetings of his children and the words of sympathy and good cheer of his friends soon exerted a magic influence in the alleviation of his physical suffering. The chief financial feature of the occasion was the presentation of a large finely upholstered rocking chair costing $18, which was received by the old gentlemen with great delight. Among those who contributed financially to this pleasing affair, some of those were not present, were, R. W. McBride, R. M. Lockhart, H. Froehheh, W. M. VanStyke, of Waterloo, C. Haines and wife, and G. W. Haines and wife of Butler; W. J. Austin, H. J. Shafer, A. Robbins, M. Boland, H. C. Peterson, J. L. Davis, G. W. Gordon and wife, C. W. Church, Bruce Miller, J. W. Boyle, T. H.

Tomlinson, W. L. Meese, J. J. Latson, John Otto, J. H. Ford, John Butt, H. Altenburg and wife, and others of Auburn and vicinity. After spending an hour in friendly social converse the party dispersed, some at least established in their belief that it is even more blessed to give than to receive."

In the 1885 County History Book, it says, "Daniel Altenburg won the election of Aug. 1, 1842 and was the coroner.

There is a book in Auburn Eckhart Library by Clara Altenburg Zimmerman, and it is based on recollections of her grandfather and grandmother and other members of their family. It is dated Oct. 8, 1956.

Notes for Sarah A. Latson:

They were in the 1850 Union Twp., DeKalb County, IN Census. She was listed at 37. I had her birthdate elsewhere as Nov. 12, 1812. This other information is from family Bible Records copied onto sheets of paper for the family.

They were in the 1860 Union Twp. census. Daniel is 50. Sarah is 48, Cosper is 18, Isaac is 15 or 16, Cilves is 13, William is 8 and Frances is 5.

Her brother died and was buried on the same day as she was. His name was Stephen Latson.

Her obituary was cut off on the right in some spots so the part that was legible, reads, "I have fought a good fight, ---ave finished my course, I have kept the faith, henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous ----dge shall give me at that day," was the ----phant language of sister Sarah Altenberg a short time before her death which occurred at ---residence at her husband, brother Daniel Altenburg in DeKalb County on May 24th. Out of 50 years probation she had spent ---irty (I presume thirty) in the service of Christ in the bosom of the ---Methodist Episcopal Church. Having settled in this county at an early day amid all the ---- and trials incident to a pioneer life, she maintained an example of Christian Piety. It was not unusual for her and her companion to be seen miles from their home attending some - ---- meeting of grace in God's house. In church ---- one of those attentive hearers whose ---in the word preached imparted to the ---- and zeal and caused him to ---- that there was at least one present who lived ---- the Word of Life. Her funeral was one of marked solemnity. Many a neighbor and acquaintance said 'A good woman has fallen' --- to add still more to the overflowing ---- on the same day brother of the deceased Mr. Stephen Latson also departed this life. Their funerals were attended at the same time and place. At the solemn tolling of the two funeral processions advanced. The ---- from the east and the other from the west --- meeting at separate doors of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Auburn, they entered at the ---- moment and the two - brother and sister --- ---- placed side by side at the altar. The text - on the occasion was 'Thus with the Lord - thy house in order for thou that died and not - 2 Kings --l.

I have her brother's tombstone date as May 24, 1862 and on her tombstone they had 1863 copied and in family records it said, May 24, 1864. Either her brothers or her tombstone was read wrong and put into the cemetery book. I think I will put down her brother's date since it was more detailed and it had the May 24 part right. I have found errors in the family records and also tombstone records so will check out as many sources as possible.

I found a Hannah Latson Valleau born Aug 9, 1823 NY d Jan 20, 1905 DeKalb Co. Her father was William Latson of NY and Hannah Valleu of NY. Her husband was William Valleau. Hannah might have been a sister of Sarah so maybe William could be Sarah's father.

More About Daniel Altenburg and Sarah Latson: Marriage: March 14, 1833

Notes for Susan Stine:

In the 1900 census, it says she has 8 children and five are living. It says her name was Susanna Seibert in the 1914 History book but it says her name was Susan Gilbert in his obituary, which I am changing it to. Her married name was Sibert. She had 9 children, 4 of whom are living at her death.

Her parent are Jacob Stine and Susannah Carpenter Stine. Information from the Gen. Forum posted by Sharon Cline on Feb 5, 1999. I am not sure about this since I have the obit. for Susan and it says her name is Gilbert. Will check later.

She is listed as Susana widow of Daniel and is living at 90 W. Main St., in Auburn. This is from "Moore's Standard Residence Directory of Auburn, IN 1908-1909.

Her death is in the death records of DeKalb County.

She is in the DeKalb Co. census in 1910 and she is 85.

In the diary of George William Hanes, Dec. 31, 1874 it says, "....Danny, Mrs. Sibert's folks here." On January 1, 1874 it says, "Went to Charlies. Dannie, Henry, Father Altenburg, and Mrs. Sibert there."

In the scrapbook of Clara Hanes McCague, "OBITUARY OF MRS. SUSANNA ALTENBURG Susanna Stine, fifth daughter and seventh child of John and Susanna Stine, was born near Washington, Montour County, Pa., October 18, 1824. When but ten years she removed with her parents to Ashland County, Ohio, where she resided for fourteen years. While living there she was united in marriage to Jacob Sibert, an industrious young farmer. When but 18 years of age she gave her heart to God and united with the Lutheran church. In 1861 her husband enlisted in the 2nd Indiana Cavalry and marched to the defense of his country's flag. Just a few months before his term of enlistment expired he succumbed to heart failure and departed this life. Thus leaving her alone with seven children, two having died in infancy. That was a day when heroines were developed and she was one whom the cruelties of a cruel war could not overwhelm and she struggled courageously against all the privations incident to that time. In 1867 she was united in marriage to Daniel Altenburg with whom she lived upon the farm for a period of nine years and in Auburn for a period of twelve years in their North Main street property. At this latter date, 1888 she was again bereft of her husband. For nearly a quarter of a century she lived in her lonely home, but in November 1911, she was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Amezia Brown, three miles north of Auburn where on the 7th of June, 1915, she laid her weary body down to rest, being old and full of years, 90 years, 7 months and 20 days. She was always a great lover of her church. For 25 years she continued a member of the Lutheran church and when she was married to Mr. Altenberg she transferred her membership to the First M. E. church of Auburn and for 48 years she has been faithful to the services whenever it was possible for her to get there. Her life has been characterized by patience and faith in God and love of service. There are four of her nine children who survive, Margaret Jane Metcalf of DeKalb county; Wilson Sibert, of near Ithica, Michigan, Mary Brown, of DeKalb County; and Phillip Sibert, of Auburn. There are also five step children who survive; Mary J. Hanes, of Hamilton; Hattie Hanes, of Butler; Cosper Altenberg, of Little Rock, Arkansas; William Altenberg, of Belden, Michigan, and Frank Altenberg, of Syracuse, Kansas. Eleven grandchildren, fifteen great-grandchildren and three great great grandchildren are the numerous descendants of this vigorous and good woman, besides a large number of the progeny of her step children who called her grandmother and loved her for her true worth."

In the June 7, 1915 Auburn Courier, Monday, "PASSES AWAY IN NINETIETH YEAR Mrs. Susanna Altenberg. One of DeKalb Oldest Citizens, Died Monday CAME TO DEKALB IN 1848 Death occurred at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Amezia Brown, North of Auburn -- Deceased Left Auburn about three years ago. In her ninety-first year, Mrs. Susanna Altenburg, who prior to two and a half years ago resided at 902 North Main Street, Auburn, passed away at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Amezia Brown at 5:30 o'clock on Monday morning. Mrs. Altenburg was born in Pennsylvania, ninety years ago last October, where she lived until ten years of age, when she moved with her parents to Ohio, where she grew to womanhood, and married Jacob Sibert. With her husband and children she came to Dekalb County, Indiana where Mr. Sibert located on a farm two and a half miles east of Auburn, in the year of 1848. The farm is known today as the Fuller Metcalf farm. Mr. Sibert responded to the call of his country and enlisted in the cause of the north in the Civil War. He died during the war, and several years later, the widow married Daniel Altenburg, who too has preceded her in death. Four children were born to the first union, but the second union was childless. The children are Margaret Metcalf, who resides east of Auburn; Wilson Sibert, of Utica, Michigan, Philip Sibert of Auburn, and Mary Brown who resides near this city. Mrs. Altenburg was a member of the First M. E. church at Auburn, where the funeral will be held at 10:30 Wednesday morning. The cemetery wherein burial will be made has not as yet been selected. Had Mrs. Altenburg lived until next Oct. 8, she would have been 91 years of age. Her death was due to the general infirmities of old age which did not manifest themselves to a serious stage until Friday, when the aged woman was taken sick. Since then her decline was rapid and death was not unexpected."

There is possibly a picture of Susanne on page iv.

Notes for Barney Altenburg: From "The Daily News," Batavia, Genesee, NY, 28 September 1887, p. 1: "A

QUEER DISAPPEARANCE: BARNEY ALTENBURG MISSING FROM EAST OAKFIELD. He is Seventy-Three Years Old and Since He Left Home After Dinner Last Friday Nothing Has Been Seen or Heard of Him. Barney Altenburg, who lived with his wife and two of his children on a small place at East Oakfield, left his home soon after dinner last Friday and since that time he has not been seen or heard from. He is described in an advertisement offering $25 reward in THE NEWS of to-day. His family were alarmed when he failed to return home at dusk on Friday, for he had said nothing about going away, but it was thought possible that he might have gone to his brother Henry's in Elba or to Corfu, where his brother Gains lives, or to his sister's, Mrs. Catherine Waite's in Attica. Information from those places, however, is to the effect that he has not been seen. The neighbors were notified of his mysterious disappearance and they turned out in force to search for the old gentleman, scouring the country in the vicinity of his home, thinking possibly that he might have been prostrated by sudden illness in the woods or fields, but they found not the slightest trace of him." From "The Daily News," Batavia, Genesee, NY, 7 November 1887, p. 1: "HIS BODY FOUND HANGING: BARNEY ALTENBURG'S SUICIDE MORE THAN SIX WEEKS AGO; How He Took His Life By Means of a Short Rope - Yesterday's Successful Search - The Remains Decomposed. OAKFIELD, Nov. 7 - The Altenburg mystery is solved at last. About fifty men started out yesterday to search the swamp at East Oakfield, and about half a mile southwest of Fred. Barr's house, Barney Altenburg's body was discovered by Ezekial Parker of North Oakfield in a dense mass of underbrush and weeds. The fact which was sent to THE NEWS several weeks ago that he started away with a rope and declared his intention of hanging himself was confirmed. The body was found under a small sapling. A piece of clothes line was tied to the tree about seven feet from the ground. One end of the rope was placed around his neck and the other end held tightly in one hand. He eventually threw himself forward and strangled himself to death, as he was found on his knees leaning forward with the rope in one hand. His cap lay beside him. His face and hands were badly decomposed, the features being hardly recognizable. He left home September 28th, six weeks ago last Friday. Coroner Pugsley was telephoned for about 1 o'clock, and accompanied by Dr. Prince and your reporter soon arrived at the spot....Undertaker Weaver placed the body in a casket and it was once interred in East Oakfield cemetery. Barney Altenburg was born at Bennington, Wyoming county, March 20th, 1817, and consequently was in his seventy-first year. Soon after he was married he removed to Attica and lived there nearly forty years. About sixteen years ago he removed to East Oakfield on a small farm where he had since resided. The family consists of his wife, two sons, Harvey and Henry, and five daughters - Nettie, unmarried; Mrs. Charles Fisher of Batavia; Mrs. M. 118. Daniel Wells⁶ Altenburg (Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born May 05, 1834 in Utica, Genesee Co., NY, and died December 01, 1895 in Gratiot, Newark Twp., MI. He married Sophia Ingman February 25, 1856, daughter of Lanslot Ingman and Maria Truman. She was born February 01, 1838 in Auburn, Indiana, and died March 15, 1917 in Saginaw, MI.

Notes for Daniel Wells Altenburg: In the Gratiot County, Michigan History Book (1884), "Daniel W. Altenburg, farmer and County Surveyor, was born in Wyoming Co., N.Y., May 5, 1834; and is a son of Daniel and Sarah (Latson) Altenburg. His father was a native of new York, of Holland descent, and has followed farming all his life. In the fall of 1839, he moved to Union Township, DeKalb Co., Indiana and he was one of the pioneer of that county. His family was the fifth in the township. He afterwards removed to the county seat, Auburn, where, in comfortable circumstances, he now lives a retired life. He is 74 years old, and the second oldest pioneer in DeKalb County. He is an active member of the M. E. church, and has been Class-leader for many years. Sarah Latson was a native of Genesee County, and of New England ancestry. She moved to DeKalb Co., Ind., in 1839, and died in Union Township May 22, 1863. She had always been a faithful Christian, and her death was an example to all unbelievers. She passed away rejoicing, and admonishing her children to serve the Lord and keep his commandments. She left nine children, all of whom are yet living, in good circumstances, and occupying positions of trust and honor. One is a prominent attorney at Little Rock, Ark., and has represented his county in the Arkansas legislature. Four served their country during the Rebellion, and were honorably discharged. The subject of this sketch, when six months old, was taken by his parents to Sandusky Co., O., and four years later to DeKalb Co., Ind., where they settled in Union Township. They found themselves in a dense wilderness, and Daniel being the oldest son as he grew up much of the labor of clearing and improving a farm in a new country devolved upon him. His educational advantages were therefore limited; but, being of a persevering disposition, he attended school during his less busy winters, and thus, with the help of miscellaneous reading, he acquired a fair education. During the last two years that he lived at home, he was an engineer of the Elk River Valley railroad, which runs through DeKalb County. Feb. 18, 1855, he was married to Sophia, daughter of Lanslot and Maria (Truman) Ingman, natives respectively of Fairfield Co., Ohio, and London England; and of English and German descent. Mr. Ingman followed farming most of his life, but was also for some time a cabinet maker. He removed to DeKalb County, Ind., in 1836, very early in its history, he and his brothers being the first two settlers near Auburn; and in connection with his brother-in-law, Mr. Wesley Parks, located and platted the present city of Auburn. He was for many years a prominent man, and for some time Justice of the Peace. In that place Mr. Ingman died, Dec. 2, 1874; Mr. Ingman May 26, 1883; and their only daughter besides Sophia, but a little later. Sophia (Ingman) Altenburg was born Feb. 1, 1838 in Auburn, Ind., and was the third white child born in that place. She lived in Auburn with her parents until eight years of age, when her father traded his cabinet shop and village property for a farm near by, to which they all removed. There she was reared and educated and married. Mr. and Mrs. Altenburg moved to the county seat; he having been chosen County Surveyor, and he surveyed nearly the whole county. He finally resigned, not wishing to serve under a Democratic administration. Oct. 18, 1864, he enlisted in Co. M., 1st Ind. Vol. Heavy Art., under Capt. Samuel E. Armstrong and Col. Canby. He was at New Orleans and at the taking of Mobile, and was honorably discharged at New Orleans, Oct. 24, 1865. Selling his property in Auburn, he came to this State and county, and located on 80 acres on section 17, Newark Township. Here he resided 17 years, bough 64 acres to a high state of cultivation and drainage, and built a very fine brick residence. His farm was known as one of the model farms of Gratiot County. He made maple sugar very extensively, producing annually from 3,500 to 4,500 pounds. Aug. 4, 1883, he sold his farm in Newark Township; and August 10 he purchased 80 acres on section 24, Arcada township where he now resides. He has a good location and is fast making a fine farm, 45 acres being already improved. Mr. and Mrs. Altenburg have a family of seven, as follows: Frank F., born April 10, 1856; Araminta, April 18, 1858; Henry L., Oct. 4, 1862; Maria E. Jan. 19, 1867; William L. July 3, 1871; Orville L., Dec. 21, 1876; and Daniel T., Dec. 10, 1878. Mr. and Mrs. A. are member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and active workers for Christianity. All their family have been brought up under careful religious influences. Mr. Altenburg is a member of Ithaca Lodge, No. 216, I.O.O.F. Politically he is a staunch Republican. He has always commanded the respect of his fellow citizens, and although he is not an office-seeker he has occupied many positions of honor. In 1867, he was appointed Deputy County Surveyor, and the following year he was elected County Surveyor. Excepting one term, he has held one of these two offices continuously to the present time. In January, 1871, the Board of Supervisors appointed him Drain Commissioner, which office he retained for ten years. he then positively declined to serve longer."

Also in the same 1913 Gratiot County History Book under Arcada Township, it mentions that "Daniel W. Altenburg came to Gratiot in 1866, settling on section 17, Newark Township. He was a producer of large quantities of maple sugar for many year, his output amounting to from 3,000 to 5,000 pounds annually. In 1883 he removed to section 25, Arcada Township, and few years later to Ithaca, where he died December 1, 1895, aged 61 years. He served as a soldier in the Civil War. By profession he was a surveyor as well as a farmer, and was chosen county surveyor of this county no less than ten terms, to-wit: 1870, '72, '74, '80, '82, '84, '88, '90, '92, and '94. A quiet unassuming man with many friends His wife, Sophia, died March 25, 1907, aged 69. Their children were Frank, F. Araminta, Henry I., Maria E., William L., Orville L., and Daniel T."

He was 16 in the 1850 census.

In the 1860, Auburn, Union Twp., DeKalb Co., IN census, he is 25 and married to Sophia. They Have two children. He is listed as the county surveyor.

In the 21st Indiana Volunteer Infantry it mentions that Company A had upon its roll the following men from DeKalb county...Caspar Altenburg was among them. In Company M, they had Daniel W. and Isaac L. Altenburg.

In the 1885 DeKalb Co. History book, it says the Daniel W. Altenburg got elected Surveyor, pages 322 and 323.

In the 1885 DeKalb County History Book it says on page 927 that Daniel Altenburg succeeded Mr. Cannon in the furniture business in Auburn and name was changed from Cannon & Rush to Rush & Altenburg."

On page 348 of the 1885 DeKalb County History book, it says under Company M, "Altenberg, Daniel W., mustered in Oct. 25, 1864, out Oct. 23, 1865 and Altenberg, Isaac L., mustered in Oct. 25, 1864, out Oct. 23, 1865."

Jan. 26, 1888, Thursday, The Waterloo Press, "Casper Altenburg came from Little Rock Arkansas, to attend his father's funeral as did Daniel, Isaac and Will, from Michigan." He filed for civil war pension in 1889.

Information about death in Bible Records copied on sheets of paper. On this sheet of paper it says Dec. 1, 1894 though. In his obituary it says, "D.W. Altenburg - County Surveyor D.W. Altenburg hears the Final Summons. After a tedious illness of several months duration D.W. Altenburg, County Surveyor of Gratiot County and one of our earliest pioneers died at his home in this village on Sunday Dec. 1. Mr. Altenburg's early home was in Auburn, IN where he came with his parents in 1839, when only six months of age. While still a boy he became a convert to religion and was a regular attendant at church. His home influences were of a religious character. Amid all the privations and hardships of pioneer life, by perseverance he obtained a good education and soon rose to the position of county surveyor in which position he served five years. He served as a volunteer from Oct. 18, 1864 to Oct. 24, 1865. The same year, Mr. Altenburg removed with his wife to Gratiot Co. and located in Newark Township & still more recently to Ithaca. In 1868, Mr. Altenburg was elected County Surveyor, a position he has held almost continuously until the present time. During many years, he was County Drain Commissioner. He was always a staunch Republican and a firm and consistent Christian. In 1888 he united with the Free Methodist church and remained an active member to the time of his death. About Sept. of this year, he became conscious that he had but a short time to live. He was reconciled and trusted implicitly in his Heavenly Father. In his dying hour he called his children around his bedside and bade them all goodby. At this request, the family sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul," shortly after he passed away at 8:10 Dec. 1. His funeral occurred at the Methodist Church Wed., Rev. Green officiating and his remains were laid to rest in the village cemetery. Mr. Altenburg was one of our most honorable citizens and will be greatly missed from the county whose history is so closely identified with his."

In the Dec. 12, 1895 Auburn Courier, "We are sorry to learn of the death of Daniel Altenburg, of Ithaca, Mich. He died from cancer of the stomach one week ago yesterday and was buried last Wednesday. He was an uncle of Mrs. John Zimmerman and formerly a resident of Auburn."

In the Waterloo Press, Dec. 1, 1881 it says, "D.W. and Isaac Altenburg of Gratiot county, Mich., spent Sunday with their father, Squire Altenburg of Auburn."

In the 1880 Gratiot Co., Newark Twp, MI census it has Daniel 46, Sophia 43, Mariah 13, William 8, Orville 5, and Daniel 1.

More About Daniel Wells Altenburg: Cause of Death: cancer of the stomach

Notes for Sophia Ingman: It shows that Sophia applied for civil war pension in 1896. It shows in the 1880 Gratiot MI soundex that her mother is living with them and her name is Mariah Enghman and she is 65 and was born in England.

Her parents were Lanslot and Maria (Truman) Ingman, natives respectively of Fairfield Co., Ohio, and London England; and of English and German descent. Mr. Ingman followed farming most of his life, but was also for some time a cabinet maker. He removed to DeKalb Co., Indiana, in 1836, very early in its history, and he and his brothers being the first two settlers near Auburn; and in connection with his brother-in-law Wesley Parks, located and platted the present city of Auburn. He was for many years a prominent man, and for some time Justice of the Peace. In that place Mr. Ingman died, Dec. 2, 1874; Mrs. Ingman May 26, 1883; and their only daughter besides Sophia, but a little later. Sophia was the third white child born in Auburn. Information from the 1884 Gratiot County History book in the bio of Daniel W. Altenburg.

Sophia is in the 1850 Union Twp, DeKalb County Indiana Census. She is 12 and her sister Mary is 15.

Marriage Notes for Daniel Altenburg and Sophia Ingman: In the Indiana State Library Genealogy Division it has Daniel Altenberg marrying Sophia Ingman in DeKalb on Feb 25, 1856. Also Claude Buss has this date. I am guessing this is where he got his information. The other source I had, had Feb. 1854.

In the Gratiot County Biography done on them in 1888 it says they were married Feb. 18, 1855. Interesting, as this has three different marriage dates.

Bef. 1908 He was born October 03, 1833 in Stark Co., OH, and died February 07, 1916 in Hamilton, IN.

Notes for Mary Jane Altenburg: Marriage Records of DeKalb County, IN. It says she was born in Ohio and she was in the 1850 census. In the 1850 Census she was born in OH. In the 1870 Census, it says she was born in NY.

In a sheet that Theron gave me, it said this is where she was born. They either moved to Chautauqua Co., NY before moving to OH and that is where she met Charles Hanes or else someone got confused and put that down as her birthplace when it was really Charles'.

"Mrs. Chas. Hanes returned from Auburn last Tuesday, bringing her father, Mr. Altenburgh, who is an invalid, to spend a few weeks with her for a change, "The Waterloo Press,, June 12, 1884, Thursday.

In "The Butler Record" Nov. 5, 1897, it says "Mrs. Chas. Hanes has disposed of her property recently purchased on West. North St. to James Firestone."

In June 1900, she is living with her daughter and son-in-law David W. Aldrich in Richland Twp., Steuben County, IN. She shows up in the census as 64.

Oct. 23, 1908, Hamilton News, "Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kepler entertained Mrs. Kepler's son, Charles Hanes, and family, of Auburn, Sunday." Also "Jerry Kepler and Mrs. Mary Sewell of Hamilton were married last Thursday."

In the March 13, 1914 paper it says, "Mrs. Mary Sewell and daughter Mrs. Dave Aldrich attended the funeral of a relative at Ithica, Mich., last week."

In the Hamilton News, March 22, 1918 it says, "MARY JANE ALTENBURG Mary Jane Altenburg was born in Geneseo county, NY and died March 14th 1918, aged 82 years, 1 month, 8 days. To this union were born six children - Ella, Harriett, Moses, Josephine, Charles, and Fred - of which to precede her were, Ella, Josephine, and Fred. She leaves behind her, 3 brothers, Cosper, William, and Frank Altenburg, and her dearly beloved sister, Harriett Hanes, widow of George William Hanes; and three children, Hattie E. Aldrich, Moses B., and Charles B. Hanes. Mary Jane Hanes was a devout Christian all her lifetime, being identified with the church her whole life since early childhood, and her greatest pleasure was to be in God's house with her family. In all her sickness and suffering, there was never a complaint, except of the trouble she made to

of her daughter, Mrs. Hattie Aldrich, where she died, at 2:00 p.m. Saturday, March 16, conducted by Rev. B. F. Hornaday. Interment in the Butler Cemetery."

In the Butler paper, March 22, 1918 it says, "Mary Jane Altenburg was born Feb. 6, 1836, in Geneseo County, New York. Died March 14, 1918 age 82 years, one month and 8 days. She was the oldest daughter of Daniel and Sarah Altenburg, pioneer settlers of DeKalb County, who settled near Auburn in 1838, coming by ox team. She was married Sept. 27, 1857 to Charles Hanes, who died Dec. 5, 1894. To this union were born six children, Ella, Harriet, Moses, Josephine and Fred. She leaves behind her, three brothers, Cosper, William, and Frank Altenburg and her beloved sister, Harriet Hanes, widow of George William Hanes, and three children, Hattie E. Aldrich, Moses B., and Charles B. Hanes. Mary Jane Hanes was a devout Christian all her lifetime, being identified with the church her whole life since early childhood and her greatest pleasure was to be in God's house, and with her family. In all her sickness and suffering there was never a complaint, except of the trouble she made to someone else perhaps. She was prepared and ready and waiting, so Death had no sting here. One of the most conscious acts was to gather the family near her bedside for prayer and with her own lips made the prayer, praying for them. Funeral services were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. W. Aldrich, where she died, at 2:00 p.m. Saturday, March 16, conducted by Rev. B. F. Hornaday. Interment in Butler cemetery."

The following is from the scrapbook of Clara Hanes . . . "Mrs. Mary Jane Hanes, aged 82 years, an aunt of Mrs. John Zimmerman of North Van Buren street, this city, died at the home with her daughter, Mrs. David Aldrich, near this city, from cancer after a long illness. Mrs. Hanes had made her home with her daughter for a number of years, or since the death of her husband. Mrs. Hanes was a daughter of Dan Altenberg, one of the pioneers of Dekalb county, who lived just east of this city on the farm now owned by J. W. Metcalf. The funeral will be held from the residence on Saturday afternoon and burial will be made in the Butler cemetery."

Little Rock, Arkansas March 14, 1916. My Dear Sister I am thinking of you to day, 74 years age to day possibly you have better recollection of the wee little boy baby that came to the home of Daniel Altenberg, in a log cabbin on the Old Altenbergs homestead 3 miles east of Auburn Indiana. Well I was there but my recollection of the event is not admissable in a court of Law. My evidence as to the birth day is only hearsay yet I was there. Well MaryJane I am Growing Old. Seventy-four years old to day as you have taught me. There is none living that knows me as well as "you" for you were with my Saintly Mother at my birth, and no daught you often carred and carressed me as only a Sister could and no doubt you watched me grow from a tiney little baby to boyhood, and manhood. My mother loved me at birth. She is now in the kingdom. She has received the new birth. We are just waiting for the call, So we are nearing the journeys end, where time and eternity meet and blend. We are a little nearer to those ahead and we shall be numbered with the dead, The books are closed and our prayers said and we are part of the Countless dead. Thrice happy if then we can say we loved mankind and trusted God allthway. Affectionately from your Brother. Cos Altenburg. All well at this end of the line. Will be please to hear from you and yours.

Notes for Charles B. Hanes: Marriage Records in DeKalb County. They are buried in Butler Cemetery.

George and Charles B. are brothers according to the 1850 census. Charles has his name spelled Haines in the 1860 census and is in it with his wife Mary J. age 24. He is 27 and is a farmer.

They came to DeKalb County in 1837-38.

In a Waterloo Paper in 1878, it says, "Charles Haines has been appointed Marshal of Butler, to the grief of the man who organized the "fusion ticket."

In June 24, 1880, The Waterloo Press, "Recorder - Charles Hanes, Wilmington..."

In the Waterloo paper, Jan. 27, 1881, it says that Chas. Hanes of Wilmington was on the executive committee of the Pioneer Association of DeKalb County. D. Altenburg was on it from Auburn, also.

July 9, 1885, Waterloo Press, "Hon. D. C. Reed and daughter, Mamie, of Milwaukee are visiting the families of G. W. and Chas. Hanes."

In the Waterloo Press, Aug. 6, 1885, Thursday "Mrs. W. J. Hayes of Allegheny, Pa., is visiting her uncles, Chas. and G. W. Hanes. Many Butler people will remember in Mrs. Hayes the charming Miss Hattie Bennett, who visited here a few years ago."

In the Aug. 16, 1888 Thursday, Butler Record, "John Boyle is buying stock with Chas. Haines."

He came to East Buffalo, NY in 1889 as salesman for Swope, Hughes, Walsh, and Boustead.

In the paper it says, "Chas. Hanes of Buffalo had a cancer removed from his side Wednesday. The prospects are good for a speedy cure." This was in the "Butler Record," Nov. 23, 1894.

In the Friday, Dec. 7, 1894 "Butler Record", it reports "Charley Hanes died in Buffalo, N.Y. Wednesday afternoon. The funeral will be held at the M.E. church in Butler next Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Obituary next week."

His obituary of Dec. 14, 1894 (The Butler Record) says, "Chas. Hanes was born in Chautaugua county in the state of New York, June 24, 1833. The family came west, in 1838 and settled one mile east of Butler, IN, where they have lived ever since except the last five years that have been spent in the city of Buffalo, NY. Bro. Hanes leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter. He was married to Mary Jane Altenburg Sept. 27, 1857. Funeral services were held at the M.E. Church in Butler, Sunday Dec. 9, 1894 under the auspices of the Butler I.O.O.F. The order took charge of the body on its arrival here and cared for it until the interment. There were in the procession the Butler order of Rebekahs and I.O.O.F. with visitors from Hamilton, Waterloo, and Auburn. The casket was covered with flowers among which was a bouquet in the shape of three links, the emblem of the I.O.O.F., presented by the Butler lodge. The following notice of the life and death of Mr. Hanes appeared in the Buffalo Daily Mercantile Review Thursday evening Dec. 6, 1894. It is with sincere sorrow that we are called upon to record the death of Charley Hanes, which occurred at the Hospital where he had been since the severe operation; only two weeks ago yesterday that had been reported to us the last hope of saving his life, and since which his many friends, buoyed up by the patients always cheerful condition and the favorable reports of his physicians, hoped that he might recover, but it was not to be. All that medical skill and most careful nursing could do was done to save his life, but the ordeal through which he was called to pass was too severe for one with his weakened constitution, and with his advanced years, lacking the vitality that a younger patient might have had, he succumbed to the inevitable yesterday afternoon, shortly after noon, his faithful wife and sons being at his bedside when the end came, Charley Hanes was one of that class of men who will be remembered in this busy world long after he has passed away of a quiet unassuming nature, there were few men who had many warmer friends than he. For years he had been a liberal shipper of live stock to this market, and he was in every sense of the word a rigidly honest man, and no one who ever done business with him, but who held him in the highest esteem. He formerly lived at Butler, Indiana, and several years ago entered the employ of Swope, Hughes, Waltz, & Bensread a cattle salesman. His employers interest he regarded as his own, faithful to every trust he died honored and beloved by all that knew him. He was about fifty-eight years of age and leaves as his direct relations, a wife, two sons and a married daughter. The funeral services were held at the late residence of the deceased, East Buffalo this morning, by the pastor of the Glenwood Ave. Methodist Church, and was largely attended by the friends of the family. Many handsome floral tributes from friends were upon the casket containing the remains which bore a peaceful expression, and at noon the remains were taken to the late home of the deceased; where the last funeral rites will be held on Friday."

There are pictures of him (possibly) on page vi.

In the March 6, 1873 Waterloo Press it says, "DIED Feb. 12, 1873, Josephine, daughter of Charles and Mary J. Hanes, aged 3 years, 5 months and 24 days." It has the following poem after her obit.

My Lambs:

I loved them so,
That when the elder Shepherd of the fold
Came, covered with the storm, pale and cold,
And begged for one of my sweet lambs to hold.
I bade her go:

He claimed the pet
A little darling one, that to my breast
Cling always, either in quiet or unrest:
I thought of all my lambs I loved her best,
And yet -- and yet--

I laid her down
In those white shrouded arms, with bitter tears;
For some voice told me that in after years,
She should know naught of passion, grief or fears,
As I had known.

And yet again,
That elder Shepherd came--my heart grew faint,
He claimed another Lamb. With sadder plaint,
Another, she who, gentle as a saint,
Ne'er gave me pain.

Aghast I turned away!
There sat she, lovely as an Angel's dream,
Her auburn locks with flowing curls agleam;
Her holy eyes, with Heaven in their beam;
I knelt to pray.

Is it thy will,
My Father, say, must this pet lamb be given?
Oh Thou hast many such, dear Lord, in Heaven."
And a soft voice said, "Nobly hast thou striven:
But---peace, be still."

Oh! how I wept,
And clasped her to my bosom, with a wild
And yearning love. My lamb, my pleas, not child!
Her, too, I gave. The little angel smiled, and slept.

Ah! it is well;
Well with my lambs, and with their earthly guide.

There, pleasant rivers wander they beside,
Or strike sweet harps upon its silver side;
Aye, it is well!

Through the dreary day.
They often come from glorious light to me,
I cannot feel their touch, their faces see;
Yet my soul whispers they do come to me;
Heaven is not far away.

Selected.

- + 230 v. Charles B. Hanes, born June 11, 1871 in Indiana; died February 06, 1944 in Hamilton, IN.
231 vi. Freddie Hanes, born August 16, 1875 in Butler, IN; died November 13, 1886 in Butler, IN.

Notes for Freddie Hanes: Buried beside Charles and Mary J.

In the Nov 18, 1898 Butler Record it says, "Master Freddie, son of Chas. Hanes, died Friday evening from the effects of a fall on Thursday forenoon, while at play in the school yard. His father had started for Buffalo with a load of stock and was not informed of the accident in time to get home before Saturday afternoon. Funeral was held at 10 a.m. on Sunday and was largely attended by the many friends." In the same paper it says, "Elwood Jones and wife and two young ladies of Montpelier, attended the funeral of Freddie Hanes, Sunday." I am wondering if this is a relative. There were Lindesmiths/Lindersmith's, McCaffertys, Sines, and Cooleys in that area.

I had 1886 down as his death date but since it was in the 1898 paper it is wrong. I may have to do more research on this because it has a different birthdate down. Will investigate before I erase these dates.

In the scrapbook of the Hane-Altenburg and Clara McCague scrapbook it says: HIGH SCHOOL NOTES Friday last being Rhetorical day through the entire building, Grammar B. department conducted memorial exercises in memory of Freddie Hanes who but a short time since was a member of said school. A post which supports the back of his seat was draped in mourning while on his desk were crescents and a cross of white flowers between which was his name. The exercises consisted of songs, recitations, and memory gems appropriate for the occasion. "Schoolmate then art gone": was sang by a class of 21 boys, and "Lead us sometime where he's sleeping." was sang by 26 girls. As they sang the pathetic strains of the Chorus "In our fancy we can see him as he walks the golden streets" with eyes turned heavenward and all pointing upward scarcely one present could refrain from shedding tears. At the close of the exercises Mr. Hanes spoke touchingly of their loss and of the awful suspense that he endured before being able to reach home after the sad news of Freddie's death. He expressed his gratitude to the pupils for endeavoring, by means of their songs and recitations, to enlighten the terrible sorrow that he and his family were bearing. Mrs. Hanes also expressed her sincere thanks to the school and friends for their untiring efforts to bind up their bleeding hearts."

In the spring of 1861 we took our first lesson in the art in the office of the Waterloo Press-we remember the day and date well, as C. K. Baxter, the present editor of that paper, had bid good bye to the boys in office-he had enlisted as a high private" in Co. G. of the old 19th Ind. Reg't ad did H. E. In the Waterloo Press, Jan. 31, 1884, Thursday, "On Monday evening one of our Grand Army boys was surprised, overpowered, and captured at his own home. It was in this way. Sunday was the twentieth anniversary of the marriage of H. E. Altenburg and wife, the news leaked out in some way, unintentionally, and some of our townsmen who are always up to jokes, thought it would be fun to surprise them a little, so told some of the Post comrades about it, and after the Post meeting, adjourned, it was arranged to escort comrade A. home, and on arriving, about twenty-five comrades entered with him and began to greet him on all sides. The table was placed in the middle of the room, and the present which was a beautiful china set, placed upon it. Then the bride and groom were seated near, and in a neat and touching little speech by Capt. Hartman, the presentation was made. It is useless to say that "Hank" was for once, too full for utterance, but from the bottom of his heart he said "boys you've got me, and all I can do now is say, we thank you, and we will have this social over again in warm weather, when I can seat you in my yard, as my home is too small. The boys then dispersed, feeling the tie of friendship was strengthened."

On page 828 of the 1885 DeKalb History Book that "....H. E. Altenburg, Aid-de-Camp was a member of the DeLong Post, No. 67, G. A. R."

March 11, 1886, The Waterloo Press, "In the resignation, which took place on March 4th, of Mr. Henry E. Altenburg, as mail clerk on the B. & O. R.R., the postal service loses one of its most efficient men. His long experience afforded him a familiarity with the work rarely attained by government employees and he retires with the satisfaction of knowing that his superiors to office were well pleased with his record. The work of the mail service is most arduous and in the course of years cannot help but impair the constitution of the over worked mail clerk. We understand that it was a question of health with Mr. A. and that he will, at an early day, go west and recuperate his health, perhaps on a homestead. He was a good soldier and ought to have his "farm" with but little trouble."

Waterloo Press, April 1, 1886, "H. E. Altenburg has written to his family to get ready soon to move to Kansas as he has found a location that suits him."

The Waterloo Press, June 21, 1888, Thursday, "H. E. Altenburg, of Kendall, Kan., was in town yesterday. He was here to consult Dr. J. N. Chamberlain in regard to the removal of a cancer from his under lip. Mr. A., is quite well pleased with Kansas, but dislikes the continuous wind that blows over the prairie country."

July 26, 1888, The Waterloo Press, Thursday, "H. E. Altenburg returned last week from his visit with friends in Michigan, and is now awaiting the development of a swelling on his right jaw before returning to his Kansas home."

This is in a letter from Harriet Altenburg Hanes to her daughter Ella, dated Aug. 27, 1888. "You know we went onto to see Henry's folks off, but when we got there found Henry real poorly, so he did not dare to start but will go monday is he is able He has a throat If he is not able to go they will send for the children, poor afflicted brother how I pity him."

In George William Hanes 1889 Diary Henry was mentioned several times. On Saturday,

February 2, 1889 it said, "Henry very bad Took Hattie to train at 6 AM..." Sunday, February 3, 1889, "Went to Town for telegram Henry much worse" Monday, February 4, 1889 "Drove to Auburn to hear from Henry No word from anyone..." Came home went to Butler to make arrangements" Sunday, February 10, 1889, "Drove to Auburn Procession Started for Church at 3 P.M. Service over at 5 30 We started home at 6 Snowed in afternoon"

Feb. 7, 1889, The Waterloo Press, Thurs., "Last Friday the friends of H. E. Altenburg were summoned by telegram to come to him, and it was feared that he was much worse, but his sister, Mrs. Haines returned home this week and brings the news that he is much better and that in a few days he is to leave the doctors care and come to stay with her for a time."

May 21, 1889 Thursday, The Waterloo Press, "A Very interesting memorial service of H. E. Altenburg was held at the G. A. R. on Sunday afternoon. The address by editor Nye being exceptionally fine, as was also the music by the choir."

He applied for pension himself and then his widow applied for pension after his death in 1889.

There is picture of Henry on page iv.

Notes for Sara C. Bodine: She came to DeKalb County with her mother, Elizabeth E. Chamberlain Bodine. Sara's father (John) died August 1860.

She is listed in the Moore's Standard Residence Directory of Auburn, IN 1908-1909 as a widow of Henry E. Altenburg and she is living at 333 E. Fourth St. in Auburn, IN.

Marriage Notes for Henry Altenburg and Sara Bodine:
This was in his obituary.

Children of Henry Altenburg and Sara Bodine are:

- 232 i. Harry Quinn⁷ Altenburg, born Abt. 1866 in IN. He married Unknown.

Notes for Harry Quinn Altenburg: "History of DeKalb County 1914." He lived in Kalamazoo, MI, and was connected to the Burroughs Adding Machine Company.

In the 1880 census, Auburn city he is 13 and is listed as Quinn. It was very common for children to go by their middle names some or all of the time. He was in the 1870 census and it looked like his name was Luinn but was probably a "fancy" Q.

He may be the Quinn living in Toledo OH.

In the March 3, 1887 Thursday, The Waterloo Press, "Quinn Altenberg, Of Toledo, was in town on Monday, shaking hands with the boys; he says he is going to Kansas some time the coming summer."

Aug. 9, 1888 Thursday, The Waterloo Press, "Quinn Altenburg came up from Toledo, on Saturday last, to visit over Sunday with his father and mother, and other friends."

August 7, 1890, Thursday, The Waterloo Press, "H. Q. Altenburg, who is traveling on the road for Ransom & Ransolph, dental supply house of Toledo, O., came home last Thursday to stay several days with his mother. Quin, is one of those steady boys who will surely win in whatever he undertakes."

There is a picture of Harry on page iv and v.

Notes for Unknown: There is a picture of her on page v.

- 235 iv. John Dudley Altenburg, born Abt. 1876 in IN; died Aft. 1959 in prob. Findlay, OH. He married Carrie A. Brown.

Notes for John Dudley Altenburg: He is a dentist in Findlay, OH. "History of DeKalb County, 1914."

He is in the 1880 census of Auburn city and is 4 years of age.

He is living in Findlay, OH at the time of his sister's death in 1959.

"A History of Northwest Ohio by Nevin O. Winter Vol. 3 1917, The Lewis Publishing Co., Chicago, and NY." John Dudley Altenburg, D. D. S. Widely known in his profession and prominent in many public spirited enterprises of great importance in Hancock County, Dr. John Dudley Altenburg, the leading dental practitioner of Findlay, is a foremost citizen. He was born at Auburn, Indiana, October 31, 1876 and is a son of Henry E. and Sarah C. Bodine Altenburg. On the paternal side the ancestry is German and on the maternal is French. The mother of Doctor Altenburg is a highly esteemed resident of Auburn, still occupying the old family homestead. The father died in 1891. For a number of years he had been an official in the Federal service. After completing the common school course at Auburn, John D. Altenburg entered the high school and remained one year and then accepted a position of salesman in a dental supply store, continuing for four years.

Becoming interested in dentistry in this way he decided to study along this line and in 1890 entered the Indiana University Dental College, from which he was creditably graduated in the class of 1899. In the same year he came to Findlay and for four years was associated in dental practices with Dr. E. C. Miller, since which time he has practiced alone and with great success Doctor Altenburg is progressive in his methods, making use of modern discoveries in his profession for his patients benefit. He is an expert in porcelain work, having taken a special course in the same under Doctor Beauman, of Columbus, Ohio. Doctor Altenburg was married to Miss Carrie A. Brown, who is a daughter of A. M. and Henrietta P. Brown, the former being a retired manufacturer of Ottawa, Ohio. Doctor and Mrs. Altenburg are members of the First Presbyterian Church. A lover of outdoor life, Doctor Altenburg takes much interest in recreations that include fresh air and exercise but he also is a practical man as evidenced by his work in connection with stocking the streams with game fish and his distribution of more than 100 pair of English pheasants to the farmers in this vicinity, a valuable and much appreciated gift. He was one of the organizers in 1914 and is the present secretary of the Hancock County Fish and Game Protective Association. Doctor Altenburg in 1913 was president of the Hancock and Seneca County Dental Association and is a valued member of the Ohio, the State and the National bodies. He is identified fraternally with the order of Elks and politically is a republican with progressive sentiments. Doctor Altenburg owns a beautiful cottage situated on a body of water in Michigan and spends his vacations there.

The Waterloo Press, Thursday, April 2, 1891, "John Altenburg is learning to pull teeth for Dr. S. B. Johnston, as well as to take care of the horse, etc."

Notes for Carrie A. Brown: She is the daughter of A. M and Henrietta P. Brown. Information from a biography of her husband.

121. Harriet (Hattie) Emeline⁶ Altenburg (Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born May 15, 1840 in DeKalb Co., IN, and died August 14, 1923 in Butler, IN. She married George William Hanes September 29, 1866 in DeKalb County, IN, son of Moses Hanes and Mary Battles. He was born May 29, 1828 in Chautauqua County, NY, and died May 28, 1897 in Butler, IN.

Notes for Harriet (Hattie) Emeline Altenburg: She was in the 1914 DeKalb County History book and also in the 1850 Census as the daughter of Daniel and Sarah Altenberg. She was 10 in the 1850 census.

In the Waterloo Press, Feb. 21, 1884, "Mrs. William Hanes, west of town, has been quite sick with neuralgia."

In the Butler Record, August 17, 1894, it says "Mrs. G. W. Hanes was at Auburn, Thursday to see her mother who is very sick." I presume this is her stepmother as her mother died in when she was 23.

Sept. 3, 1888 letter to her daughter Ella, Harriet writes, "Dear Daughter Ella I wanted to write yesterday but was so uncommonly busy. Im the ? Alte Carle and I went to Sunday school and after dinner I went over to old Mrs. Yarbox who is very poorly and I don't believe she will ever get up again, well we received all your good letters and was sorry to learn Uncle Cameron is not well, hope he is all right before this he will have to be very careful what he eats, there is lots of sick people around here. I was so sorry you had the headache so hard,

We three children will start next Monday on that excursion going to Columbus, and Henry and Sarah will come later. Mary Jane is very poorly with her shoulder and I begin to feel afraid ? will be the death of her if she don't get better soon. She looks very bad, Mosie is home on a two weeks visit, looks nice and healthy. I think that flannel dress will look real nice made up plain. I think you can wear it to school Didn't Mrs. Hurd think I was bad off to send it to her but I wouldn't thought of making it that way and of course would botched it up so you would had no goods of it. Cammie came home Saturday night and is home yet but expects to go away again Wm George and Atie are still at their plowing and putting in tile. We have not had any rain yet, and are having such cool nights. Our Buck wheat and clover is in danger of frost every night - I do hope it won't freeze them especially the buckwheat Hattie Smurr is sick, had the doctor today wish you could all come and eat muskmellens we are having lots of them I saw eleven ripe ones today in the garden Sarah is talking about going to Michigan yet. She thinks Edd will come back from Columbus this way and she will go home with him. Metta is a good girl works hard and fast. She takes Clara on old Jack with her to get the cows nearly every night. She talks about you every day We all want to hear from all of you as often as once a week Tell Mamie we will answer her good letter soon (It wasn't saucy) and hope to hear ? letter ? Cameran too love to Mrs. Hurd and accepts lots for your own dear self. Mother Jane was down and we had a nice visit. She was disappointed by not see you all, she sends her love to you all. On a note written sideways, "Ella that young man that came here after you was very nice looking He drove off and I was in the parlor He asked if Miss Hanes was at home. I said he said I mean the young Miss Hanes. I said Ella! yes, well I told him you had gone I asked him if there was anything special he wanted he said no Looked quite disappointed and drove off cant tell who he was. But I believe it was that Mr. Cone."

In the 1900, Butler Record (Dec. 28, 1900) it says, "Mrs. Emma Plum, who has been such a great sufferer, died at her home on Main street last Saturday and was buried from the Presbyterian church today. She was an estimable lady and was a member of the first teachers institute ever held in the county." Also, in another paragraph it says, "Mrs. William Hanes, of Butler, attended the funeral of her cousin, Mrs. Plum today." This is under the Waterloo news.

In the Aug 19, 1904, The Butler Record, "George and Howard Heffelfinger, of Chicago who have been spending the summer with their grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Hanes, returned home Thursday."

In the Butler Record, June 29, 1906, "Mrs. McPherson of Colorado, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Will Hanes."

May 10, 1907, The Butler Record, "Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wagoner and children spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. G. W. Hanes."

In the Butler Record, June 28, 1907 it says, "Miss Zimmerman of Auburn, is visiting with Mrs. Wm. Haines in the country." Also, "Mrs. Wm. Haines entertained the Ladies of Rebeccas Thursday."

July 12, 1907 Butler Record, "THE REBEKAHS VISIT MRS. HANES On the 26th of June the members of the Rebekah Lodge of Butler were invited by sister Hanes to spend that day with her at her beautiful country home, two miles west of the city. The lodge had long anticipated the pleasure of a visit with our sister and consequently one and all were glad and anxious to go and when the day arrived "In the good old summer time," the sisters to number of 36 wended their way to the beautiful country home of our beloved sister where we were sure of a good time and none were disappointed. After some hours of pleasant social visiting, the tables were spread under the spreading branches of the large trees in the front yard, where a banquet was served, of all the tempting viands it would be useless of us to try to name, it was certainly all the appetite could crave and all partook with a relish. Our good hostess made every effort to give us a glad welcome and a good visit and the day passed with complete enjoyment. About 7 o'clock ice cream and cake were served and it was said some had more than one dish, much to the regret of others and was too busy to join the Chautauqua salute, which provoked much merriment. When the departing hour arrived the sisters joined in singing "Blest be the ties that binds" and the Lords prayer was repeated in concert, after which we bade good-night to our sister and friends, knowing that the day had given pleasure to all and wishing for many more such days with our sister Rebekahs and with heartfelt thanks to our sister for the happy day. Earth can boast no purer tie No brighter lovelier gem; No jewel of lovelier tie Than friendships diadem."

They are shown in the Wilmington Twp, DeKalb Co., IN census in 1900. Harriet is 60, Altenburg is 21, George is 19, and Clara L. is 16."

In the Butler Record, March 7, 1913, it says, "Mrs. Wm. Hanes is visiting relatives in Steubenville." I am not sure if this is Steubenville, IN or Steubenville, OH."

In the July 17, 1914, Butler paper, it says, "Chas. Heffelfinger, wife and three children of Chicago, returned to their home Sunday after making a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. Harriet Hanes and his sister, Mrs. Jacob Obendorf and families of near Butler."

May 11, 1917, The Butler Record, "Mrs. Harriet Haines left Wednesday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. M. W. Wagoner at Goshen. From there she will go to Chicago to visit her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Heffelfinger. Later she will visit relatives in Milwaukee."

Letter date Thursday, 2:30 p.m. Nov. 20, 1919 Dear children one and all I am glad it is so near Thanksgiving for we must begin to think what all we have to be thankful for and this is the first I think of. What I just received a letter from each and all my dear children. This is the third time I believe these dear lines have come to me and never a murmur of complaint of death in all our families that is the next to be thankful for, from this -- is everything and I pray God to give us thankful hearts for all his blessings. We are usually well, and almost ready for winter storms most we will have to do is keep warm. We finished husking co-- Tuesday, with husker and we had a hard accident. Poor Mr. Keller got caught in the machine and took off most of his hand. We were nearly sick over it, and I haven't got over it yet. I was glad to see Charleys good letter in the circle and I hope to see David, Idas, Mettas and Estons next time, if I am here, wishing you all a happy thanksgiving, health and happiness will --Good bye my own dear children Ma"

Letter dated, "Sept. 25, 1920 Dear children of mine we received -- family circle visit - a few days ago sent by your Cammie and we will be punctual getting it on the way to the other loved ones. -- all well and busy as usual as every day brings its work and cares, which must be done so as to be ready for the next day with its load the same as before, so on all of our lives we go. I am sending by request in this a very important letter from dear Margret as you will see as you read it carefully to appreciate her hearts desire and we know she will be the faithful one to hold out until the end when it will be said "It is enough come up higher," After this letter goes around and all of you read it, I would like to have it returned to me unless dear Ella would rather wants to keep it. Am a little afraid -- of you are discouraged and want to drop it R. R. but hope not yet this year anyway I am feeling much better than I have been in the past year no more suffering nights, and can sleep and rest so good, and work in my way nearly all day that visit to Chicago and Goshen is still just in my dreams especially Sarah the day day we left, getting to the Englewood station. I hope I'll never be caught in Chicago in time of a strike again but I have no reason to complain I got through all right but I was so scared. Alta you are to send this to Metta. She to Sarah - to Cammie and then to Ella. O well just so the keep going, we all will get it first or last. Cammie I am thinking of you every often and wondering how your stomach is, do write often dear boy. Letter dated Dec 15, 1920 "Dear children of Mine - we are in receipt of our dear family heart to heart letter and it finds us as it leaves you, nor reason to complain, but so much to be thankful for, not many families of our number could keep up a regular correspondence for years as we have with so few fatalities or assistans as we have, I know you all realize this ----and blessings from God and we mush show our love and dependence on him by serving and obeying his holy name, we are having almost a Blizzard today, only real winter we have had no doubt tomorrow will be Indian summer, again and what little snow we are getting will be melted and give so they can finish their plowing for oats. Camie we enjoyed reading your private letter to Ella and David, and will send it on with the rest, but don't you dare to let his one leave you without a great big fat one to make up for dealing ----Ella Thank you for sending your own letter all around last it was just as good as though written for us all. You must get after Clara if she doesn't write this time but was not to blame the other time. We hear from you each one fairly often but don't wait for this to come, write whenever you have time and feel like it - Sarah and Charley we rec'd you good letters and I set this day to write to you but Im afraid I wont get this apolistic epistle done in time. Metta we did have a dear good time Thanksgiving didn't we? and Alta I haven't seen you for so long --heard until last Sunday, that was the best news I could hear and made my old heart rejoice for you and yours. Christmas is nearly here how I would like to have my children with me, if only to surround the table and partake of the food given us here below, and feed our souls on the bread of life Well dear ones let us all try to be good and lives so we will be an unbroken family in heaven, is my prayer and don't neglect to write in the R-R-as it comes, Send by with love Ma Wishing you all a merry xmas and a happy new year with your pockets full of money and your cellars full of vinegar."

Sept. 1, 1921, The Butler Record, "Miss Rook is at the country home of Mrs. Wm. Haynes caring for a daughter, from Chicago, who is ill in the home."

On the paper that Theron Hanes had, it says she was born May 16, 1840 and died Aug. 14, 1923. In the reunion book it says, born May 15, 1839 and died Aug 14, 1923. Another Bible record copied onto paper has it copied in pencil that she died Aug. 24, 1924.

In the Harriet Hanes Will, "The will of the late Harriet E. Hanes of Wilmington Twp. has been probated in the DeKalb Circuit Court. The will was made July 24, 1918 with Wm. P. Endicot and Nellie D. Endicott as witnesses. Samuel Lowe of Butler, was named in the will to be executer but afterward died and on June 14, 1923, a codicil was added nominating Cameron B. Hanes and George Carlton Hanes to act jointly, as executors. The codicil was witnessed by O.S. Fisher and H.C. Springer. Mrs. Hanes stated that her clothing should be divided among her children as they may mutually agree. The executors are to sell the remainder of her property. Then the sum of $750 is to be paid to a daughter, Clara L. McCague of Butler, and a like amount to a son, George Carlton Hanes of Butler. Four other children Harry Altenberg

Hanes of Waterloo, Ella Gardner of St. Francis, Wis., Laura Wilmetta Wagner of Goshen, and Sarah Heffelfinger of Chicago are to receive $500 each. No provision is made for another son, Cameron R. Hanes of Chicago, for the reason that she had previously deeded five acres of land to him, which she considered of the value of $500. The residue of the estate is to be divided equally among the seven children. Cameron R. Hanes, Harry Altenberg Hanes, and George Carlton Hanes waived their right to serve as executors of the will and the seven children nominated John A. Shafer of Butler to be made administrator. Mr. Shafer qualified by filing $2,500 bond with Henry Gunsenhouser & Daniel Brown as sureties. The estate is valued at $15,200 of which $1200 is personal property and $14,000 is real estate."

In a small newspaper clipping that Clara McCague had, "MRS. WM. HAINES DIED Mrs. Wm. Haines, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. Eston McCague, west of Butler, died Tuesday afternoon following a stroke of paralysis without regaining consciousness. She was about seventy years of age, and was the mother of Carl Haines, of this place. In the Thursday, August 23, 1923, Butler Record, "Harriet Emaline Altenburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Altenburg was born 3 1/2 miles east of Auburn, Ind., May 15th 1840, departed this life August 14th, 1923, aged 83 years, 2 months and 29 days. On Sept. 27, 1866 she was united in marriage to Geo. William Hanes who preceded her in death. To this union were born 8 children; Cameron, of Chicago; Sarah of the same city; Ella of St. Francis, Wis.; Wilmetta of Goshen; Carlton and Clara of Butler, and Altenburg of Waterloo, Pearl having died in infancy. Mrs Hanes spent all her life as a resident of DeKalb Co., and was one of the oldest and best known citizens in the county. She was a woman of big ideals, religiously, socially and in fact in every way that pertained to good citizenship. From early childhood she was identified with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was intensely interested in the welfare of Christ's Kingdom. During the last few years her health would not always permit her to attend in person the services of the church, yet her ardent spirit of Christian devotion grew stronger with the years. While the passing of the years had a tendency to add physical infirmities yet the path that leads to the city of God grew brighter and brighter. She was a good woman. We shall miss her but her sacred memory shall linger with us. In her departure she leaves, together with the above mentioned children, 3 brothers, Casper of Little Rock, Ark.; William of Iona, Mich., and Frank of Syracuse, Kans.; 22 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren."

There are pictures of Harriet on pages iii, v, xi, and xii.

Notes for George William Hanes: Unproven yet. Now proven. He came to this county when he was 12 years of age. From the 1914 County History Book. Not proven that he and Charles are brothers. It is proven now. They were in the 1850 Wilmington Twp. Census. Charles was 16 and George W. Haynes (notice different spelling in this instance) was 22.

It says "G. W. Hanes, trustee of Wilmington township, has moved into his new brick residence." This is in the "Waterloo Press, Feb. 1, 1877."

In the Oct. 19, 1876 Waterloo Press it says he was the Wilmington township trustee.

According to the Diary of George William Hanes, In March and April of 1876, George William Hanes and Daniel Altenburg went to Ithaca Michigan to stay with Oscar Bates and they also stayed with William Altenburg.

In the 1870 census, it shows he is 41 and he and his wife have an Altenburg (female) living with them. She is Minta. I found an Arminta born 1858 (same year) that is a niece of theirs. She is the daughter of Daniel Wells Altenburg living in Ithaca, MI. This census is very hard to read. They also have 2 children Sarah 1, and Cameron 3.

He and his wife testified in a murder trial of Deeters for killing Amos Bechtol, Aug. 31, 1893. It was in the Butler Record March 16, 1894. It was in other days, too (endless). In the Friday, March 30, 1894 "The Butler Record", it says Deeters was sent to the State Prison for Life. In the Waterloo paper Oct. 9, 1897, it says "Samuel Deeters, who was sent to the penitentiary for life, charged with killing Mr. Bachtel and his daughter Mrs. Lowe, and wounding Mr. Yates on the Butler Road a few years ago, died in the Northern prison last Saturday, of consumption, and his remains was sent to Kendallville, Monday, and thence conveyed to the residence of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Smith, near Cedar Lake, in Smithfield Twp. and the burial occurred on Tuesday, in Cedar Lake Cemetery. His aged mother also lives with Mr. Smith's family, and it was her request that the body be brought here for burial. Thus ends one of the most terrible tragedies ever enacted in the DeKalb County. There are a great many who believe he was not mentally responsible for the acts, but the last penalty has been paid."

In the Waterloo Press, March 1, 1877, it says, "Mr. G. W. Hanes is arranging to build three new brick school houses in Wilmington. So much for a wide-awake trustee." I took this as a compliment that he saw a need for the rising population in the township.

Feb. 21, 1884, The Waterloo Press under the Butler News, "Mrs. Wm. Hanes, west of town, has been quite sick with neuralgia."

In the January 22, 1885 Waterloo Press, "Hon. D. C. Reed, of Milwaukee, Wis., is visiting G. W. Hanes."

July 9, 1885, Waterloo Press, "Hon. D. C. Reed and daughter, Mamie, of Milwaukee are visiting the families of G. W. and Chas. Hanes."

In the Waterloo Press, Aug. 6, 1885, Thursday "Mrs. W. J. Hayes of Allegheny, Pa., is visiting her uncles, Chas. and G. W. Hanes. Many Butler people will remember in Mrs. Hayes the charming Miss Hattie Bennett, who visited here a few years ago."

It mentions in the "Local News" of the Butler Newspaper on September 14, 1894, that "G. W. Hanes treated this office to some fine pears last week."

In the Dec. 7, 1894 paper, it says "Mrs. W.O. Greene of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, is visiting in the family of G.W. Hanes."

In "The Butler Record" July 31, 1896 it reports, "Wm. Hanes came to town Monday to learn of the doings of the Populist convention. When he became apprised of its acts he bought a roll of sand paper and said he was "going home to scour up for the race."

In "The Butler Record" (April 9, 1897) it says, "G. W. Hanes is suffering with a chronic trouble of the stomach."

May 14, 1897, the "Butler Record" reports, "Wm. Hanes went to Chicago Tuesday for surgical treatment. His condition is considered very serious."

Theron Hanes said he died of stomach cancer.

G. W. Hanes was born in Chautauqua county, New York, on the 29th day of May 1828 and died near Butler, Ind. on the 28th day of May 1897, lacking one day of being 69 years old. He removed from his native place with his parents to DeKalb County, Indiana at the age of 12 years. He was united in marriage to Harriet Altenburg on the 29th day of September 1866. To this union was born 8 children, one of whom died in infancy, the seven surviving children were with him during his last illness to administer with loving hearts, to his wants, and witnessed the long and patient suffering of one they so much loved. In his death relatives, friends, and neighbors have lost a good and wise counselor, his advice having been generally sought by those intimately acquainted with him. He was a member of the I.O.O.F. for about 28 years during which time he has been prominently connected with the order of the growth of the order. "Life's race well run Life's work well done, Life's crown well worn, Now comes rest." The friends and relatives from a distance attending the funeral of G. W. Hanes were Mrs. M. J. Bates, his sister of Kendallville, Mrs. and Mrs. O. C. Bates and Mr. Isaac Altenberg of Ithica, Mich., Mrs. M. I. Greene of Milwaukee, Wis., H. Q. Altenberg of Toledo, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Walsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Walsworth, Mrs. Mary Boyer, Mrs. Daniel Altenberg and Mr. and Mrs. John Zimmerman, of Auburn, Mrs. H. E. Altenberg of Indianapolis, Miss Nannie Peterson, of Albion, Mr. and Mrs. David Aldrich, of Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Valieau and Mrs. S. Whitford, of Altona. This obituary was in the Butler paper, June 14, 1897.

In the 1914 DeKalb County History, it has a biography for him. It says G. W. HANES The success of men in any vocation depends upon the character as well as the best policy. In every community some men are known for their upright lives, strong common sense and moral worth rather than for their wealth or political standing. Their neighbors and acquaintances respect them, the younger generations heed their examples, and when the "wrap the drapery of their couches about them and lie down to pleasant dreams," posterity listens with reverence to the story of their quiet and useful lives. Among such men of a past generation in Indiana was the late G. W. Hanes, who was not only a progressive man of affairs, successful in material pursuits, but a man of modest and unassuming demeanor, well educated, at type of the the reliable, self-made American, a friend to the poor, charitable to the faults of his neighbors, and who always stood ready to unite with them in every good work and in the support of laudable public enterprises. He was a man who in every respect merited the high esteem in which he was universally held, for he was a man of public spirit, intellectual attainments and exemplary character. G. W. Hanes was born May 29, 1828, and died near Butler, DeKalb County, Indiana on the 28th day of May, 1897, lacking one day of being sixty-nine years of age. He came to this county with his parent when he was but twelve years of age and with them tasted of the hardships, struggles and few pleasures of those trying pioneer days. On the 29th day of September 1866, he was united in matrimony with Harriet Altenburg, daughter of Daniel and Sarah (Latson) Altenburg, natives of the Empire state. To this union were born eight children, one of who died in infancy. The seven surviving children were with him at the time of his death and during the long last illness administering to his wants with loving hands. In his early days the subject taught school and subsequently entered the dairy business with his brother, at which he was very successful. He was a good man in all that term implies, and was honored and respected by his neighbors and associates, who frequently solicited his sound advice on matters of business. Fraternally, Mr. Hanes was quite prominent in the Odd Fellows lodge having belonged to the order at Butler, Lodge No. 282 and Encampment No. 160 , for about twenty-eight years, during which time he was active in promoting the growth of that fraternity. The children born to Mr. and Mrs. Hanes were as follows: Cameron R. of Chicago; Sara E., the wife of Charles Heffelfinger, of Chicago; Mary Ella, the wife of W. D. Gardner, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Pearl, deceased; Wilmetta, the wife of Milton Wagoner, of Goshen, Indiana; Altenburg, of Waterloo, this county; Carleton at home; Clara, who lives with her mother, was married on November 25, 1909 to Eston McCague, who was born June 3, 1880, in Waterloo, this county. Mrs. Hanes and family still own the home farm, comprising one hundred and forty acres of land, one hundred of which are tillable, and here they carry on general farming and stock raising."

In a letter dated, Sept. 26th 1920, Butler Indiana, "Dear ones all - The big letter is in our hands once more and we are having another "mental" shaking hands with the rest of the family. There has not been much of interest here lately. You all know of Cam and Idas visit here and the ride up to Mich. with Clara and Eston. And like those, who were fortunate enough to be in Chicago, at the time of Ma's visit there and the partial reunion report a good time and visit. well crop conditions are as backward as they were the last time the letter was here. Cam in not fully ready to cut now. Expect however to start at it seriously tomorrow morning for frost can't hold off much longer surely. The weather "sharks" say the 21st September is average date for frost to appear in this section. Ella you speak of the path master fixing the roads. I won't say for sure, but maybe he was situated like this man: He was pulling a machine out of a chuckhole and said that thar place hez made me more than a thousand dollars - I reckon we pulled out more than 200 other more Mobeels this year: "Yes ant why din't you notify the road commisioners of this district? "Wal, stranger, thats me!" There had been a lot of surveying done by the state, in anticipation of a paved road through here to decide its comee and if it gets through, will make quite a change here. The three ways suggested and surveyed were: is to keep on the south side of the railroad, at the Nodine crossing, making an arc in Mart Sours field and crossing the railroad just about he Livergood c---ing that would cut out Nodine's Mart --- and John Lowe?'s place. 2nd To extend the road in the south side of the railroad clear to Butler in that case we are all left in the cold. 3rd to cross at the Hallet crossing and come down the north side, to the Nodine crossing then following the course of old road. Well I will close, hoping that our letters will bring the good cheer that the others bring to us, and sending --love to all I am your brother Carl Hanes

In a letter that Florence had, it says, "Mrs. McCague...Your tribute to Will especially touched me for you knew him longer than any one and your mother was his S. S. teacher and he thought she was almost a saint. Her influence followed him all his life. He thought some people slighted him all his life and it hurt awfully but right thinking people do not think that way. Will was truly a Christian man and lived it day by day. I wish he could have read your card but your birthday Christmas card to him was along the same line and showed you knew his life was clean and Christian. He was ready for heaven and your mother helped prepare him for it. Sincerely yours, Maude Ocker."

122. Cosper/David Cosper⁶ Altenburg (Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born March 14, 1842 in Auburn, IN, and died August 14, 1932 in 1001 Cumberland St., Little Rock, Arkansas. He married Martha Crise June 19, 1870 in M. E. Church, Butler, IN, daughter of Walter Crise and Mary McGaw. She was born Abt. 1847 in OH, and died November 10, 1929 in 1001 Cumberland St., Little Rock, Arkansas.

Notes for Cosper/David Cosper Altenburg: He was 8 in the 1850 Union Twp., DeKalb Co. IN census. He was in the 1860 Union Township, census (18yrs). He was listed as Casper or Cosper.

In the 21st Indiana Volunteer Infantry it mentions that Company A had upon its roll the following men from DeKalb county...Caspar Altenburg was among them. In Company M, they had Daniel W. and Isaac L. Altenburg. (DeKalb County 1914 History Book)

In the 1885 History Book it says on page 347 that "Altenburg, Caspar, mustered in March 20, 1864, out Jan. 13, 1866. in Company A, 21st infantry" On page 350 it says, " Altenburg, Casper, mustered in Sept. 24, 1861, discharged in 1862."

In the Oct. 8, 1867 election (DeKalb County History Book of 1885) it says Casper Altenburg was elected Surveyor. (page 324)

In the Waterloo Press, in 1870 it says, "Married...On the 19th inst. at the M. E. Church, in Butler, at the close of the morning sermon, by Rev. E. Hall, Cosper Altenburg and Martha J. Crise, of DeKalb."

In the April 22, 1875 Waterloo Press it says, "Cosper Altenburg has returned from Arkansas to stay. Garland's "peace" was too much for him."

It mentions in the "Waterloo Press", Feb. 8, 1877 that, "C. Altenburg of Auburn was discussing Blackboard and Map exercises for one of the programs of the Sunday School Institute that met at the M.E. church of Waterloo, IN.

Jan. 10, 1878, Waterloo Press says, "Cosper Altenburg, Esq. has been removed from Auburn to Little Rock, Arkansas."

In the Jan. 30, 1879 Waterloo Press, it has a ditch tax for Cosper Altenburg so it shows he is living or owns land in DeKalb County in Wilmington or Union township.

In the 1880 City Directory (Little Rock, Arkansas) it says the business of Dooley & Altenburg was on 305 1/2 W. Markham St.

It says in his obituary that his birthday is what I have. On a piece of paper that Theron had, it says his birthday was March 16, 1842.

In the Sept 22, 1899 Butler paper it says, "C. Altenberg and family who have been here visiting Mrs. Altenberg's parents, Walter Crise's, returned home to Little Rock, Ark., Tuesday." and "Mrs. Gilbert and Miss Altenberg, of Little Rock, Ark. are visiting Mrs. M. Hanes and other friends around Butler."

It says in the 1880 City Directory that he is a lawyer and is in the practice called, "Dooley and Altenburg." It also says that he is a member of the G.A.R. McPherson Post No. 1 that meets at Encampment Hall, 108 1-2 Main, 1st and 3rd Thurs. of each month. He is the J.V.C. whatever that is.

I forgot to write the exact date of the paper but it was in 1881 and was from the Waterloo Press, "After a long contest, Mr. Cosper Altenburg, formerly of this county, has been permitted to retain his seat in the Arkansas legislature."

Aug. 12, 1886, Thurs., The Weekly Butler Record, "Cosper Altenburg and family of Little Rock, Ark., are visiting in these parts. It will be remembered that the early days of Mr. A's life were spent in this vicinity. He informs us that everything is lovely in the land of his western home--- abundant harvests and fruit beyond market demands, having about fifty bushels of peaches in his yard."

Jan. 26, 1888, Thursday, The Waterloo Press, "Cosper Altenburg came from Little Rock Arkansas, to attend his father's funeral as did Daniel, Isaac and Will, from Michigan."

At the time of his brother, Isaac's death, he is living in Little Rock, Arkansas.

In the Butler Record, Sept 21, 1900, it says, "Cos. Altenberg, an attorney-at-law of Little Rock, Ark. and his two daughters arrived in this city yesterday, and will visit relatives here and in Butler."

In the Butler Record, Aug 29, 1902, "Mr. Altenburg, wife and two daughters of Little Rock, Ark. are here visiting and on business."

In the September 12, 1902, Butler Record, it says, "Mr. and Mrs. Cos. Altenburg and daughter Elsie have returned to their home in Little Rock, Ark. after a few weeks visit with Mrs. Altenburg's mother. Mrs. Maie Gilbert will remain indefinitely."

Sept. 12, 1902 in the Butler Record it says, "Cos Altenberg and family of Little Rock, Ark, are the guests of friends and relatives here. Mr. Altenberg thinks a great deal of his southern home, but when he wants a real good time and visit he always comes to old DeKalb. -- Dispatch.

In the Sept. 12, 1902 Butler Record, "Coz Altenburg while at Joe Latson's barber shop last week asked for a daily newspaper. He was cited to the table and told that the Plain Dealer was there. He picked up a paper and after reading a while said "that is a democrat lie," after reading a little longer he said, "that is another democratic lie," no republican would write such stuff as that." Mr. Latson then ask him what he had, and upon investigation it proved to be the Butler Record. We welcome our neighbor to the democratic party. We presume the type trust, the paper trust, and the stogie trust has opened his eyes.--Butler Herald. We can hardly respond to the Welcome above extended except to recognize the intimation it contains that in order to be eligible we must be a good liar. However, the article Mr. Altenberg was reading on our inside pages and was a war reminiscence written by an old soldier and of course the Herald does not want to intimate that an old soldier would lie when relating his army experience."

Sept 19, 1902, The Butler Record, " Mr. and Mrs. Cos Altenburg and daughter Elsie have returned to their home in Little Rock, Ark., after a few weeks visit with Mrs. Altenburg's mother. Mrs. Mamie Gilbert will remain indefinitely."

In the Aug. 29, 1903, "Cos. Altenberg, and wife of Chicago spent Wednesday with Mrs. G. W. Hanes and family."

On a postcard date Aug. 21, 1907 from Chicago IL to Mrs. Hattie E. Haines, Butler, Ind. DeKalb Co. R. F. D., it says from Cos Altenburg, 3238 Lake Park Ave., Chicago, Ill. It is a picture of the Electric Fountain, Lincoln Park. And says "All Well. C. A."

Friday, April 9, 1909 in a letter from Frank Good to the Butler Record, "After breakfast, I started out in search of my old friend Cos Altenburg. On reaching his office, found the gentleman the same as ever, one of those gentlemen who are always glad to meet you and a royal entertainer, happy with plenty of this world's goods. He has been in the same office he is in now for the last thirty years."

In the Sept. 6, 1912, Butler Record, "Cospier Altenburg, of Little Rock, Arkansas, who has been visiting relatives here left Wednesday for Butler to spend a day before leaving for the national encampment at San Francisco. He was accompanied to Butler by his sister, Mrs. Mary Haines of Hamilton.--Auburn Dispatch."

He is in the 1920 Little Rock Census. So far I have not been able to find him in the 1900 or 1910 soundex. I presume that his name is spelled wrong. I have found it many different ways so far. In this particular census, it is spelled Altenburg, Cosp. which is right. He is 76 and it says he is a lawyer. In the Soundex for the census for the same year, it is spelled Altenburg, Coskin and he is suppose to be in Culoski (Pulaski) County. In the "Biographical Historical Memoirs, 1889" it says C. Altenberg is one of the members of the bar of Little Rock. In the "Call the Roll, the First One Hundred Fifty Years of the Arkansas Legislature" it says that he served in the House from 1881-1882. They spell his name Casper, Allenberg.

In the 1911 "Historical Review of Arkansas" by Fay Hempstead, it says, "Cos. Altenberg, a government claim attorney, Little Rock, Arkansas, has for many years been identified with the legal profession of this city. Mr. Altenberg is a native of the "Hoosier state." He was born in DeKalb County, Indiana, a son of Daniel Altenberg, who took up government land in that county and pioneered there in 1830. In Daniel Altenberg's family were four sons who joined the Union army when Civil war was inaugurated - went to the front and were in the thick of the fight all through the struggle, all going out as members of the Twenty-first Indiana Regiment of Infantry, afterwards Indiana Heavy Artillery. One of these four was the subject of this sketch. He enlisted in Auburn, in Company H. Thirtieth Indiana Infantry, on September 24, 1861, for three years, after which he veteranized as a member of Company A, First Indiana Heavy Artillery. During the early part of the war he was with the Army of the Tennessee; later was in the Army of the Gulf, stationed at Baton Rouge and New Orleans, where he remained until January 11, 1866, when he was discharged. The last battle of his regiment was at Mobile in 1865. Returning home when the war was over, Mr. Altenberg entered the law department of the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, of which he is a graduate with the class of 1870 and from which he received the degree of Bachelor of Laws. In the same year he graduated he came south to Arkansas and took up his residence at Augusta, Woodruff county, where he established himself in law practice until 1876. Since that year his home has been at Little Rock. For several years he conducted a general law practice here, but finally gave it up in order to devote his entire time to government claims of all kinds, including pensions, war bounties, etc. In this special branch of the profession he has enjoyed a continuously successful and profitable practice, and for more than thirty years he has maintained his office at the same location, room 115 of the Fulk building in West Markham street. He has dealt extensively in lands throughout the state of Arkansas and he has invested in valuable realty in Chicago, now owning two beautiful, modern residences on Lake Park avenue, near Thirty-second street, overlooking the lake, where he spends his summers. His Little Rock home place comprises half a block at the corner of Tenth and Cumberland streets. This property he purchased in 1876. At Auburn, Indiana, Mr. Altenburg and Miss Martha J. Crise were married, and to them were given three daughters, all now married and settled in life: Mrs. Mame Gilbert of Chicago, Mrs. Rose L. Sweatland of Little Rock, and Mrs. Elsie Fee of Chicago."

"Little Rock, Arkansas March 14, 1916. My Dear Sister I am thinking of you to day, 74 years age to day possibly you have better recollection of the weelittle boybaby that came to the home of Daniel Altenberg, in a log cabbin on the Old Altenbergs homestead 3 miles east of Auburn Indiana. Well I was there but my recollection of the event is not admissable in a court of Law. My evidencce as to the birth day is only hearsawy yet I was there. Well MaryJane I am Growing Old. Seventy-four years old to day as you have taught me. There is none living that knows me as well as "you" for you were with my Saintly Mother at my birth, and no daught you often carred and carressed me as only a Sister could and no doubt you watched me grow from a tiney little baby to boyhood, and manhood. My mother loved me at birth. She is now in the kingdom. She has received the new birth. We are just waiting for the call, So we are nearing the journeys end, where time and eternity meet and blend. We are a little nearer to those ahead and we shall be numbered with the dead, The books are closed and our prayers said and we are part of the Countless dead. Thrice happy if then we can say we loved mankind and trusted God alltheway. Affectionately from your Brother. Cos Altenburg. All well at this end of the line. Will be please to hear from you and yours." This letter was in the scrapbook of Clara Hanes McCague.

He filed for civil war pension but I couldn't read when.

"Cos Altenburg, aged 94 (should be 90), veteran of the Civil War and perhaps the oldest practicing attorney in Arkansas died suddenly about 11 a.m. Tuesday at this home, 1001 Cumberland Street. He has lived in the same home more than 57 years. Mr. Altenberg attended the Memorial Day ceremonies Monday at National Cemetery and placed wreaths on the graves of former members of the Grand Army of the Republic with who he served the duration of the Civil War. Immediately after the civil war Mr. Altenberg entered Ann Arbor Law School, Ann Arbor, MI and upon his graduation he moved to

Augusta where he lived until 1876 when he moved to Little Rock. He was married to Miss Martha J. Crise also of Indiana June 19, 1870. In a letter from Rose Sweatland dated June 14th, 1932 in the possession of Tom Hardin (from his mother's things), "Dear Cam and Ida: I haven't very much to tell you about papa's last,,,it was so sweet and peaceful. I was with him during the last ten days and we had a lot more of our lovely visits together. the last several days his mind was wandering at times and he called for Martha and it seemed hard for him to understand that she was not with him. He was wonderful and active to the last and helped himself five minutes before he passed away. In fact, he walked to the end of the hall ad back, lay down on the bed, took two short breaths and it was all over. The last time he was out of the house was to attend Memorial Day services at the cemetery, came home at noon, tired and hungry. He ate three meals a day faithfully until the very last day. His passing was as peaceful, as comforting as anything of this kind could possibly be. He was all for going to the convention and never, for a moment, gave up thought of being there. I will be here for some time, don't know just how long, getting affairs straightened out. I possibly will come up to Chicago for a day or so, to get my business straightened out there, before returning to Texas, but will let you know nearer the time, and make a definite date. I was glad to get your little note this morning. Am sorry to say I cannot be at the Convention, the G.A.R., or the family reunion at Goshen, Indiana, this year. I am sending you lots of love." Rose Florence Hardin said in 1999 (when she was 98) that he owned a house at 234 Lake Park Avenue. It had a dance floor on the 3rd floor."

According to the obituary of his brother-in-law (Oscar C. Bates), "In 1866 he came to Newark Twp., with brothers-in-law D. W.; I. L., and Casper Altenburg."

All our love from Rose A--

Dec. 6, 1901 Butler Record, "Miss Rose L. Altenberg and Dr. Arthur E. Sweatland were married at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cos Altenberg, 1001 Cumberland Street. The wedding was very quiet, there being only a few intimate friends of the family present. Cards were sent only to out-of-town friends. It had been originally planned for the wedding to occur a week later, on December 4, but the groom wished to reach Seattle, Wash., by that time, so the date was put forward one week. The beautiful Altenberg home was handsomely decorated for the occasion palms, chrysanthemums and roses being everywhere. In one corner of the parlors, where the ceremony was performed, was banked a profusion of plants and chrysanthemums, and it was 'mid this beautiful bower that Rev. W. E. Thompson said the words that made the couple one for life. The ceremony was short but impressive and was performed in Mr. Thompson's happiest manner. After the ceremony, the guests, all of whom were personal friends of the bride, showered congratulations upon the couple and wishes them a long and happy life. Many handsome and costly presents were received. Dr. and Mrs. Sweatland left on the Hots Springs fast train at 9:15 ----- St. Louis whence they will -----ence to Seattle----- ---- Sweatland will locate. It was but a few moments after the appointed honor when Miss Lizzie Thomas began the strains of Mendelsohn's wedding march and the young couple entered the parlor and took their places before Mr. Thompson. The bride was resplendently lovely in a neat-fitting traveling suit of brown melton. After the ceremony supper was served by Bott, and at 8:15 the couple started for the depot. Their friends were quicker, however, and when they stepped from their carriage a shower of rice greeted them, which was kept up until they were safely on the train, when the platform looked like a snow had fallen. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cos Altenberg and is admired by a large circle of friends for her many charming qualities. The groom is a resident of Shepherd, Mich., of which he was formerly mayor, and enjoys a large and lucrative practice there. - Arkansas Gazette."

She was born 1847 in Plymouth, and died Aft. 1914 in Gratiot Co., MI.

Notes for Isaac Lanslot Altenburg: He was in the Civil War. "History of DeKalb 1914."

He was 6 in the 1850 census. (Union Twp., DeKalb Co., IN)

They were in the 1860 Union Twp. census. Daniel is 50. Sarah is 48, Cosper is 18, Isaac is 15 or 16, Cilves is 13, William is 8 and Frances is 5.

In the 21st Indiana Volunteer Infantry it mentions that Company A had upon its roll the following men from DeKalb county...Caspar Altenburg was among them. In Company M, they had Daniel W. and Isaac L. Altenburg.

In George W. Hanes' obituary in 1897, it says that Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Altenberg of Ithica, MI.

He was in the Co. M 1st Ind. heavy artillery. It said in his obituary that he was one in 5 brothers that enlisted. He lived in Neward Twp. and then Ithica, MI. It says he was ill two years so I am guessing the year part of the date.

On page 348 of the 1885 DeKalb County History book, it says under Company M, "Altenberg, Daniel W., mustered in Oct. 25, 1864, out Oct. 23, 1865 and Altenberg, Isaac L., mustered in Oct. 25, 1864, out Oct. 23, 1865."

In the Waterloo Press, Dec. 1, 1881 it says, "D.W. and Isaac Altenburg of Gratiot county, Mich., spent Sunday with their father, Squire Altenburg of Auburn."

He applied for Civil War Pension in 1888.

Jan. 26, 1888, Thursday, The Waterloo Press, "Cosper Altenburg came from Little Rock Arkansas, to attend his father's funeral as did Daniel, Isaac and Will, from Michigan."

The Butler Record, Dec. 26, 1903, mentions, "Isaac Altenberg and daughter Sadie of Ithaca, Mich. are visiting friends and relatives at this place."

In the 1913 Gratiot Co. History book "Isaac L. Altenburg was born near Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, June 6, 1844, and is a son of Daniel and Sarah (Latson) Altenburg. His father was a native of New York State and was of Holland ancestry (my note: the Holland ancestry must have been from his mother or grandmother's side-Altenburg is a very German name. Also there are records that William Altenburg came over as a Hessian Soldier and there are Hessian war records proving this). He followed farming the most of his life. In the fall of 1839 he moved to Union Township, DeKalb County, thus becoming one of the pioneers of the county, the family being the fifth to settle in the township. After spending many years on the farm he moved to Auburn the county seat, and lived a retired life till his death, which occurred January 18, 1888. Sarah (Latson) Altenburg, the mother was a native of Genesee County, Indiana, (my note: he got the Genesee Co. right but she was from New York also.) and was of New England ancestry. (We have a book by a Latson and they said the Latson were from Holland.) She moved to DeKalb County in 1834 where she resided until her death which occurred May 22, 1863. Isaac L. Altenburg was one of a family of nine sons and daughters, the schedule being made up as follows; Daniel W., long a resident of Gratiot, now deceased; Mary Jane Kepler of Hamilton, IN; Casper, of Little Rock, Arkansas; Henry E., deceased; Isaac L., our subject; Hattie Haines, of Butler, Indiana; William, of Belding, Mich.; Sylvia Bates, of Newark; Frank, of Syracuse, Kansas. Isaac L. assisted in the work of clearing and cultivating a new farm, taking an active part in all the duties devolving (note: meant involving) upon farmers in a new country, consequently his educational advantages were limited. In 1864 he enlisted in Company M. First Indiana Heavy Artillery, under Captain Samuel E. Armstrong, Col. Canby commanding the regiment. He saw service at New Orleans and at the taking of Mobile, and was honorably discharged at New Orleans and at the taking of Mobile, and was honorably discharged at New Orleans, Oct. 24, 1865, having served a year in the army. Following the discharge he returned home to DeKalb County. In the spring of 1866 Mr. Altenburg came to Gratiot County, buying 80 acres of land on section 17, Newark Township. Then he began the battle to win a home for himself. In February 1866, he was married to Maud Eicher, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Eicher, natives of France and Switzerland, respectively. Mrs. Maud Altenburg was born in Fulton County, Ohio, September 18, 1848. She was the oldest in a family of nine to-wit; Jacob, now a resident of Newark; Eliza Pulfrey of Alma; Mary Neil, formerly of Ithaca, now of Hill City, Minn.; Frank Eicher, of Newark; Nancy Brown, Newark; Ida Peters, deceased; Benjamin Eicher, Newark; William Eicher, Middleton. The family removed from Ohio when Maude was a small girl, and settled on a farm in Fulton Township, where they lived three years. They then moved to Newark where they bought 80 acres of land. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Altenburg are three in number; W. Edward Altenburg is married to Sadie Cresswell and resides in Ithaca, W. Frank, who furnishes the data for this sketch, was married April 25, 1902 to Miss Nellie Barnes, daughter of John H. Barnes, of North Shade Township, now residing near Portland, Mich. They - Frank Altenburg and wife - reside on the Newark homestead. Sarah E. Altenburg is married to Henry M. Blackaller. They reside in Ithaca and have a daughter, Maud. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac L. Altenburg lived on their farm, section 17, Newark, 27 years; a period of time that familiarized them with the bright and the dark sides of pioneer life. Many others had more depressing experiences no doubt, but theirs were sufficient to entitle them to a respite, and they found it finally in the possession of as fine a farm as could be found in the county; productive to a satisfactory degree, and supplied with all the necessary buildings and other conveniences, together with implements and live stock deemed so necessary to the modern and up-to-date farmer. In May 1903, they moved to Ithaca, leaving their son Frank to conduct the farm. August 3, 1903, the union of many years was broken up by the death of Mrs. Altenburg. For several years previous to leaving the farm, Mr. Altenburg was engaged in buying and shipping livestock in connection with his farming operations. After removing to Ithaca he devoted his time to the stock - buying business in connection with his son Edward. During the past two or three years his health has been such as to incapacitate him for active business. He has the best wishes of a multitude of friends, who hope for his restoration to good health. Mr. Altenburg was married, (second), to Mrs. Mary Dillon, of North Star, and after her death he was married, (third) to Mrs. Ida B. Jeffery his present wife, who was the widow of the late Alonzo Jeffery, and daughter of the late Edward N. DuBois."

In the March 13, 1914 paper it says, "Mrs. Mary Sewell and daughter Mrs. Dave Aldrich attended the funeral of a relative at Ithaca, Mich., last week."

In his obituary, it says, "Isaac L. Altenburg was born in DeKalb County, Indiana June 6, 1844. He was educated in the public schools. When less than twenty years of age, he enlisted in the army and became a member of Co. M. 1st Ind. heavy artillery. He served until the end of the war being a member of the army of Gulf. He participated in the capture of Mobile. He was one of five brothers who enlisted. Two were wounded but all lived to return home. Though not one of the wounded, the exposure and improper diet incident to army life induced stomach trouble from which he never fully recovered. The next year after the close of the war, he left Indiana for Michigan and took up his residence in Newark township on the fine farm which he cleared and on which he lived until his removal to Ithaca eleven years ago. In 1867, he was married to Miss Maud Eicher, daughter of Joseph Eicher, of Newark. To them were born three children, Edward who resides in Ithaca, Frank who lives on the old farm, and Sadie now Mrs. Blackaller. For thirty years Mr. Altenburg united with his work as a farmer the business of a stock buyer. Alone until the graduation of his son, Ed in 1888, and afterwards in connection with him and subsequently also with Chas. E. Wooster, Fred VanBuskirk and Ben Lewis. "Ise" as he was familiarly called, was well known and most thoroughly liked all over the county. Hundreds of farmers were his yearly customers and all trusted him implicitly, knowing that his word was as good as his bond. Except for the stomach trouble mentioned, Mr. Altenburg had always been a man of good average health, and led a very active out-of-door life. He had a cottage at Crystal where he spent many delightful summer hours. He was especially fond of fishing. He loved boys, young boys, and nothing pleased him more than to romp with them, many of who loved him devotedly. January 12, 1912 Mr. Altenburg had a stroke of apoplexy from which he never recovered. He was better at times and then worse. About six weeks ago he became much worse and sank until he died, Thursday night, February 26, at 11:00 o'clock. His funeral was held Sunday last at 2 p.m. at his late home. In spite of the very severe character of the day a large concourse of friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect among them were many old companions in arms, members of the G.A.R. of which he was an enthusiastic members and scores of friends throughout the county telephoned their sorrow that the severity of the weather prevented their attending. The services were conducted by Rev. McLain of Ithaca Baptist Church who spoke eloquently of the deceased and voiced the sympathy of hundreds of friends with the bereaved family. James O. Peet and Mrs. Peet sang beautifully, a profusion of floral tributes testified anew to love for the dead and sympathy with the living. The remains were conveyed to Ithaca cemetery where they were tenderly deposited beside those of his first wife, who died several years ago. Mr. Altenberg was a man who loved his family, his friends and his work. Though a staunch Republican and often urged to accept political honors in his home township, he steadfastly refused. Besides his family he leaves two sisters, and three brothers, Cospier Altenberg of Little Rock, Arkansas; William Altenberg of Belding, Frank Altenberg of Kansas, Mrs. Wm. Haines of Butler, Indiana and Mrs. Chas. Haines of Hamilton, Indiana. He will long be missed in this community, where he was so many years so active a factor."

In the History of Gratiot County it mentions that in 1910, March 24 - "Nine cottages at Crystal Lake, the local summer resort, were burned, five of which belonged to Ithaca people, viz.: I.

L. Altenburg, Geo. Richardson, J. N. McCall, Wm. Herron and A. E. Pinney. Loss partly covered by insurance."

Notes for Maud Eicher: Her father was Joseph Eicher (died July 3, 1899 aged 73, a pioneer and a reliable citizen according to the 1913 Gratiot Co. History Book) of Newark. Information from Isaac's obituary. Obit given by Theron Hanes, 1999. In the Gratiot Co. History book it says her parents were Joseph and Elizabeth (Beck) Eicher, natives of France and Switzerland respectively. In the same book written abt. 1913, it says that her siblings were, "Jacob, now a resident of Newark; Eliza Pulfrey, of Alma; Mary Neil, formerly of Ithaca, now of Hill City, Minn.; Frank Eicher, of Newark; Nancy Brown, Newark; Ida Peters, deceased; Benjamin Eicher, Newark, William Eicher, Middleton. The family moved from Ohio when Maud was small and then moved to Newark." It also has a bio in the 1913 History book about "George W. Pulfrey of Alma, now and for many years one of the best-known hotel men in Central Michigan, born in Seneca County, NY Jan. 18, 1852. His father, Alexander Pulfrey was a native of New York State, born March 14, 1821. His mother, Susan A. (Longwood) Pulfrey, born Oct. 15, 1823 was also a native of the Empire State. George built the Hotel Arcada, corner of Superior and Prospect Streets." He is married to Eliza C. Eicher, Maud's sister.

It records her death in the History of Gratiot County, 1913 under "Deaths of Well-Known Citizens: Altenburg, Mrs. Maud, wife of Isaac L. Altenburg, and daughter of the late Joseph Eicher, of Newark, August 3, 1903."

In the 1880 census it has her name as Magdaline.

Marriage Notes for Isaac Altenburg and Maud Eicher:

It says in the history book that they were married in 1966 but a copy of the marriage records, copied by Alice Turner Miller says that they were married Feb. 7, 1867, Newark Twp., by Joseph Burnett, J.P.

Notes for Mary L. Dillon/Dilling: She was from North Star.

Her obituary was in the family scrapbook that Clara Hanes McCague had. "Mrs. Isaac Altenberg Died Sunday Morning After a Long Illness. She Was a Prominent Worker in W.C.T.U. circles - Funeral Held Tuesday Afternoon At her home on South Jefferson street, Mrs. Mary L., wife of Isaac Altenberg, died early Sunday morning after a long illness. Mrs. Altenberg was born in Chautauqua county, NY., Sept. 18, 1851. In her earlier life she was a teacher and later entered the millinery business. With her former husband, William Dillon, she came to Michigan in 1888 and settled in North Star, where she continued in business until three years ago. Mr. Dillon died some years since and three years preceding the date on which her funeral occurred she was married to Mr. Isaac Altenberg and came to his home to live. Mrs. Altenberg was a woman of excellent Christian character. She was always cheerful and hopeful and she had endeared herself to a large circle of friends. She was a much esteemed member of the Baptist church at North Star and actively identified with the W.C.T.U., of which she was for some years president. She also served for several years as president of the county organization. After her active business life she greatly appreciated the quiet and rest of her home in Ithaca. For several months she had been seriously ill and for a number of weeks was at the sanitarium at Battle Creek for treatment. Her condition becoming very much worse she was brought home from that institution last Thursday. The funeral services were held in the Baptist church Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, conducted by Rev. O. W. Waldron. The interment took place in the Ithaca cemetery."

Notes for Ida B. DuBois: She was the widow of Alonzo Jeffery, and daughter of the late Edward N. DuBois (from the 1913 Gratiot County, MI Historical, Biographical, Statistical History Book by Willard D. Tucker).

Children of Isaac Altenburg and Maud Eicher are:

- 247 i. Warren Edward (Ed)⁷ Altenburg, born September 24, 1868 in Newark Twp., Gratiot, MI. He married Sarah Cresswell; born Abt. 1873 in Saginaw, MI.

Notes for Warren Edward (Ed) Altenburg: Ed is living in Ithaca when his father died.

I presume this is Warren Edward that is mentioned on the LDS files at the Ft. Wayne Library. This is where I got his birthdate.

In the Soundex for 1920 Census, it has a W. Edward Altenburg, living in Gratiot County, Ithaca (just like his father) This is in vol..... 23, E.D. 41, sheet 12, line 17.

In the 1913 Gratiot Co. History book it says he graduated from Ithaca High School in the class of 1888. There were a total of seven in the class.

His birth is recorded in the "Births and Deaths for Gratiot County, Michigan 1867-1870 copied by Alice Turner Miller"

In his stepmother's obituary (Ida's) it says he is living in Ithaca.

Information from Birth Records.

There is a picture on page iv.

Notes for Sarah Cresswell: This is from the 1920 Soundex for the 1920 census of Gratiot County, Ithaca Twp. She is listed as the wife of W. Edward Altenburg.

- 248 ii. William Frank (Frank) Altenburg, born February 14, 1872 in Newark Twp., Gratiot, MI. He married Nellie Barnes April 26, 1902; born October 31, 1877 in MI.

Notes for William Frank (Frank) Altenburg: Frank is living on the farm when his father died. Frank graduated in 1888 according to his dad's obit. Obit given by Theron Hanes, 1999.

A Frank Altenburg went to the 1937 reunion and is living in Ithaca. Grandson or son? A Frank could have had a Frank. Or this could have been this Frank. He would have been abt. 65.

I presume this is William Frank that was listed on the LDS files at the Ft. Wayne Library, Oct. 1999.

He is in the 1910 Gratiot, Newark Twp. census (Michigan). He is 38.

There is a picture on page iv.

Notes for Nellie Barnes: She is in the 1920 Gratiot County, Ithaca Twp., MI census. They are also in the 1910 Gratiot Co. census, neighbors of the Bates'.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Barnes of North Shade Township, Gratiot Co., MI.

Information of her birth from the Ithaca Mausoleum records.

- + 249 iii. Sarah E. (Sadie) Altenburg, born November 12, 1877 in Newark Twp., Gratiot, MI; died Aft. 1913.

124. Sylvia Almira⁶ Altenburg (Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born March 14, 1847 in DeKalb Co., IN, and died December 28, 1909. She married Oscar C. Bates September 27, 1865, son of John Bates and Mary/Marion Hanes. He was born May 19, 1841 in IN, and died January 25, 1900.

Notes for Sylvia Almira Altenburg: It shows her name as Silva in the 1850 Union Twp., DeKalb County, IN census. Her name is Cilve in the 1860 census when she was 13.

MRS. O. C. BATES PASSED AWAY AT NEWARK HOME DECEMBER 28 Sylvia A. Altenburg was born in DeKalb County, Ind., March 14, 1847, died 1909 aged 62 years, 9 months and 14 days. She was married to Oscar C. Bates, September 27, 1865, came to Michigan in 1866 and settled on the farm on which they resided until her death. She was converted and united, with the "Church of God" March 4, 1871 where she remained a faithful and devoted Christian up to her death. She leaves seven children, three sons and four daughters, thirteen grandchildren, four brothers, two sisters and many friends to mourn their loss. Her husband and one grandchild preceded her in death. the funeral was held December 31 at the house. Preaching services conducted by C. R. Peters assisted by H. Mininger. Burial in Ithaca cemetery. A few hours before her death she called her children to her bedside and talked to each one separately about their future welfare of Heavenly things, advising them to be ready for the dying hours. She also had evidence that her end was near."

They also had Miss- Ada, Marion, John, Charles. Not sure what this means yet.

In the 1937 Hanes-Altenberg Reunion they had a Wilard Bates from Lansing, MI and a Barney G. Bates from Ithaca, MI. John W. Bates is in Ithaca in 1937 also. If they are in Ithaca, that is where Isaac Altenburg moved to.

On a card of thanks...We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during our affliction. Chas. Bates and family, Mrs. Hattie Litwiller, Mrs. Daniel Burge and family, John Bates and family, Hugh Bates and family, Mrs. Ed Schneider and family. Mrs. Eli Roberts and family, Isaac Altenburg and family, Mrs. M. J. Sewell, and Mrs. G. W. Hanes."

Notes for Oscar C. Bates: His death date was in a bible that was copied onto sheets of paper for family members.

In the "Butler Record" (June 4, 1897) it says "Oscar Bates, of Michigan is visiting the family of Wm. Hanes."

In the 1913 Gratiot Co. History book it says under deaths of prominent citizens of Newark, many of who were early on the scene: "Oscar C. Bates, an old soldier and an 1866 pioneer, died Jan. 25, 1900."

According to the Diary of George William Hanes, In March and April of 1876, George William Hanes and Daniel Altenburg went to Ithaca Michigan to stay with Oscar Bates and they also stayed with William Altenburg.

I am guessing that this is the same Oscar Bates that is living with Lanslot Ingman. If it is right, this is where I got his approx. birth date. Union Twp., Dekalb Co. 1860 census.

In the 1880 census, according to the Soundex for that year, he is living in Gratiot Co, Newark Twp. Oscar is 39, Sylvia is 33, Imogene is 13, John is 11, Hattie J. is 7, Hugh is 5, Charles is 2, and Ida M. is 5 months.

In a scrapbook at Gratiot County, "OSCAR BATES, CIVIL WAR VETERAN, SETTLED IN NEWARK TWP. IN 1866 Civil War veteran, enlisted from Indiana, settled in Newark township in 1866, Section 17. Entered as private, advanced to captain and was acting major at the close of the war. Served 1861-1865 Iron Brigade of the Army of the Potomac. The Gainesville battle considered the worst engagement he took part in. Only 13 men were left in his outfit after the battle. The Iron Brigade took part in all the major battles of the war and included the following units: 2nd Wisconsin; 19th Indiana, 6th Wisconsin; 24th Michigan and 7th Wisconsin. Among the keepsakes of the family is a portion of the regimental flag which was torn to shed (shreds) by enemy fire which he sent home to his mother and a ribbon giving the commanders names, the regiments in the Brigade and the engagements they too part in."

Oscar C. Bates, who departed this life, January 25, 1900 was born in a small place, on the little St. Joe, in DeKalb County, Indiana, where his father had extensive mill interests. While quite young he was sent to an aunt in Milwaukee, to attend school. From there he went with her to Erie, Pennsylvania, where he was for some years in his uncle's wholesale establishment. About 1859, he returned to Butler, Indiana, where he learned and worked at the carpenter trade until the war of the Rebellion, when he was amongst the first to enlist; he enlisted as a private in Company G, nineteenth Indiana infantry.. The nineteenth was one of the famous Iron Brigade, which was in the first army corps, army of the Potomac. The brigade was organized August 1861, and was composed of the second Wisconsin, nineteenth Indiana, sixth Wisconsin, twenty-fourth Michigan and seventh Wisconsin. The commanders were Generals Rufus King, Sol Meredith, E. S. Bragg, John Gibbons, and L. Custer. He was promoted from time to time, when at the consolidation of the nineteenth and twentieth Indiana, he was commissioned captain, which commission he held when mustered out, although he was acting major when peace was declared. When his term of enlistment expired he re-enlisted for term of the war. Few men went into the United States service stronger than he, and he was never in the hospital, except when wounded, which was after the battle of the Wilderness. He was taken prisoner twice; once at Gettysburg, but escaped in a most daring manner, and found his way back to the union forces. He was in over forty engagements; the principal ones were Gainsburg, 2nd Bull Run, South Mountain, Fredericksburg, Antietam, Fitzburgh Crossing, Gettysburg, Chansiorville, Mine Run, Spotsylvania, Wilderness, Lural Hill, Cold Harbor, North Anna, Petersburg, Hatcher's Run, Weldon Railroad, Five Forks, and Appomattox. Here is an extract of a letter written his mother, September 5, 1862. Dear mother; as I have a little time to spare, I will write you a few lines to let your know where I am and what I have been doing. I have received two letters from you, which I have not answered; have not had time to write since we left Gettysburg, and could not send it had I written. I have now in my pocket, a letter I wrote you over a month ago. Since we left Fredricksburg, the nineteenth have seen hard times. We marched to Cedar Mountain, but did not get there in time to take a part in the battle. From there we marched back and crossed the Rappohanock, where we had an opportunity to show our courage. For ten days in succession, we fought the rebels; but the bloodiest of the fight, was near Gainsville, where our brigade held our own ground, alone, against, three rebel brigades. We fought one hour and in that short time, our brigade lost 800 men. The nineteenth Indiana came out with but 150 officers and men. Company G had only thirteen men left, and our flag was shot to pieces. I will send you a small piece of it, and I want you to keep it for me; you need not be ashamed of it for it has never been disgraced; not even this little fragment." Her reply, some time later; "My dear son, I should have liked to keep this little fragment of the old flag, my son helped so bravely to defend, but as you wish to have it, I will send it to you to hand down to your children." At the close of the war, with health much impaired, by the years of constant exposure, he returned to Butler, Indiana. In 1866, he, with his brother-in-laws, D. N., I. L. and Casper Altenburg, came to Newark, Michigan, and located farm homes, where he remained until his death. In politics, he was always a Republican. He was conscientious and upright in all his dealings; kind and ever ready to aid whosoever was sick or needy, without regard to creed or color. Many have cause to remember his kindness. In his neighborhood many came to him to settle their disputes and differences, and none questioned the justice of his decisions. He had filled all the offices of trust in his township. He left a widow and seven children comfortably situated. The children are Mrs. Daniel Burege, of Reed City; Mrs. Peter Litwiller of St. Johns; Misses Ada and Marion, of Newark; John N., Hugh Kellogg and Charles C, all of Newark. In his own family, he was a most loving and kind husband and father. He spent his last evening in cheerful converse and studying the bible with his family. "Peace be with thee. O our brother! In the spirit land! Vainly look we for another In thy place to stand Unto Truth and Freedom giving all thy early powers. Be thy virtues with the living, And they spirit ours."

The extract of the obituary said he died Jan. 23, 1900. With the amount of typos in the abstracts, I would say January 25, was prob. right.

There is a picture of Oscar on page iii.

It says he is living in Beldine at the time of his brother, Isaac's death. It says he is living at Belden, MI at the time of his stepmother's death.

This exact birth information and his middle name was from a sheet of paper that Theron gave me.

I found a William Altenburg born about 1854 living in Michigan (lonas?), Mill St. Vol. 40 E.D. 79, sheet 5, Line 96. He is living alone. If I look it up in the census, it should have whether he was a widower and maybe if he had children. Will do that later.

In the 1913 Gratiot Co. History Book, in a bio about his brother Isaac, it says he is living in Belding, MI.

In the North Star Cemetery, North Star Township, Gratiot Co., MI records done in 1933 it has the gravestones of William, his wife, and daughter Maude.

According to the Diary of George William Hanes, In March and April of 1876, George William Hanes and Daniel Altenburg went to Ithaca Michigan to stay with Oscar Bates and they also stayed with William Altenburg.

This is from "The State Journal" Tues., March 13, 1973 (I am not sure where this paper was from). It was a clipping that Clara Hanes McCague had and was stored in an envelope that had H. McMananon on return address from Lansing Michigan. H. is Hazel Hanes, daughter of Cameron Reed Hanes. AREA BASEBALL MOURNS DEATH OF AN ALTENBURG PASSING OF A FRIEND Jesse Altenburg gave any youngster who wanted to play baseball the opportunity. As a former player in the professional ranks, a coach in the minor leagues and a manager of youth teams, Jesse never had the heart to say no. Today, Lansing mourns his passing. Jesse died Monday at the age of 80. Two years ago the Lansing Bull Pen Club honored Jesse as it's Man of The Year" in baseball. All I've tried to do is give every little fellow a chance to play baseball," he said. Why should I be honored for doing that?" Jesse played two years with the Pittsburg Pirates, managed one of their farm teams and later was a scout in the organization. He also had affiliations with the St. Louis Cardinals. A 1922 graduate of the University of Michigan, Jesse started his baseball career in the Elsie and Belding areas. He played in the State League in Ludington, then was sold to the Pirates, playing in 1916 and 1917. After leaving the pro ranks, Jesse came to Lansing and managed the Lansing Senators. One of his closest friends, Sherm (Red) Hicks, talked with Jesse last week and they were making plans to visit friends and talk baseball in Mt. Pleasant. Jess liked the Mt. Pleasant area," said Red and he wanted me to go with him to some of the high school basketball tournaments. He had a lot of friends up there. He asked me about a couple of baseball players at Central Michigan University, and if they'd signed with the pros yet. He always kept up on things." Jesse would have as many as 150 boys practicing and attending clinics until they told him he couldn't use Reason Park anymore," Hicks said. So, he gathered the boys at this house and taught them fundamentals." Jess was a lifetime member of the Central Michigan Old Timers Baseball Association."

Another clipping had "Altenburg, Mr. Jesse H. 1512 James St. Age 80, died at a local hospital March 13, 1973. He had been a resident of Lansing for 50 years. He was a Professional baseball player with the Pittsburg Pirates in 1916 and 1917. In 1916 he batted .429. He was Manager of the Lansing Senators in 1940 and had managed and directed three Baseball teams in the City Recreation Leagues. He was a member of Worl War 1 Barracks No. 235. Surviving are two brothers, George of Old Mission, Mich. and Clarence of Seminole Florida and several nieces and nephews. Mr. Robert Hargraves of the Great Lakes Bible College will conduct the service at 1 p.m. Thursday in the Estes-Leadley colonial Chapel, with interment in North Star Cemetery, Gratiot Co., MI.

Howard Eugene Altenburg 5 Aug 1892 White Kendall KS Hamilton Kansa

A letter written from him to Clara McCague, Dec. 07, 1970 from Syracuse, Kansas, "Dear Cousin We read your letter and card yesterday and were so glad to hear from you and that you are well but sorry you have the arthritis as Edna knows all about that as she has had since back in the thirtys. She has trouble walking and if she just stands still to long it gets to hurting real bad also her hands hurt at night. she has a heating pad on them most of the time. I also use an electric vibrator as the Dr. says the slow circulation causes the hands to hurt. As for me I had a slight stroke in my left leg which makes me limp a little it is not painful tho and I am glad about that but I guess we can expect those things as we grow older. You ask about our weather out here. I think it is about the same as back there. We don't have the snow we used to we do have quite a of wind, and gets down below 0 degrees and that makes it seem real cold. We had a good crop this year and wonderful weather to take it in didn't even have to quit at night as we don't have the dew out here at night like back east we have a higher altitude ou know we have our moisture in the spring and through summer, of course we do times have moisture in the fall and they have trouble but not very often, I just now looked at the temperature, it is 74 degrees at ten of eleven a.m. I just happy to think the record -- --, started to day 29 years ago. I remember it was Sunday and it was on the bed reading the paper. When it came over the radio. My stepson was all over the pacific 42 months in the army but he was lucky never got a scratch but was in most of the invasion was in a gun crew of eight men but only he and one other fellow of the original crew came back. Now we are in another war, no end in sight, and now they have the weapons to destroy the world in a very short time. Of course all nations know that so maybe we will ot blow our ---- clear off the earth. Well, I better close hoping this finds you felling ok and a Merry Christman and Happy New Year. Love Howard - Edna P.S. I hope you will escuse my writing and mistakes. My hand don't seem very steady this a.m."

224. Orville Leroy⁷ Altenburg (Daniel Wells⁶, Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born December 21, 1876 in Michigan, and died 1946 in Long Beach, CA. He married Sarah E. Parks December 21, 1897 in Saint Louis, MI, daughter of Stephen Parks and Sarah Abair.

Notes for Orville Leroy Altenburg: Information from the 1880 Soundex for Gratiot, MI.

In the 1913 Gratiot Co. History Book it says that Orville L. Altenburg and Daniel T. Altenburg both graduated in 1897 in the city of Ithaca.

"Story of The Maumee Valley Toledo and The Sandusky Region" pub. 1929, "Dr. Orville L. Altenberg, a well known Toledo optometrist, was born in Ithaca, Michigan, December 21, 1876, a son of Daniel W. and Sophia E. (Ingman) Altenberg. His father was born in Utica, New York, May 5, 1834, and the family, of German lineage, was long established in that state. The ancestry, however, is traced back to Altenberg, Germany, where lived William Altenberg, who came to America in 1779, settling in the Empire state. he enlisted at Utica, New York, for service in the War of 1812 and was killed in action. (Note from Roz: this is not true, somewhere family history got a little mixed up. William Altenberg who came over in 1776 as a Hessian soldier died in 1821 and would have been too old to serve as he would have been around 60. His son William, died in 1878 so could not have died in action. Daniel W. Altenberg was reared and educated in DeKalb County, Indiana, the family home having been established at Auburn. During the Civil War he and four of his brothers (Again note: actually 3 of his brothers and a brother-in-law) volunteered in defense of the Union, becoming members of Company M., First Indiana Heavy Artillery, and rendered valuable aid in support of the cause which they espoused. Daniel W. Altenberg was a civil engineer who successfully followed his profession for many years. At the time of his death he was living in Ithaca, Michigan, and there passed away December 1, 1898, at the age of Sixty-four. For many years he had served as surveyor of Gratiot County, MI. He gave his political allegiance to the republican party and he was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Odd Fellows and the Grand Army of the Republic. His wife, who was born in Auburn, Indiana, was a daughter of Lancelot Ingman, who was a pioneer settler of Auburn, Indiana, of English descent. Her grandfather in the maternal line and three of his children were massacred by Indians in Virginia, his wife and one child hiding in a wheat field and thus managing to escape. To Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Altenberg were born five sons and two daughters of whom six are yet living. Dr. Altenberg, who was the sixth in the order of birth first opened his eyes to the light of day on a farm in a log cabin which his father had built. He obtained his education in the public schools of Ithaca, Michigan, and then in preparation for his professional career attended the Chicago College of Ophthalmology, from which he was graduated March 7, 1899. he has taken postgraduate work at Kansas City, Missouri there receiving a diploma March 3, 1914, and he also won a diploma from the Institute of Optometry on September 15, 1920. He is now a fellow of the Optometrical Society. In October, 1909, he was appointed by Governor Fred Warner a member of the Michigan state board of examiners, on which he served for a period of four years. Dr. Altenberg began practicing in Ithaca, Michigan, where he continued until 1913, when he came to Toledo, where he has since maintained an office. He has been quite successful in his chosen life work and he is now a member and executive secretary of the Ohio State Optometrical Association, having filled the office for two terms. He belongs to the Toledo Academy of Optometry, of which he is a past president. Dr. Altenberg was married in Saint Louis, Michigan, December 21, 1897, to Miss Sarah E. Parks, a native of that place and a daughter of Stephen and Sarah (Abair) Parks, both of whom are deceased. Dr. and Mrs. Altenberg have two children: Clarence P. who was born at Elsie, Michigan, December 2, 1898; and Gordon W., born at Ithaca, May 1, 1901. The family resides at 405 West Manhattan Boulevard in Toledo, and Dr. Altenberg has his office in the Spitzer building. Dr. Altenberg has membership in the Collingwood Presbyterian church in Barton Smith Lodge, No 613, F. & A.M. He is senior vice commander of Toledo Camp, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War. Politically he is a republican and an active member of the Lucas County Republican Club. He enjoys hunting, fishing, and outdoor recreation, but all interests are made subservient to his professional activities and duties. He has become thoroughly familiar with the scientific principles which underlie his chosen life work and as an optometrist he has gained high rank and well merited position, discharging his professional duties with a sense of conscientious obligation."

Nov. 25, 1921 Newspaper says "Dave Aldrich and family are spending the Thanksgiving holidays with the Harry Aldrich family at Fairmont." "Dave Aldrich and family have moved from their farm into the Mrs. Henry Aldrich property east of the Christian church."

Also in the Jan. 1, 1930 Steuben Republican, "Mr. and Mrs. David Aldrich had a Christmas tree and 6 o'clock dinner Christmas eve with Mr. and Mrs. Dean Aldrich and son, Dr. and Mrs. Sim Aldrich and family and Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Rose and family and Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Kiess and family of Angola; Dr. and Mrs. Harry Aldrich and son of Fort Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aldrich of Hamilton, Dr. and Mrs. Noah Rockey and daughter of Ft. Wayne, were detained but came Christmas. Dr. Howard Aldrich and wife of Indianapolis could not attend.

I am not sure which David Aldrich this is. It could be this one or else it could be another David Aldrich. This was in the Steuben Republican, Feb. 5, 1930, "David Aldrich makes Fires for the teacher at No. 8 school house and while splitting kindling one morning last week a stick flew up and hit his cheek just below the right eye that "staggered" him for some little time. It just missed the eye as good luck would have it."

In the Feb. 19, 1930 Steuben Republican it reports, "Mr. and Mrs. David Aldrich recently visited his brother, Charles and wife at Angola. Charles is recovering from a severe illness."

The Hamilton News, Friday, May 13, 1921, "David Aldrich, in Richland township, has, in many respects, one of the most remarkable families in Steuben county. Mr. & Mrs. Aldrich have eight children, of whom seven are married, and they have ten grandchildren, making a total of twenty-seven persons in the family, ranging in age from one month to 1 years, the latter being Mr. Aldrich's age, and there has never been a death in the family. Best of all, the family cast sixteen votes for Warren G. Harding for president last fall. We doubt if there is another family in the county with a like Record--Republican."

In the Nov 26, 1930 Steuben Republican paper it says, "David Wayne, eldest son of Olive and Henry Aldrich, was born in DeKalb County, Indiana November 27, 1859, and passed to the beyond at his late home November 20, 1930. When nine years of age he moved with his parents to Steuben County where he has ever since continuously lived. On Oct. 7, 1883, he was united in marriage with Miss Harriet Hanes of Butler, Indiana. They immediately began housekeeping on his parents homestead, now his, where they spent a happy and prosperous farmer's life. This union was blessed with eight children, five sons and three daughters, Harry, of Fort Wayne, Fred, of Hamilton, Mary Keiss of Angola, Simeon of Angola, Dean of Angola, Olive Rockey of Fort Wayne, Wilmett Rose of Angola and Howard of Indianapolis. He attended the district school, finishing his education at Angola college, and taught seven terms of school. He with his wife, united with the Methodist Episcopal church in the winter of 1908 and was a faithful and consistent member of the Hamilton Church. He was also a member of the Hamilton Knight of Pythias order. He was of a sunny disposition always with a smile whenever he met the eye of a fellow human being, which is the true recognition which passes from soul to soul. He was a lover of children, never neglecting the little courtesies so dear to childish hearts. He was a man to who men and women by common consent paid honor and was crowned as a noble man, one who in every department of life was a helper to those about him. He was a loving husband and a kind and indulgent father. Surviving him are his wife, all the children and seventeen grandchildren: two brothers, Charles Aldrich of Angola and Hiram Aldrich of Detroit, and hosts of friends. Faith was his Christian foundation, hope his anchor, and in death, Christ his pilot, and heaven is his country. Funeral services were held at the local M. E. church Saturday at 2:00 p.m. Rev. A. A. Turner, assisted by Rev. Mr. Jennings and Rev. R. A. Morrison, of Fort Wayne, officiating. Interment in the Eddy cemetery beside his parents who preceded him several years ago."

The house was filled with guests from basement to attic. This is equal to the trade in August. All were there who could be accommodated in one house." In the May 16, 1902 Hamilton News it has an article about Cold Springs during this time period. "COLD SPRINGS RESORT A trip to the Springs will reveal the fact that many are the improvements which have been made there since the close of the season last fall. New boat houses are in evidence along the water's edge. A new bowling alley is constructed. New cottages have been built and lumber is on the ground for more. Lots have been leased for several cottages which will be built either this summer or the coming fall. Cold Springs resort is fast growing in favor with people from a distance and this year promises to be the best yet. With the many improvements already in evidence and those which will follow this season Cold Springs, as a summer resort, will rank second to none in Northern Indiana."

Aug. 8, 1902, The Butler Record, "The Editor and family spent last Friday and Saturday at Cold Springs Hamilton. That place is certainly destined to be quite a summer resort. Quite a number of fine summer cottages have been erected there, among the finest of which are those of T. J. Knisely, S. G. Stone, and Thos. Rudd. Chas. Hanes is running a neat little hotel at the Springs and is having all the patronage he can take care of. He is promised a larger building for next year. There are cottages there owned by people at Montpelier, Bryan, and other towns in Ohio as well as Indiana. A gasoline launch makes regular trips from Hamilton to the Springs. Several more Butler parties talk of erecting cottages there next year and no doubt a considerable increase in importance of the place will occur next year."

Sept. 5, 1902, Hamilton News, "Chas. Hanes and wife of Cold Springs were in town Wednesday. He reports Capt. Harding launch running in good shape and that all previous difficulty with the engine overcome. Mr. Hanes has purchased the small island and will erect three cottages on the same at once. He is doing a thriving business with his hotel and boat line from Hamilton to the Springs. He carried several hundred people over on his boats on Sunday and on the Fourth. His hotel is nicely kept, the only difficulty is lack of sufficient room to accommodate the people that come. A hotel four times as large would no doubt be filled just as well. A larger hotel and an auditorium are talked of. A good auditorium would ring conventions, Sunday School picnics, political meetings and may things that would help the resort wonderfully (wonderfully). Properly managed Hamilton has a great future as a place of resort, especially if an electric line is built to the place, which certainly will be built in time; if the people of that little burg gives it the right kind of encouragement."

In the Butler Record, Oct. 28, 1904, it says, "Chas. Hanes of Hamilton, has purchased an automobile."

He is buried in Hamilton Cemetery, Sec. P, Lot 35.

In the Butler Record, March 1, 1912, "HAVE LEASED THE SPRINGS C. B. Hanes and Fred Aldrich have leased Cold Springs resort, including boats, hotel, pavilion, barn and all that under the control of Homer Watkins. Mr. Hanes will have charge of the hotel privately, but every ting else comes under the lease of Hanes & Aldrich. New docks are being built at the Springs as well as at this side of the lake. Oct. 4, 1918, The Butler Weekly Recod, "Charles B. Hanes, of Hamilton, has rented the north room of the Tomlinson block and it is being fitted up for him. He will open a restaurant soon in the lower rooms and use the up stairs for living rooms. Mr. Hanes and wife are excellent restaurant people and will make a considerable addition to Butler business firms."

In the "Hamilton News" March 10, 1922, it says, "Several have been permitted to enjoy the Radio concerts at Island Park hotel. Mr. Hanes has installed a radio station and entertainments of various kinds from many points in the United States have been enjoyed by them and their guests."

Sept. 29, 1922, Hamilton News, "C. B. Hanes and wife left yesterday for Tavares, Florida, where they have leased a hotel for the season. Fred Hanes and family have moved to the Island and will look after things until the return of his parents next spring."

"The Hamilton News" December 8, 1922 had two articles about the Hanes family. One was entitled RADIO CONCERT and said, "A group of visitors from Angola were entertained recently with a novel radio demonstration at The Radio Exchange located at Island Park, Hamilton, Ind. Concerts were picked up from several stations among which were Schnectady, N.Y., Kansas City, Mo., Pittsburgh, Pa., Fort Worth, Texas, and Los Angeles, California. Owing to the ariel being struck with lightning four times is a terrific storm during the concert, the station at Fort Worth, Texas was forced to postpone part of their program. Immediately after this station had stopped transmitting, the newspaper station of The Times, located at Los Angeles, California was picked up. The day's news was first given and this was followed by a splendid musical program. The concert came through very clearly, and was loud enough to be heard over the entire floor of the hotel where the demonstrating set was located. An unusual feature of the demonstration was the fact by a slight movement of a small dial it was possible to hear either the California station or the New York station, making a "coast to coast" reception. The set used in the demonstration was a stock model, used in connection with a Magnavox loud-speaker." The second story was HANDED A LEMON, "Fred Hanes was handed a lemon by his father, Charles Hanes, who is spending the winter at Travares, Lake County, Florida. It was small, at least Charley told his son he had put a little lemon in a package he was sending, to fill up space, and they could use it for a pie. The expected dwarf (?) specimen arrived in due time and Fred said he was surely surprised. He brought it to this office for us to see and it only measured 15 3/4 inches one way around it and 16 3/4 inches the other and weighed two pounds, 1 1/2 oz. Some who saw it questioned its being a lemon so Fred penetrated it with a knife and the question was soon settled. Mr. Hanes writes that they are having fine weather in Florida."

In the "Hamilton News" March 23, 1923, it says, "RETURN FROM FLORIDA, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hanes, who have been spending the winter at Travares, Florida, where they had been in charge of a hotel, have returned to their hotel at Island Park. After they had closed their contract at Travares they went on a sight seeing trip to Lakeland, St. Petersburg, and other points of interest. They cut their sight seeing trip shorter than they expected to, however, as they had the misfortune to have their automobile stolen while in St. Petersburg. They found no trace of the machine and carried no insurance. They had expected to make the return trip from Florida by auto but after the other fellow got the machine and did not return it in time for them to start north they had to come home on the train. Charley brought a souvenir of Florida home with him, however, in the shape of two little alligators which they have at the Island Park Hotel."

Chas. Hanes and wife and granddaughters, Bessie and Mary Jane, went to Fairmont Sunday to spend the day with Fred Hanes and wife."

In the Hamilton News, Oct. 30, 1925, "Chas. Hanes and wife left the latter part of last week for Florida to spend the winter. They expected to visit their son, Fred, and family at Connersville for a few days on the way down."

Dec. 31, 1926, "The Hamilton News" says, "C. B. Hanes and wife spent the latter part of the week with their son, Fred, and family at Connersville."

In the Hamilton New, Nov. 16, 1928, it says, "SETTLE LITIGATION OVER ISLAND PARK". Litigation over the ownership and possession of Island park on Fish Lake at Hamilton was settled by the terms of an entry made in the Steuben circuit court at Angola Thursday. E. O. Penry of Auburn and other lot owners brought an injunction suit some time ago against Charles B. and Louise Hanes, alleging the defendants were encroaching upon the driveway and were occupying land they did not own for a pavilion and hotel. The defendants claimed they were exceeding their rights. An agreement was finally reached by which the defendants will remove the pavilion from the park on the island but will be permitted to maintain the hotel on its present site. A new plat was put on record by which the driveway is moved and the lots are extended back from the original lines to the driveway. By the terms of this agreement the bridge leading to the Island and the driveway are to be kept open. Stump & McClintock of Auburn, Capt H. C. Springer of Butler, and Leonard, Rose and Zollars of Fort Wayne, represented the plaintiffs and H. W. Mountz of Garrett, A. C. Wood of Angola, and Attorney Golden of Connersville, appeared for the defendants." This was credited to the Auburn Star.

May 31, 1929, Hamilton News, "Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hanes motored to Connersville on Friday the 24th to attend the commencement exercises of the Connersville high school, at which occasion their granddaughter, Bessie Marie Hanes graduated with honor. Of the 109 graduates she was the youngest, and with the distinguished honor of being one of eight to receive an award for the most perfect grades, she receiving the American Association of University Women Award of $100.00 which will be a substantial help to her when she enter college next fall."

Dec. 17, 1930, Steuben Republican, "Charles Hanes has gone to Connersville to spend a few weeks with his son, Fred and family. Their son Charles, who spends his summers here, recently fell and broke both bones in the left wrist. It is the second break he has suffered in that arm in a few years."

Jan. 11, 1935 in the Hamilton News, it says, "C. B. Hanes was here from St. Petersburg, Florida, over the weekend. Mary Jane Hanes accompanied him home and has returned to her school work in Hamilton. He left on Monday for Florida accompanied by his grand-daughter Bessie."

In the Hamilton News, August 2, 1935 it has an "old" picture of the businessman in Hamilton and it has amongst them, Charles Hanes.

In Oct. 30, 1936, it says, "C. B. Hanes and wife, and Mrs. Doty of Hudson, left Thursday for California to be gone for the winter."

In the Sept. 22, 1939, Hamilton News, "Mrs. Chas Hanes, Mrs. Moses Hanes, Mrs. Fred Hanes and Mrs. Don Griffith and children were Tuesday visitors of Mr. Cleo Collins and children at Redkey. Mrs. Collins will be remembered as Betty Hanes. Mr. Collins has accepted the position as 6th grade teacher in the Gaston schools." Also in the same paper, "C. B. Hanes is putting in a new hardwood floor in the dining room at the hotel. He is also building a new sea wall in front of the hotel from the bathing beach to the boat dock. The pleasure boat, Marriann, has been removed from the lake."

In the Waterloo Press, March 21, 1940, "IMPROVEMENTS FOR ISLAND PARK HOTEL C. B. Hanes Returns from Florida and Makes Plans for Changes at Hamilton Lake Property Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hanes have returned to their home at Island Park, Hamilton Lake, after spending the winter in Florida. Mr. Hanes is now making plans for some extensive improvements on his Island Park Hotel property by the addition of several bath rooms and toilets. The annex will be improved by an addition. New plumbing will be added and the hotel property will be put in good shape for the coming season. Each year Mr. Hanes makes some improvements and this year he expects to make more changes than usual. The popularity of the Island Park Hotel as a Summer resort has grow to such an extent that it is necessary to make changes to meet the demands of an increased patronage."

In the Hamilton News, Sept. 6, 1940 it says that 35 years ago "C.B. Hanes sold his steamer, Mildred, and his gasoline launch to Roscoe Watkins."

About 1940, he had an operation. In the "Hamilton News" October 21, 1955 under 15 YEARS AGO..."Charles Hanes returned home on Tuesday from the St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Wayne where he underwent a major operation a week ago."

Hanes celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Wednesday, July 2nd, with open house in the afternoon. Many friends called during the time to extend congratulations. Light refreshments were served to each visitor. The couple were the recipients of many nice presents. Mr. Hanes was a traveling salesman when a young man and his home was in Buffalo, N. Y. It so happened that Dunkirk, N. Y. was one of the cities on his calling list and he met his future wife at a band concert in Dunkirk. They were married about a year later in Dunkirk. Mr. and Mrs. Hanes have been in the hotel business most of the time since their marriage and at present operate the popular Island Park hotel. They also operated a hotel in Hamilton forty years ago. Their Island Park hotel has a reputation far and wide and many visitors are here during the summer season from cities many miles distant. The News joins with other friends in extending congratulations to this worthy couple for many more years of happy married life."

In the Hamilton News, September 12, 1941, it says "The Hanes-Altenberg reunion was held at the Island park hotel Sunday with an attendance of about 80."

In his obituary (Feb. 10, 1944) it says, "HANES DIES AT HAMILTON Well Known Island park Hotel Operator Succumbs to Long Illness Due to Complications FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY Long Career as Resort Hotel Proprietor Gave Him a Wide Acquaintance and Won Many Friends - Mason and a Lion.

On his death card, it says he was born June 11, 1871 and his services were from Swift Memorial Chapel, Wednesday, February 9, at 2:00 p.m. Clergyman officiating was Rev. A. P. Benjamin.

Charles B. Hanes, for many years proprietor and operator of Island park Hotel at Hamilton, died at his home on Island park, at 1:45 Sunday morning after a long illness due to complications and a cancerous growth. He was nearing his seventy-third year, and had spent most of his life in and around Hamilton. The body was removed to the Swift funeral home in Hamilton where its last rites were held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with Rev. A.P. Benjamin, pastor of the Hamilton Christian Church officiating. Burial in the Hamilton cemetery. During the many years the Island Park Hotel has been in operation during the summer seasons by Mr. and Mrs. Hanes, it became a mecca for pleasure resorters who desired the best kind of environment, with an informal atmosphere, homelike and of good character. That is when Mr. Hanes made of Island Park after he became the owner of the property and made Island Park Hotel one of the best places of the kind in the state. The hotel and annex had fifty rooms overlooking the lake and a beautiful shore line. Mr. Hanes was a genial host, always looking out to the greatest pleasure of his guest who came from several surrounding states. He became well known to his many guests who came during the different summer seasons. Often he went out of his way to find something that would amuse the children and entertain the older guests, such as getting motion picture shows from film that he had taken himself, in this way he won many friends. The morale of the resort was never questioned and his efforts to keep the place of a high standard held him the high esteem among his patrons. Mr. Hanes was a member of the Masonic order at Hamilton and also a charter member of the Hamilton Lions club. He was well known around his home community as well as in Waterloo and throughout the surrounding counties. Surviving is the wife and several grandchildren. The only son, Fred Hanes, passed away about three years ago."

MORE ABOUT ISLAND PARK:

This is taken from the book, "Hamilton Retrospectives". "The following article is from the Hamilton News, September 23, 1960. It was written by David Hanes as a "Local History" assignment for Letha Teegardin's history class. His sources of information were Sadie Merchant, Clif Johnston, and Robert L. Hanes. On the south side of Hamilton Lake lies a island of about 12 acres. Before 1900 the only house close to the island was a log cabin. The cabin had not been built to live in. Instead it was used as a rendezvous for gambling and drinking. The activities at the cabin were really booming around 1900. The people who frequented the place were living it up. Many people were opposed to the cabin. They looked upon it as we do some of our rough night spots. In 1901 the cabin was burned. It was thought that someone burned it on purpose because of its bad name. It was never rebuilt. Two men, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Henry, bought the 12 acre island and built an in.. They built a bridge made out of trees. It was known as a "rustic bridge." This connected the island to the mainland. This bridge was between 80 and 100 feet long and was wide enough for one car to cross at a time. A walk was built on each side of the road bridge for pedestrians. The water under the center of the bridge was about 6 feet deep. It was a very good place to fish so it was a common sight to see 10 to 12 fish lines tangled in the light wires that went over the bridge. Some time around 1940 the road from the island to the Bellefontain Road was turned over the county for maintenance. The county removed the wooden bridge and built a

TO THE HONORABLE SENATOR
JOHN MCNAMARA
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Dear Senator:

I am writing to you today to express my deep concern over the recent developments in the Vietnam conflict. The human toll of this war is staggering, and the political and social consequences are far-reaching. It is my belief that a negotiated settlement is the only viable path forward, and I urge you to use your influence to bring about a peaceful resolution.

The United States has a long and honorable tradition of supporting freedom and democracy around the world. However, the current situation in Vietnam is a stark reminder of the human cost of prolonged conflict. The suffering of the Vietnamese people, both in the north and south, is a tragedy that cannot be ignored. We must find a way to end this war and bring peace to the region.

I am confident that you will take the necessary steps to ensure a just and lasting peace. Your leadership and commitment to the principles of democracy and human rights are a source of inspiration for all who seek a better world. I am grateful for your service to the country and the world.

Sincerely,

Very truly yours, causeway of fill dirt with a small cement bridge to connect the road to the island. This formed an opening for the water from one part of the lake to reach another part. About the year 1913, Mr. Charles Hanes leased the hotel from Mr. Hi Henry and in the year 1916 Mr. Hanes bought the inn from Mr. Henry and the rest of the island with the exception of about three cottages. For a while he operated in addition to the inn, a dance hall which was open to the public. The beach at the inn was for the benefit of the public and out in the center of the island were public picnic tables. Many people came to spend the date picnicking and swimming. After a few years, Mr. Hanes decided that he preferred the hotel business to the dance hall and the beach, so he raised the roof on the one-story dance hall making it a two-story building, and divided it into rooms large enough to house about fifty people. He then developed the bathing beach for the use of the hotel guests. A great number of the guests were families from all over the central west. Sometimes grandparents, parents and children of one family would come to spend their vacation and have a family reunion. In order that all of the different ages groups would have something to do, Mr. Hanes maintained about 24 row boats, a bathing beach with a toboggan slide, docks and diving tower, a tennis court, a croquet court, two shuffle board courts, a horse shoe court, a closed-in play area for little children, and at one time an 18-hole miniature golf course. There were ferry boat rides at night thus proving a romantic ending for a very busy and happy day. In 1928 Mr. Hanes built in the center of the island a small dance hall and a soda fountain. These were open to the public. Since there were about 20 cottages on the island, a number of the cottagers objected to a public dance hall. They brought a law suit against Mr. Hanes. As a settlement to the law suit, Mr. Hanes removed the dance hall. He sold it to Mr. Fred Bergman who moved it, during the winter across the ice, to Willow Point where it is still being used as a storage for boats. The soda fountain part of the building was moved to one side of the island and made into a cottage. Up until the time of the law suit, the road around the island went very close to a number of the cottages and crossed the hotel grounds between the hotel and the annex building. As part of the agreement between the cottagers and Mr. Hanes, the road around the island was moved outside the hotel grounds and toward the center of the island, thus giving more space between the cottages and the road. The hotel was operated as a vacation place for families and Mr. Hanes never sold liquor or beer. After his death, his wife sold out and since then a number of different people have owned the hotel. One of the owners changed the hotel's name to the Paradise Hotel as it is now known. The present owners of the hotel are Mr. and Mrs. Hart, formerly of Fort Wayne."

A man of sterling integrity, marked business ability and genial disposition, he has not only earned the confidence and respect of his business associates, but has gained for himself the good will of all who have come into contact with him. Eugene C. Altenburg, who has charge of the advertising department for the Zimmerman Manufacturing Company at Auburn, was born in the city which is now honored by his citizenship on January 10, 1872. He is the son of Henry E. and Sarah C. (Bodine) Altenburg, who are mentioned specifically elsewhere in this work, therefore it will not be necessary to devote further space to them at this point. Eugene C. Altenburg was reared in the parental home at Auburn and secured his education in the excellent public parental home at Auburn and secured his education in the excellent public schools of this city. At the age of eighteen years he took up life's duties of his own account, obtaining employment in the office of the Zimmerman Manufacturing Company, with who he remained about five years. In 1899, Mr. Altenburg went south, being located in three different places and engaging in the drug business at his last location. In April 1909, he returned to Auburn and again became a member of the office force of the Zimmerman Company, being given charge of the advertising for that company, in which position he is still acting. Possessing originality and artistic sense, Mr. Altenburg demonstrated his value to the business and has been one of the important factors in the splendid success which has characterized this well-known concern. Fraternally, Mr. Altenburg is an appreciative member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, while, religiously, he and his wife are earnest and faithful members of the Methodist Episcopal church. Quiet in disposition, yet genial in his intercourse with his fellows, Mr. Altenburg has won a host of warm personal friends in this community, where practically his entire life has been passed. he is keenly alive to his responsibilities as a citizen and gives his support to every movement which promises to benefit the community, materially, educationally, morally, or socially. He is fully deserving of the large measure of public confidence and esteem which is accorded in him."

He married (2) Margaret Elnor; born September 19, 1896 in Johnsonburg, PA; died December 25, 1974 in prob. Steuben Co., IN.

Notes for Robert E. Altenburg: From the LDS files (1897). The Casebeer Book says he was born Oct. 8, 1900. Not sure which is right yet. I am putting it at 1900 since his brother graduated four years ahead of him and that would make his birthday five years behind him which would be lined up with the fall birthday thing. See Below.

He graduated in 1920. He was the freshman class president of Auburn High School. (1916) The next year, he was sophomore class president. I wonder about these birth dates. He seems awful old to be graduating from high school even if he was born in 1900. Well, actually it could be right. He could have waited to start school because of a fall birthday.

In the 1920 Auburn City, Union Twp., DeKalb County Census, it has E. C. Altenburg, age 47, Hattie age 46, Harry age 23, Robert age 19. Eugene is a travelling salesman, and does machine bookkeeping and so does Harry. It says Robert does machine bookkeeping and is a repairman. Sarah Casebeer, Hattie's mom, age 76, is living with them also.

He is living in Milford, Iowa at the time of his mother's death in 1954.

Surviving are two step-daughters, Betty Lee C. Ongley, Portage, Mich. and Edith Wolford, Detroit, Mich.; two stepsons, William Sweeney, Washington D.C., and Glenn Sweeney; and 12 step grandchildren. Memorials go to the American Red Cross."

Notes for Coral A. Gott: She was the daughter of Harry and Ella Belanger Gott. This information about Coral from the obituary in the Steuben Republican (photocopied and on index cards in the Carnegie Library of Angola, IN.

She is buried in the Circle Hill Cemetery.

Notes for Margaret Elnor: Information from her obituary dated Dec. 25, 1974 in the index obituary file at the Angola Library. I am not sure if this is her death date or if it is the obituary date. I am putting it down as her death date until I know for sure. "MARGARET ELNOR ALTENBURG Mrs. Margaret Elnor Altenburg of Route 1, Angola, died Saturday morning at her home. Surviving are her husband, Robert, and one sister, Mrs. Henry J. Herr of Fort Wayne. Services were conducted at 10:00 a.m. Tuesday in St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Angola. Deems and other relatives and friends for several days." and Miss Clara Hanes and Minnie Cherry were in Chicago over Sunday the guests of the former's brother and sister C. R. Hanes and Mrs. Chas. In the Butler Record, Nov. 16, 1900 it says, "Mrs. C. R. Hanes and children arrived here Wednesday from Chicago. They will probably make this their home."

Dec. 21, 1900, The Butler Record says, "C. R. Hanes, who has been in the employ of Armour & Co., of Chicago, for some time arrived in the city Saturday. He will make Butler his home of a year, at least, and work on his mother's farm two miles west of the city."

"Mrs. C. R. Hanes and baby returned from Ann Arbor, Mich., Tuesday evening"....The Butler Record Oct. 17, 1902.

Aug. 29, 1903 Butler Record it says, "Mrs. C. R. Hanes went to Ann Arbor, Mich. Monday, where she took her youngest child for treatment."

Betty Geyer had a notation that he died in a flu epidemic.

In the Butler Record, March 10, 1905, "C. R. Hanes met with quite an accident Tuesday. In trying to climb a fence with an ax and saw, the ax slipped entering a severe gash in one of his limbs."

In the Butler Record, Oct. 5, 1906, "C. R. Hanes, who had his sale Wednesday, will move to Waterloo to make his home."

Nov. 1, 1907, "Miss Clara Hanes is the guest of her brother, C. R. Hanes and family at Waterloo."

In the Feb. 13, 1908 Thursday Waterloo Press, it has a large article about the Packing House burning, headlines were BEYER BROS. & CO. PLANT GUTTED BY FIRE It says, "at about 5:40 o'clock Mr. R. L. Hull, the resident manager of the company, with Mr. C. R. Haines, the foreman of the plant, left the building for their homes for supper. Just before leaving they went through the building from cellar to the top floor and found everything all right for the night....."

April 5, 1909, The Auburn Courier, "C. R. Haines expected to move his family to Auburn next week, where he is employed in the poultry packing house. Mr. Haines has made many friends in Waterloo since his residence here and will be missed greatly by the people here."

July 21, 1911, The Butler Record, "C. Hains and daughter, Hazel returned to their home in Chicago Sunday after a weeks visit with relatives. Mrs. Hains and son William remained for a longer visit."

From the Chicago Tribune, July 26, 1928. "AT THE MOVIES At the movies, which we rarely attend, my wife invariable becomes chilly and starts struggling to raise her furs or wraps over her shoulders, and it's always necessary for me to assist. While she worked on the election board I attended alone. A man with two ladies took seats beside me, the ladies sitting between us. Just as the big picture started the lady next to me began tugging at her wraps identically as my wife does, and absorbed, with eyes on the screen, I reached back and gave or started to reached back to give the usual assistance and - O, boy! I know my apology was wasted and was afraid of being arrested as a masher if I walked out, so I sat through. Embarrassed? I hope they see this and believe my stammered explanation. C. R. H." This news article was in the Clara Hanes McCague and family scrapbook.

In the Hanes-Altenburg family and Clara McCague scrapbooks, "POP HAINES GETS SEND-

OFF The Armour Journal of recent date, gave a former Butler boy a great send-off which is herewith copied. However "Pop" Haines, was "Cam" Haines when he was here. He is a brother of Mrs. Eston McCague and Mr. Carl Haines. "One of the most likable persons at Green street is "Pop" Haines, our egg salesman. "Pop's" a Hoosier, and, though he has spent a good part of his life in Chicago, he still retains the marked individuality that is characteristic of small town folks. It is probably this that adds to his personality that uncommon something that people like to find in others, and which makes for popularity. "Pop" is an old-timer in the produce business. For a number of years he was an official inspector for the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, in which position he soon gained an enviable reputation for honesty and capability. Here at Green Street, too, he is becoming noted for his fairness and his knowledge of eggs and an increasing number of our customers are learning they can depend on him with the fullest confidence. We like "Pop"--you'll like him, everybody does, so be sure and meet him next time you're at Green Street."

On a postcard dated Nov. 26, 1907 from Saint Francis Wisconsin to his mother Mrs. G. W. Haines, Butler, "My present headquarters Cameron." It is a picture of Pion Nono College, St. Francis, Wis. Either he is going to college or working doing something at the college.

Waterloo Press, "Cam Hanes, of Chicago, who was at one time foreman in Beyer Bros. poultry packing house here, visited Waterloo friends last week."

His obituary was in the March 9, 1939 Butler paper. It says, "Cameron Reed Haines was born near Butler, Indiana, July 5, 1867, of William Haines and Harriett Altenberg Haines, and passed from his life on March 4, 1939 after only a few hours illness of pneumonia. Cameron was the eldest of a family of seven children, all of who survive him, Mrs. Sarah Heffelfinger, Chicago; Mrs. Ella Gardner, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Mrs. Wilmetta Atwater, Goshen; Altenberg Haines, Waterloo; Carl Haines, and Mrs. Clara McCague of Butler. On June 27, 1891 Mr. Haines was united in marriage to Miss Ida E. Murphy of Butler. They set up their home in Kendallville. Later they resided on a farm near Butler for a number of years. For the last thirty years their residence has been in Chicago where Mr. Haines has been employed by the Armour and Company, where he served his employers faithfully until twenty-eight hours before his death at four o'clock Saturday afternoon. To Mr. and Mrs. Haines five children were born, Mrs. Hazel Vane, Lansing Michigan; Roscoe and Waldo, deceased in early childhood; William Haines and Mrs. Harriett Dickey of Chicago, and one grandchild, Miss Gloria Mae Dickey, also of Chicago. He was a member of the Oddfellows lodge. Sadness is added to this occasion because of the serious illness of his wife, which came about since the shock of his unexpected death."

The late Cameron R. Haines of Chicago, by his will admitted to probate in the Dekalb circuit court Monday, devised all his property to his widow, Ida Haines, and nominated her for executing. Mr. Haines formerly lived at Butler and at the time of his death owned a farm located two miles west of that city. The will was executed at Butler Sept. 5, 1931, with C. W. Campbell and Capt. H. C. Springer as witnesses.

Friday, April 17, 1903, The Butler Record, "Mrs. C. Hanes and daughter left for Ann Arbor Sunday where the child will receive treatment."

Florence had a note that she died May 1961, but I got her death date as 1959 from the gravestone records. I will check later.

Notes for Carlton Rosco Hanes: Death records of DeKalb County show his father's name as C. R. Haines with his birthplace as Indiana.

He is buried in the Butler Cemetery.

He might not belong to Cameron because he is not listed in Cameron's obituary. I am leaving him here until I figure out who he belongs to.

He belongs to Cameron according to a sheet of paper given by Theron Hanes. His birth date is different on this sheet though, Aug. 17, 1894 with the same death date. My other source said 1893. Since his gravestone says 1894, I am changing it.

His obituary says, "On last Monday evening, two miles west of this city (Butler), occurred one of the saddest accidents and cast a gloom over the entire neighborhood when Roscoe, oldest son of Cameron Hanes was instantly killed. He was standing on the north track, opposite his home, watching a passenger freight train and did not notice the approaching fast train (No. 16), which struck him and killed him instantly. His face was terrible cut and bruised, left leg broken and his whole body bruised. The train went nearly to the next crossing before it could stop, then backed up and took the body accompanied by P.H. Pallmerton to Butler where it was taken to Mr. Briggs undertaking rooms. It was thought best to leave the remains there until the next morning when they were taken to his home. The parents and friends have the deepest and most heart-felt sympathy of the entire community. Carlton Roscoe Hanes was born at Kendallville, IN Aug. 17, 1894 and died June 27, 1904 aged 9 years, 10 months and 10 days. Although his life was of few days his work was well done, priding himself in passing his school grade, and in helping on the farm and in the home. Then in his childish play, rushed out from his father's home only a few steps to meet the reaper death with his sickle keen and be taken from his earthly home to his father's home in Heaven. The service was conducted at the home Wed. June 29 by H. Smith. There was a very large concourse of people present."

- 299 iii. George Waldo Hanes, born November 28, 1896; died May 11, 1899 in Chicago, IL.

Notes for George Waldo Hanes: It says he died in Chicago, Ill according to his obituary. It is only a part of his obituary that was in the papers given to me by Theron Hanes, 1999. His funeral was at G. W. Hanes farm.

There was more information on a sheet of paper given to me by Theron Hanes. He was called Waldo and he is buried in the Butler cemetery.

Also found death date on sheets of paper copied from a family bible.

300 iv. William Hanes, born September 29, 1901.

Notes for William Hanes: Did William have a wife or sister named Carolyn? He is grouped with her twice in the family reunion notes. Did William then have a son Tommy?

This is a guess as in the Butler Record, Fri. Oct. 4, 1901 it says, "Born to Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hanes, Sunday Sept 29, 1901 a son. Since this is the only son that I didn't have a birth date on, I presume this birthdate belongs with William.

"Mrs. C. R. Hanes and baby returned from Ann Arbor, Mich., Tuesday evening"....The Butler Record Oct. 17, 1902.

July 21, 1911, The Butler Record, "C. Hains and daughter, Hazel returned to their home in Chicago Sunday after a weeks visit with relatives. Mrs. Hains and son William remained for a longer visit."

Sept. 3, 1915, The Butler Record, "Master Wm. Hanes of Chicago, who has been spending the summer with his grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Hanes of near Butler, returned home Monday."

He is living in Milton, Wisconsin at the time of his mother's death.

In a postcard dated 1910, "William got a hair cut, Hazel. Dear Grandma: This is my new suit. Ain't I fat? I am feeling real good. Hazel & I have been up town all day. Hope you are well. William This was sent to his grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Hanes.

In another postcard dated 1912 (from Chicago, IL) Hello Aunt Clara. Come up and I have a alide on my tobogan. Papa made me a dandy in the back yard love to grandma and all William Haines.

June 28, 1907, "Miss Clara Hanes left Sunday for Chicago to care for her sister, Mrs. Heffelfinger, who is quite sick."

In the Nov. 20, 1889 Thursday, Waterloo Press, "We notice that Charles Heffelfinger, son of our old comrade, M. V. Heffelfinger was married to Miss Sarah Haines at Butler last week." Also in the same paper, "Married at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hanes, on Saturday evening, Nov. 3, 1889 by Rev. A letter dated June 14, 1960 to Aunt Clara from Harold Heffelfinger.

Mountain View, Calif. June 14, 1960 Dear Aunt Clara -- & Don & George if they are Present, Marian's call today was certainly a shock, even though it was apparent that the sad news she gave us would be coming most anytime; One is never fully prepared to receive it. I know that your feelings are like ours, and since it was God's will to allow Mother to stay with us over this long span of years, it also was His will that she leave us, and join Him, leaving all her worldly worries and pain behind. I know she is happy now, and will be forever. God Bless her. Mother has had a long and a varied life, with ups and downs, and her wonderful spirit has always prevailed over the obstacles of life and she has much to leave behind for which she can be very proud. Being so far away, it will be hard for us to realize that she has passed on, and I suppose it will be like Dad, I really didn't realize he had passed on until I came to Chicago later on, and he just wasn't there. This is one of the things that I don't like about California. It is so far away, and even in these times of transportation, it still is too far away to be of any good to anyone except in spirit. And we will be with you in spirit and in prayer. We want you to feel that we are right beside you when last respects are paid to Dear Mother. George called a second time, and I got to talk to him and We believe that the arrangements that have been made are the best that could be.

Dear Aunt Clara, please accept our sincere thanks again for the many, many things you have done to make Mother comfortable these last years of her life. You have certainly given her everything she could have wanted while she has been with you, and I know without your wonderful help and love Mother would have been quite a problem for Geo., Don, and I. So thanks again and God bless you. I will write again real soon, and we hope to hear more details from you after you have rested and feel like writing again. Our Prayers are for all of you, love Harold and Esther

Florence Hardin, in 1999 at the age of 98 told us that George borrowed money from and as part of the "payment" or "favor" of borrowing the money, Ella was to go live with them. My Dear Parents: -

Last night after I wrote you & after we had eaten lunch Uncle Cam thought he was bloated worse than common It didnt seem possible for his stomach to hold any more, but he looked terrible. When he went to bed he let out his drawers by tying string in the button holes. He sent Will up to the Dr. for some med- icine, but it was this way. You know Dr. was here in P.M. & said he wanted to change his med. & would send it right down & when Uncle began bloating so fast or suddenly he want the medicine hurry, the bloat has gone down some through the night he says but I see he uses the strings yet in his drawers. There is a good deal of turpentine in the med. and he took it at 12 and at 3 I guess it always effects the kidneys, and he says his stomach doesnt feel so hard this morning. I dont get up very early when I leave to get up night, well I am always up by seven, but this noon I woke up at 5 and coughed pretty steady till 6 then it was time for Uncle's med. & I came down to stay, and I havent coughed once I was going to say since then. Her obituary is in the Steuben-Republican, Nov. 19, 1952. "DEATH OF MRS. S. F. ALDRICH IS SHOCK TO COMMUNITY Memorial services were held Sunday afternoon at the Church of Christ for Margaret, wife of Dr. Sim F. Aldrich of Angola whose unexpected death at the age of fifty-five came as a shock to the family and community on Thursday morning, November 13. Mrs. Aldrich had entered the Elmhurst Hospital in Angola on Tuesday, November 4, for observation, and on the following Friday was taken to the Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis for further observation and treatment. Her condition had improved to the point where plans had been made for return home early this week. Her death occurred unexpectedly and suddenly on Thursday morning, November 13, and the news came as a distinct shock to her family and friends, who had been planning for her return home. MARGARET ROSE ALDRICH Mrs. Margaret Rose Aldrich was born in York township near the village of Metz, on February 28, 1897. She was the daughter of Erwin F. Rose and Alice Goodale Rose. Six brothers and sisters blessed this family, but one sister died at the age of four. She attended school in the nearby country school house, and completed her education in Tri-State College in Angola. She was married to Dr. Sim F. Aldrich on June 3, 1916. Soon after their marriage, the couple established their residence in Indianapolis, while he completed his dental course. For the next five years they lived in Wolcottville, Indiana, and then came to Angola in 1924. Three children made their home most happy, and as a mother Mrs. Aldrich gave her constant and tender care and love to their nurture. She loved the outdoors, and the hills of Steuben county gave her great pleasure. Sunrises and sunsets were a source of inspiration to her, and her travels and tours were arranged with scenic enjoyment in mind. She was baptized in the Metz Church of Christ at the age of sixteen, by the Rev. E. P. Crouch. The church became the focus of her service motives. She loved the activity of the Cradle Roll and was co-superintendent of that department in the Angola Church of Christ for more than twenty-five years. With her co-workers she made contact with hundreds of families into which babies had come, and she enrolled many hundreds of these infants in the department. She was also a member of the Eastern Star, the American Legion Auxiliary, the Angola Garden Club and the Dumb Dora Sewing Club. Besides the husband, three children treasure her life's passing, Wayne, now living in Florida; Wendell, of Angola; and Mrs. Gloria Trier, of Fort Wayne. Brothers and sisters who survive include Mrs. Mildred Bowerman, of Flint, in Steuben County; Graydon Rose, Angola; Mrs. Helen Moody and Mrs. Kathryn Goodling, both of South Bend; and Gordon Rose, of Greenville, South Carolina. She passed away at the Methodist Hospital, Indianapolis, IN, on Thursday morning, November 13, 1952. Memorial services were held in the Angola Christian Church on Sunday, November 16, with Dr. Owen Crouch and Dr. Basil Holt, of South Africa, conducting the service. Burial was in Circle Hill. For those who best knew her splendid Christian life, eulogy would be useless; for those less well acquainted, it would be meaningless."

Marriage Notes for Simeon Aldrich and Margaret Rose: Information from "The Powers Family" compiled by Lee Earll and Viola Powers Amidon and Will E. Rose.

Also in the June 16, 1916 Butler paper, "Sim Aldrich and Miss Rose of Metz went to Hillsdale, Mich., on June 3, where they were married. They will live with his parents, Mr. & Mrs. David Aldrich for the summer."

Information from "The Powers Family" compiled by Lee Earll and Viola Powers Amidon and Will E. Rose.

In an article in the paper, June 3, 1981 it says, "LOCAL DENTIST FACES INCOME TAX EVASION Dr. Wendell R. Aldrich, a local dentist from Angola, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges that he allegedly failed to file the necessary income tax returns for the years 1975, 1976, and 1977. Federal agents were to arrest Aldrich who failed to file the necessary forms despite his earnings of $16, 173 in 1975, $16, 753 in 1976 and $17, 887 in 1977. He is to appear before the Fort Wayne Federal Magistrate. According to Assistant U.S. Attorney David Miller, Aldrich faces a maximum penalty of three years in prison and a fine of $30,000." Note: I know it was very common not to file income taxes in the past. If you only earned a "certain" amount, I know you did not have to file and a lot of people felt like it was not any of the governments "business" what they made. Also, if taxes had been paid in on a regular business, a lot of people only filed, if they wanted money back. I do not know the circumstances of this news story but it seemed interesting family history.

In his obituary in the Steuben-Republican, "Dr. Wendell R. Aldrich, 63, Angola, died at his apartment Sunday. He was born in Wolcottville to Dr. Simeon and Margaret Rose Aldrich. Surviving him are many nieces, nephews, and cousins. He was a prominent Angola dentist and a leading amateur golfer in Indiana. A memorial service will be held Thursday at 1 p.m. at the Klink's Funeral Home with the Angola Elks Lodge 2398 officiating. Calling will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday at Klink's. Memorials may be made to the Angola Elks W. R. Aldrich Fund."

Lauderdale, FL. She married Noah A. Rockey.

Notes for Olive L. Aldrich: Information from Steuben County Cemetery Records.

By process of elimination since I knew all the other girl's husband she had to have been Mrs. Rockey. In the Hamilton Paper, May 21, 1926, it says, "Noah Rockey and wife were here from Fort Wayne for an over Sunday visit with relatives. Mr. Rockey spent the time with his folks at Edon while Mrs. Rockey visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Aldrich north of town. Mr. Rockey is an intern at the St. Josephs hospital at Fort Wayne but expects to complete his internship in July and will open up an office in that city."

Mr. and Mrs. Rockey go to Bloomington where Mr. Rockey will enter the State University and Mrs. Rockey will teach in the Bloomington schools at a salary of $125 a month. She has sixth grade work and her pupils are all boys."

They had a heavy storm there the night before and some of the tents were blown down, others the men got on the windward side and held them down. Dean says he found a small tarantula in his bed one morning." I am not sure if this is the same Dean Aldrich yet. It is the right age for going to war.

The Feb. 3, 1922 Hamilton News says, "Dean Aldrich and family and Graydon Rose and family of Angola were Sunday guest of D.W. Aldrich and wife."

May 26, 1922 Hamilton News mentions, "Dean Aldrich and family were up from Waterloo for a Sunday visit with his parents, Dave Aldrich and wife."

She was 26 years of age and leaves the husband and two children the youngest being only four months of age. This babe has been cared for at the home of its grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Aldrich, northeast of town since the death of its mother. The funeral of Mrs. Aldrich was held from the Christian church in Angola Wednesday afternoon with burial in the Angola cemetery. (Sept. 29, 1986) Dear Mrs. Hanes, I want to thank you for sending me notices of the Hanes family reunion during these past years. However, now that my husband and I have retired to Asheville, N. C. and are both eighty-three years old, theres is little likelihood that I will ever get back to Indiana for a family reunion. I do not know whether my cousin Robert Altenburg of Angola, Ind. is still living. He and one other cousin have been the only remaining near relatives that I have had for some years. I have fond memories of visiting the Aldrich farm east of Hamilton and playing with Wilmette and I also loved visiting the Hanes farm between

Waterloo and Butler and for a number of years stopped to visit with Cousin Clara Hanes McCague when we came to Auburn in the summers. With best wishes, Lois Zimmerman Wilcox

295. Harry C.⁸ Altenburg (Eugene C.⁷, Henry Esidore⁶, Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born December 23, 1896 in Auburn, DeKalb County, IN, and died June 07, 1966 in Melbourne, FL. He married Edna Lochner 1924.

Notes for Harry C. Altenburg: From the LDS files. Sandy Varney P.O. Box 167 Worland, WY 82401. Another Source, The Casebeer Book says he was born in 1896. Not sure which is right yet.

He graduated in 1916. It says he was in A.A. all four years of high school. He was vice president of the High School club his Junior year and was president his senior year. They made a couple of references to falling asleep (as jokes) so I guess that is what he did once or twice or more in his classes. His quote was, "I am so weary and over-wrought with too much sleep." It also says under "Signs of the Times" that When you see Harry Altenburg wide awake it's a sign someone has said "Eats".

In the 1920 Auburn City, Union Twp., DeKalb County Census, it has E. C. Altenburg, age 47, Hattie age 46, Harry age 23, Robert age 19. Eugene is a travelling salesman, and does machine bookkeeping and so does Harry. It says Robert does machine bookkeeping and is a repairman. Sarah Casebeer, Hattie's mom, age 76, is living with them also.

He is living in Baltimore, Md. at the time of his mothers death, Jan. 8, 1954 (News Sentinel).

I just found out he had a sister born Nov. 1895. Maybe she died shortly thereafter. But this makes me believe he was born in 1896 plus the census age in 1920 goes more with 1896 than 1895. In the newspaper article of his death, June 14, 1966, it says he was born Dec. 23, 1896

In a newspaper clipping that Clara Hanes McCague had: dated Tuesday, June 14, 1966, "A FORMER AUBURN RESIDENT IS DEAD Harry C. Altenburg Died at the Age of 69 Years at Melbourne, Fla., from a Cerebral Hemorrhage A native and former resident of Auburn, Harry C. Altenburg of Melbourne Fla., died at Melbourne at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday. Mr. Altenberg died from a cerebral hemorrhage following an illness of several weeks. He was 69 years of age. He was born in Auburn on Dec. 23, 1896, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Altenburg. He had resided in Auburn until going to college and had resided at Melbourne for 15 years. He and Edna Lochner were married in Fort Wayne in 1924. He was a member of the Methodist Church. Surviving are the widow, a daughter living in Philadelphia, Pa., three grandchildren and a brother, Robert Altenburg of Rt. 1 Angola."

Child of Harry Altenburg and Edna Lochner is:

366 i. Female⁹ Altenburg.

Notes for Female Altenburg:

She is living in Philadelphia, Pa. at the time of her father's death in 1966.

301. Harriet⁸ Hanes (Cameron Reed⁷, Harriet (Hattie) Emeline⁶ Altenburg, Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born 1904, and died 1967. She married Walter Dickey.

Notes for Harriet Hanes: She is living in Chicago at the time of her fathers death. Information from Cameron obituary.

I am not sure if these are her death and birth dates. I think she is buried beside her parents at Butler cemetery but I am not sure.

She is living in Chicago at the time of her mother's death in 1967.

Notes for Walter Dickey:

I am guessing this is his name as he is in the 1926 family reunion notes.

Child of Harriet Hanes and Walter Dickey is:

367 i. Gloria Mae⁹ Dickey, born 1924.

Notes for Gloria Mae Dickey: She is in the group picture on page xv.

302. George Ward⁸ Heffelfinger (Sarah Evalena/Eralena/Evelyn⁷ Hanes, Harriet (Hattie) Emeline⁶ Altenburg, Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born October 03, 1890 in IL, and died Aft. 1960. He married (1) Maud Brownell April 20, 1912 in Chicago, Cook, IL. She was born Abt. 1887. He married (2) Marion Nyden June 01, 1937 in Cook Co, Chicago, IL.

Notes for George Ward Heffelfinger: Information from Bible records copied onto sheets of paper for family members.

According to his mother's obit (in 1960) it says he is living in Chicago, IL.

I am guessing that Hazel, Florence, Helen, and Grace are his daughters and Maud is his wife.

George is in the 1910 Census with his parents. Cook County, IL George is in the 1920 census with his wife Maud, and children Hazel, Florence, and Helen. It looks like it says he is a trucker in the 1910 census.

In the Aug 19, 1904, The Butler Record, "George and Howard Heffelfinger, of Chicago who have been spending the summer with their grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Hanes, returned home Thursday."

In a letter dated May 12, 1962 to Clara (Hanes) McCague from George. "Dear Aunt Clara Possibly I should not write just now as I am in such a melancholy mood and sure would like to sound more pleasant. But the mood is on me to write and if I don't I will possibly leave it for Marion to do, so here goes. We are a little fearful of your well-being and trust you are OK. as we have not heard from you since I sent you the Easter card and message except in a round about way. I had not been feeling to good the past month and the news of the passing away of Aunt Mette sure didn't help a bit. I am like a child at Xmas time - expectation is greater than re-alization and it was with high spirits that I received the plan of you and Florence would possibly drive up to pay me a visit. At the time I was greatly in need of company but of course after hearing what happened to Betty I soon understood why. The week you were to come I got a call from one of our lady friends, a marvelous beautiful woman who had found out through the lodge news of my ailment and she also promised to come in and see me which also sort of let me down as she never came. As I was saying I was feeling badly and getting worse, you visit, had nothing to do with this, by Friday that week I had to have Marion get the doctor for me. He came of a Saturday and tested me but what he found he never said, he never will tell patients. He gave me a shot, the tube looked like it held a quart, of course it didn't, but took quite a few minutes to get it all injected. This felt like an hour. Whatever it was has relieved and the heart pains are practically all gone. It has made it easier for me to cough as the flegm seems looser and not so difficult to release. This saves me from that awful distress of feeling so fatigued from coughing. I can breathe much better now. He was back yesterday and gave me another shot - some thing different - and wants me to get a neck and lung exray when I am able to travel again. Marion is only working part time so she can be with me and I am right now continuing your letter as I just answered the phone and it was her calling from work to see if I was OK. The both of us are busy trying to prepare for our 25th anniversary which will be June 1st - I hope I can make it. To-morrow is Mother's Day and I love sending you message. The only thing I can say with past memmories I do hope for you it will be a wonderful day and all your thought toward higher and happier hopes. As I write this letter I note that it is dad's birth-day all this make me sad and I hope Mother and He are happier in the next world. It is hard for me to write about Mother, words just escape me so I am just going to write you a poem which I hope will express my thoughts. I have just finished writing the poem on another page and forget who the authoress was. She expressed my sentiments better than I would have done because I am defeated on being even able to think at a time like this. "Rock me to Sleep" Backward, turn backward, O, time in your flight, Make me a child again just for to-night! Mother, come back from the echo-less shore, Take me again to your heart as of yore; Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care, Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair; Over my slumbers your loving watch keep; Rock me to sleep, Mother, rock me to sleep! Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue, Mother, O, Mother my heart calls for you! Many a summer the grass has grown green, Blossomed and faded, our faces between, Yet, with strong yearning and passionate pain, Long I to-night for your presence again, Come from the silence so long and so deep; Rock me to sleep, mother - Rock me to sleep! To-morrow we are going to have Sharon and her family with us at dinner. She did so want to entertain us on Mother's day but I am unable to go. We expect Florence and Jim in to-night. Their boy Jimmie Jr. has just went in the navy. I got a nice letter from him from the Great Lakes Training center - so far he likes it but it isn't what he thought it was supposed to be. I gave him encouragement and told him about Fredies advancement so high I am always proud to tell. The rain has stopped and it is a very nice day the temperature is getting warmer. To-morrow promised to be nice. So now I am going to sign off and go out and enjoy some sunshine which finally got through. All of our love to you and tell folks we are asking about them. Love George and Marion

June 4, 1962, "Dear Aunt Clara, It happened. What? Our 25th Anniv. Celebration. Where? In my home and there were 54 guest and did we have fun. Oh, Boy. Well here is an account. We had planned on using the backyard and the house so everybody could spread about. In the backyard we were going to have lights and wax sprinkled on the cement for dancing and have our speaker out there to play music. This plan had to be aborbed as it turned to cold so all the entertainment had to be done in the house. Rev. Rose McKay remarried us at 8:00 p.m. We selected him as our pastor had passed away - my son-in-law Jim was my best man as the best man had passed away. After we made our vows I made a declaration of my love I recited a piece I learned from one of our records it is a recording of a Wayne King orchestra with McCormick reciting a collector's item. It is in a slow waltz so that this is better illustrated I will write the words for you. It goes --Why do I love you--I love you not only for what you are--but what I am so when I am with you---I love you not only for what you made of your self--but what you are making of me---I love you for ignoring the possibility of the fool in me and taking firm hold of the possibility of the good in me. Why do I love you -- I love you for closing your eyes to the discords in me and for adding to the music in my by worshipful listening--I love you because you are helping me to make the lumber of my life not a tavern but a temple and the words of my every day not a reproach but a song -- I love you because you have done more than any creed to make my happy -- You have done it just being yourself without a word a touch or a sign you done it just by being yourself -- Perhaps that is what love is. It was well accepted by everyone and Jim had tears in his eyes as he borrowed my records and played it to Florence New Year's on their 25th anniversary. Among our guests Marion's sister and husband her brother John and wife and her dear aunt came all the way from the north side and my group I was honored with Don and Jean who were very congenial and my children Hazel and Bud - Florence and Jim - Helen and Bob - Grace and Larry - My grandchildren Roberta Caraline and her husband and Joan who has been so poorly in health could make it she is my 1st grandchild and mother of my 1st great grand child Sharon and Richard and Richard was one of our greatest helpers that night. Among the guests were Rev. Rese McKay who is also one of our lodge members. Her daughter Ann and Husb. Julia Swanson and husband and my friend John all of which are also members. My friend John gave us a check for $25 as a gift, the rest of the guests were all friends and neighbors. The food was served smorgasbord style and the drinks were in the kitchen. They all mixed together with having themselves a good time - record player with dance music and they danced i the dining room and kitchen. They enjoyed the whole evening and there were no discord at anytime even Don and Jean left their hair down. The party broke up at 3:00 a.m. There were a couple of Italian neighbor women that for 2 days helped Marion to do her shopping and fixing all food and help serve and later pick up dishes and debris. They were wonderful to us. My Italian friend got us all the ice we wanted for nothing. He is the one that made me a naturalized Italian citizen and Marion's friend established her to the merchants as her Italian cousin. So we are in. I felt very good on receiving a anniversary card from Bette and so happy she is better. I am going to be brief in describing each gift as we already had our sterling silver tableware they all tried to add other nice kind of pieces to it. Sharon bought us a nice punch bowl set that I thought was real cut glass and we served our punch in it that night. We received $175 in cash. Honest everything was so much more than I expected it surely was great. Don called on me about 3 weeks ago on a Saturday and brought me cut flowers from his garden. The post office failed to deliver me a peg on Saturday it came on Monday which was cut flowers from Harold's garden. The Doctor checked me Friday and put his OK on my condition for the party he said ply king and let everyone come to you. He also told Mario it would be safe for her to go back to work that I would be OK. In that night I did not look like any movie star but could look like a John Barrymore. Rev. Rose refused the envelop with her fee in it. She said she felt honored that she was asked and this was her first 25th anniversary she served. So Marion is going to her church next Sunday and drop the money in the collection. Well Aunt Clara I am going to close as I feel a bit tired now. Love George and Marion.

Exact birthdate from the LDS files on the internet.

On the internet it said his name was Howard Melvin. Not sure if this is correct, yet.

Howard W. Information from Regina Fallace. You can reach her at regina_fallace@hotmail.com She also had the birthdate as Aug 11, 1895. I am not sure yet which is correct. Will check the bible records. Guess death date was down as July 29, 1940 in Regina's records. I just had before Sarah's (his mom) obituary.

According to Fred Wagner, Howard had a Buick agency in San Jose, but was then retired. Fred Wagner visited him in San. Francisco in the 1960's at Mt. View. Information from Fred. I believe he meant Harold, but I am not sure.

305. Adolphus Samuel (Don)⁸ Heffelfinger (Sarah Evalena/Eralena/Evelyn⁷ Hanes, Harriet (Hattie) Emeline⁶ Altenburg, Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born January 19, 1905, and died February 26, 1990. He married Jenny Lind May 27, 1922 in Chicago, Cook, IL. She was born November 20, 1899, and died December 1980.

Notes for Adolphus Samuel (Don) Heffelfinger: Information from the 1920 census. (soundex) It said in the census that he was a mail carrier.

He was at the 1926 reunion according to the 1926 minutes.

In the 1932 register for the reunion he signed his name Adolphus Samuel Heffelfinger.

Information from 1990 family reunion notes. (About "Don's" death date) I put it as Adolphus's death date as they are probably the same person. I never found more than five boys at a time in a picture so they are more than likely only five boys (at least as far as I have found so far...maybe some died at infancy?)

According to his mother's obit., in 1960 he is living in Maywood, IL. (About "Don")

Regina Fallace regina_fallace@hotmail.com had Adolphus S. "Don" Heffelfinger instead of two different people. I put Don and Adolphus as I had come across them as sons of Sarah (until I heard differently.) I consider this hearing differently. It threw me too, that Florence Hardin (a niece) had said there were 7 sons but then again she was almost 99. She did a great job but sometimes did get confused on certain days. She passed on this year. I still also don't get where the got Donald out of Adolphus S. (Don). Usually they don't make the nickname into a formal name. Any explanations, anybody?

Birth information that I had was abt. 1899. Regina had Jan. 19, 1905. She also had in her notes that Adolphus fell down an elevator shaft and survived the fall.

Thursday April 20-26, 1984, letter from Don Heffelfinger to prob. Florence.

Ice cream and cake was served and a good time was had by the little folks."

In the April 4, 1913, The Butler Record, "Carl and Florence Wagner of Goshen made an over Sunday visit with their grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Hanes, west of town."

July 10, 1914, The Butler Record, "Miss Florence and Master Carl Wagner of Goshen returned to their home Monday evening after spending three weeks as the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Hanes and family of near Butler."

In "The Truth" Feb. 6, 2000 (an Elkhart paper), it has an article about Florence. "NURSING A FULL LIFE FLORENCE HAS CARED FOR AREA RESIDENTS, INJURED WAR SOLDIERS Florence E. Wagner was one of 12 in the 1919 graduation class at Goshen High School. That was the old high school building on Fifth Street, now the Municipal Building Annex. Her name is Florence Hardin now and has been since 1942. She hasn't lived much in Goshen since the 1940's, during the war, but she still speaks of it as home. Her home, since 1962, has been in the house her stepfather built on U.S. 20 at the west edge of LaGrange, right next to his filling station. That's how some members of an endangered species, for LaGrange County, got there. Democrats. "Be careful, they're awful touchy about that here," said Hardin, who at 98 might be the oldest Democrat in the county. Her stepfather, Walter Atwater, used to run the state highway garage in Goshen and eventually ended up in LaGrange County, where he became Clay Township's trustee. In later years Florence's husband, Virgil, served as LaGrange County Democrat chairman. Florence Hardin's is the story of a lifelong nurse who cared for people almost all her life, even long after she quit "working" as a nurse. After graduating from high school Florence went to Goshen College. In fact, she said, all the members of her high school graduating class took some courses at the college. "Tuition was $10 a semester," she said, "but I'll tell you, it was just as hard to get $10 then as it is to get a thousand dollars today." She went on to Evanston, Ill., by train, and studied nursing at St. Francis Hospital, getting her R.N. degree in 1926. Her first job as a registered nurse at Beth Israel Hospital in Denver, Colo. Florence joined the Army and was an Army nurse at Fort Knox, Ky., when she met Virgil, who was from southern Indiana, in 1942. They were married that year. She was 41. Army rules prohibited married women in the service, so Florence returned to Goshen while her husband spent the next three years in the European Theater of World War II. "He wrote me a letter every day and I wrote him a letter every day," said Florence, who was then worked as a private duty nurse. The woman she cared for needed much attention. "I had a 20-hour day, with four hours off in the afternoon," she said. Because she and Virgil both married late in life, they decided they were going to adopt. After the war she joined her husband in Germany, where he was part of the occupation force for three years, and there they arranged to adopt a 3-year-old boy. Their son, whom they named John Thomas Hardin, went to Purdue University, became an officer in the U.S. Navy, served aboard the first nuclear submarine to sail under the polar ice cap, and now is a lawyer outside Little Rock, Ark. He's also the father of her two grandsons, Matt, 14, and Jake 11. Virgil, who had joined the Army as a private during the depression, stayed in the Army for 25 years and eventually earned a commission. Florence went to her one-and-only function for officers and their wives when the wife of an "academy" man referred to her up-from-the-ranks husband as "one of those." Virgil had a number of assignments after the war and Florence's favorite was Culver; where Virgil worked with the military school's famed Black Horse Troop and taught mechanics. They were in Okinawa when Virgil was discharged in 1962; in March of that year Florence's mother, Wilmetta Atwater, a well-know seamstress in Goshen, died at her home there. Walter Atwater had died in 1956. Wilmetta continued living in the house in Goshen and also kept the house in LaGrange, where the Hardin's settled after Virgil's discharge. Virgil went into real estate (Grogg-Hardin Realty) and Florence took it upon herself to look after people who were ailing or in nursing homes. One woman she cared for in Goshen was the niece of a woman she had cared for earlier. Florence arranged for the niece to be transferred to a nursing home in LaGrange so she could stop by daily. Virgil died in 1996, four years after the Hardins celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Florence's eyes aren't so good and she uses a walker to get around. Her niece, Betty Geyer of Bristol, checks in regularly and then there's Jim Hart. He delivers her newspaper every day, keeps her supplied in soft drinks and usually stays for a visit before continuing his rounds. "My newspaperman's a saint," says Hardin. There are those who she cared for over the years who would have said the same of her even though she is a Democrat."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Atwater of 313 East Washington street, announce the marriage of their daughter Miss Florence Wagner R. N. a 2nd lieutenant in the U. S. Army, to Master Sergeant Virgil L. Hardin, son of Willard Hardin of Princeton, Ind. The ceremony took place at Ft. Knox, Ky. Where both the groom and his bride were stationed, on March twenty-seventh. The service was read by Chaplain Macijewski in the post chapel. Master Sergeant Hardin, who is with the 1st armored division has been transferred to For Dix, N. J. Mrs. Hardin will join him there later before he leaves for foreign duty. She will then return to her post at Fort Knox." This information from the scrapbook of Clara Hanes McCague and family. Florence had this scrapbook for many years.

In the Wed. June 21, 2000 Lagrange Standard, "FLORENCE HARDIN Florence E. Hardin, 98, LaGrange, died Saturday, June 17, 2000 at Vencor Hospital. She was born October 9, 1901, in Lima, Ohio to Milton and Wilmetta (Haines) Wagner. She was a 1919 graduate of Goshen High School and attended Goshen College. She graduated from St. Frances Hospital, Evanston, Ill. as an R.N. In 1941, she joined the army, serving as Second Lieutenant. She was a member of the Clay Township Extension Homemakers, serving as president for two terms. She also worked for the LaGrange County Civil Defense for 10 years. She was married on March 27, 1942 to Virgil L. Hardin. He preceded her in death. She is survived by one son, Tom Hardin, Conway, Ark.; two grandchildren, Matthew and Jake Hardin, Conway; and several nieces and nephews. 316. Carl Clinton⁸ Wagner (Laura Wilmetta⁷ Hanes, Harriet (Hattie) Emeline⁶ Altenburg, Daniel A.⁵, William⁴, Wilhelm Aden³, Georg Heinrich², Johann Herman¹) was born October 12, 1903 in Ada, OH, and died June 06, 1950. He married Mary Miller August 28, 1925. She was born September 28, 1904 in Middlebury, IN.

Notes for Carl Clinton Wagner: Information from Peg Crouch.

The family reunion gavel was made by Carl Wagner. In the minutes of 1928 it says, "The business meeting was called. The first, upon calling to order was the presentation by Wilmetta Wagner of a gavel, to the organization. The gavel was made more precious because it was the work done by Carl Wagner, and we all know how Mother (talking about Mrs. George William (Harriet) Hanes) did cherish anything made by her wonderful grandchildren."

July 10, 1914, The Butler Record, "Miss Florence and Master Carl Wagner of Goshen returned to their home Monday evening after spending three weeks as the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Hanes and family of near Butler."

In a clipping from Betty Geyer (given Nov. 1999), it has a picture of Carl. "ELECTROCUTED Carl C. Wagner, above, Goshen electrician, was fatally shocked at South Bend yesterday while working with a crew of linemen. Mr. Wagner, the father of six children, is a former employee of the City Light and Water Works and the Goshen office of the Indiana Associated Telephone Corp."

I am not sure if it is Mary or Carl that died in 1950. A sheet in Betty Geyer's information she sent me said that Carl did. The booklet was a little confusing to which one it was. Will ask later.

In his obituary in the Elkhart Truth, Wednesday, June 7, 1950 it says, "SHOCK FATAL TO GOSHEN MAN Goshen: Carl Clinton Wagner, 46 of Goshen, an electrician employed by the Clifton engineering Co. of Three Rivers, Mich., was fatally shocked Tuesday afternoon when he came in contact with a cable touching a 33,000 volt power line in South Bend. Wagner was one of a crew setting utility poles. The line that caused his death was a transmission wire between the Colfax avenue and South Bend stations of the Indiana and Michigan Electric Co. A pole tilted as the crew was setting it, and touched the power line. The men stepped back when they felt the tingle of the slight current transmitted thought the pole by the chemical preservative with which it had been treated. Freezes to Cable. When Wagner stepped back he grasped a steel cable that had come in contact with the live wire. His fellow workmen saw him stiffen, then relax, "frozen" to the cable. Edward Poole of Mishawaka, a crewman, extricated Wagner with a grappling hook within 40 seconds, and he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, South Bend. There oxygen was administered in vain. Dr. T. C. Geracrewsk, St. Joseph county coroner, said death was instantaneous. Wagner was a veteran of Worl War II and a member of the Goshen American Legion and the Reformed church. BORN IN OHIO He was born Oct. 12, 1903 in Ada, Ohio, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton W. Wagner. He married the former Mary Miller in 1925. This is a poem she wrote that was published in something (it was torn out of something and Clara McCague had it)

THE LAND WHERE LOST THINGS GO

There's a long shady land
And a sad, drowsy moon,
That sighs in a way that we know
It is sad for the things
That our losing brings
To the land where lost things go.

They travel the long land
Of careless neglect
Where the "I-forget" flowers grow,
Till they come to the nest
Where our treasures rest,
In the land where lost things go.

There are great golden hours
And minutes, so rare,
And mem'ries of lost friends, you know:
But they never come back
When they've taken the track,
To the land where lost things go.

They turn into fairies
With hearts full of fun,
And on mischief they thrive and grow:
For they know they are free
And they laugh in high glee,
In the land where lost things go.

Notes for Harvey Wells: Harvey lived in Kentucky and then moved to Dayton, Ohio. He sang songs on a Country Western station when he was younger. He lived in Butler and worked as a grocery clerk for a while. He was Police Chief of Waterloo, IN until 1971, when he died.

Harvey and Vera visited KY with Jr. Helton when he was a child. Jr. said they were married about 12 years. Referring to Vera Helton, Harveys 1st wife.

In a newspaper article it says "Harvey Wells of Butler Center says wife admitted infidelity and told him of plans to wed another man." A Butler Center grocery clerk Harvey Wells, who had trouble keeping his wife at home, filed suit for divorce Wednesday in the DeKalb circuit court. Three separation in three years was too much for the grocery clerk, who said his wife left him May 5 to live in Dayton, Ohio. According to the plaintiff, his wife first left him in March of 1946. She returned home early in April of the same year, then left again May 6. This time she stayed away several months, returning Christmas day of 1947. She stayed home until their last separation. In his complaint, filed through H. S. Grimm of Auburn, he alleged that his wife openly admitted her infidelity and frequent associations with other men. She told him, he claimed, that she was anxious to marry another. The couple had one child, a 4 year old daughter, who is now in the custody of her father. He seeks permanent custody of the little girl. The couple were married June 24, 1945." Refers to Helen May Helton, 2nd wife.

The closest town to where he grew up was Mt. Sterling, KY. He moved to Indiana, from Dayton, OH about 1941

On his delayed birth certificate, it says under additional information, "record - Menifee Co. - Myer's Fork School Dist.

Harvey sang on the Sunny Tennessee Radio Station.

There was a picture of the police lined up in respect at his funeral. Below it it said, "HONOR

He escaped injury except for what was done to his arm and that was not broken so that it was something of a lucky fall after all. Nov. 9, 1917, Butler Record, Friday, "Born on Nov. 3, to Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kiess, twin girls. Mrs. Keiss will be better known as Mary Aldrich, the music teacher."

In a letter written to Clara McCague: Wed. 4:12 p.m. May 19, 1964 Dear Clara- I haven't forgot what you said about not getting our Christmas card this year. I was most surprised. It must have gotten stuck in the mail somewhere along the way. I know I sent you one, as I thought you'd like to get one. It was so good to see you last Sun. I was so glad I went. My mother was alone, so I wanted to be with her, and see so many of my dear relatives and friends. I got a spiritual and physical uplift. I came home with Uncle Noah and Aunt Olive Rockey, so Mother didn't have to bring me back. I thought that was nice of them. I enjoyed it. Aunt Cora was with us also. I thought of the time when my twin was there at that funeral home, when I was there Sun. Once in awhile I still dream we are singing or doing something together, as we used to do, however I know that we must wait a little longer until we can again do so. I'm looking forward to that "reunion" the minister spoke of. Since Ruth's husband works at Portage (near Chi.) and doesn't get home only on weekends, I often go over and stay overnite with her. Mother does often, too. She (Ruth) is giving two of my girls piano lessons, which is a real break for the, because she is TOPS in the music world. She is constantly composing choir numbers. I'm not far behind - only a year and a half! Today is Bill's birthday. He is 48. I must get a little angel food cake frosted for him for supper. We always have cake and icecream for birthday celebrations around this big family. One comes often. This month is loaded! With 4 of our family to make their debut into this world in May. It is a good choice, I think. In fact it's my favorite month of the year, when nature springs forth. It looks like rain now, and is rather warm! I was glad for a nice day for Aunt Mary's (she is referring to Mary Shaefer Aldrich, wife of Fred) funeral. Maybe I shouldn't mention this fact, but I made the white wool dress I had on, from what was left of a skirt and jacket we made for Carolyn. In case you couldn't find an article of Carolyn in last Sun. "Journal", I'm sending you one. I wouldn't want you to miss it. Maybe you'll want to save it along with this Christmas card. I will send you a Christmas card this year again, and if you don't get one, will you please let my mother know, and she can tell me. I guess you knew I tint and paint pictures for photographers, but right now there is a lull so I've been glad to utilize my time washing walls and the outside of a house ahead of Bill to paint. So we truly have been busy. A little extra sleep would be beneficial to me to help get rid of this little sore throat which I seem to hold on for dear life. My voice has been tempermental-- going and coming when it pleases for the last few days. I can never tell if anything is coming out when I open my mouth, with hoarseness. I'm healthy, tho, for which I'm thankful, tho not robust. Bill has been teaching class to volunteers at the Telephone Co. where he works. He volunteered after he took that course in electronic communications. It is fascinating, and very complicated. My mother just called me from over at Ruth's. She occasionally comes down to help Ruth, besides all those trips down to the new little church "Epworth Methodist" for which she plays the organ. She enjoys that so much. Well, I guess this covers all this time, of interest. Will you please give "my love" to all your family. It was such a pleasure to see you last Sun. Much love, Ilene My brother, Raymond, just invented a little instrument - a simple electronic one, which tests blood counts, simply, quickly, and cheaply, which is going into production this month. We are excited about it. His pictures and write-up will be in Indianapolis paper anytime about it. Perhaps my mother can tell you more about it."

The ceremony was preceded by vocal numbers by Miss Eudora Lindman, of Ottumwa, Iowa, a college friend of the bride, who sang "Until" and "Because." She was accompanied at the organ by Miss Mary K. Orwig of Valparaiso, organist for the occasion. During the playing of the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, Rev. N. E. Smith proceeded to the front of the chancel. He was followed by the groom and his best man, Prof. Leeland S. Ax, of Tri-State College. From the north aisle of the church, the maid of honor, Miss Helen Harbour, of Greenfield, Iowa, approached the chancel. She was followed by the bride, who was beautifully attired in a full length gown of white organza and wore a finger tip veil. She carried a bouquet of Sunburst roses, delphinium and baby's breath. The bride's mother wore a gown of rose pink lace, and her hat and accessories were white. The double ring ceremony was read impressively by Rev. Smith, while the organist played "I Love You Truly." After the ceremony, to the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March, the bride and groom retired to the church vestibule where they received the felicitations of their many friends. William Doughty of Fort Wayne, and Corby Pratt, of New York City, brothers-in-law of the bride, were the ushers. The chancel of the church was beautifully decorated with garden flowers in baskets and vases. The pulpit was flanked on either side by seven-branched candelabra. Following the ceremony, a delightful informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Instrumental music was furnished by a trio composed of Miss Glenna Mae Golden, Miss Gloria Aldrich and Miss Ruth Shoup. Miss Wava Rose Williams and Miss Miriam Shoup served. Mr. and Mrs. Artman left in the evening on a short honeymoon trip and will leave next week for their new home in Sharon, Pa., where Mr. Artman is employed with the Westinghouse Electric Co. The bride is a graduate of the Angola high school and among other talents has been active in music and with her sisters formed an excellent vocal trio for several years prior to the marriage of the sisters. She has just completed her junior year work in Cornell College at Mt. Vernon, Ia., and will complete her college course. The maid of honor and vocalist for the wedding have been singing with her in a college trio. She has a wide circle of friends among the younger set in Angola. The groom was graduated from Tri-State College in electrical engineering last year and has made many friends during his school life in Angola. Out-of-town guests at the wedding included the groom's father and sister, R. V. Artman, and Mrs. Williah White and Miss Frieda Davey, all of Sharon, Pa., Jean McNeilly, of Des Moines, Iowa, and Esther Jones, of Kewanee, Ill., Dr. and Mrs. Harry Aldrich of Fort Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pratt of Binghamton, N. In the Jan. 7, 1927 "Hamilton News", it has a little article that says, "Miss Bessie Hanes of Connersville, held a toboggan party at Island Park on Friday, Dec. 31st in favor of some of her Hamilton friends, after which a warm lunch was served. Those present were: Donald Gnagy, Stanley Heath, Hugh Enfield, Ronald Hoffman, Elizabeth Wells, Eula McCool, Helen Oberlin, and Bessie Hanes. A very good time was reported."

May 31, 1929, Hamilton News, "Mr. and Mrs. C. B. In her father's obituary it mentions her married name and that she is living at Harford City. (May 26, 1941).

In her mom's obituary it says she is living in Gaston, IN (1954).

There is prob. a picture of her on page vi and she is on pages ix and x.

Notes for Cleo Collins:

His name was mentioned in Betty's mother's obituary.

Notes for Gary Collins: This is a guess that Gary and Karen are children of Betty and Cleo's. They are listed together in the 1941 family reunion guest list.

460 ii. Karen Collins.

Notes for Karen Collins: This is a guess that is where she belongs. She is listed with Betty and Cleo with the 1941 family reunion notes.

Oct. 20, 1922, "Hamilton News", "The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hanes, living at the Island, fell off of some boats last Friday and fractured his arm." This was prob. Charles that broke his arm this time.

Hamilton News, Sept. 11, 1936, it says, "YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED IN CHURCH WEDDING "Robert Hanes and M. Onalee Klinkle were united in marriage in a quiet service at the local M. "Brother Robert Hanes showed his movies dating back as far as 35 years ago. Many old landmarks have long gone such as the flag pole, the old mill, and the old wooden bridge to Island Park. The movies also showed how ice was cut years ago on Hamilton Lake, the old Vella Mae boat, the shoreline of Oakwood when only a log cabin was there. Edgewater with only the Brown cottage, Lavon Smith as a young boy on his tricycle, Mose Wolff, how the main street of Hamilton looked and the style of the old cars, driving on the wrong side of the street, and many other interesting views."

Notes for George William Gardner: It was recorded in the minutes that they had a boy. No date, no name.

In a family newsletter that Florence Hardin had, " George is still Director of Maintenance for St. Joan of Arc Church and school. It is a natural job for him, requiring a lot of inventiveness, efficiency, mechanical ability, capability of planning and researching projects and best of all, its just two blocks down the street. There are five buildings, all were in a bad state of repair when he started 4 plus years ago and are beginning to shape up, but as we all know, today's economy is frustrating - never enough to go around. We are at present fighting a running battle with the local hierarchy - but thats a long story - just say a prayer for justice. As most of you know, George had bladder cancer 3 1/2 years ago and 3 recurances since. He has checkups every 3 months and PRAISE THE LORD had his fourth good checkup in a row in November! After chemotherapy (which didn't work) we switched doctors and began using nutritional therapy - that means lots and lots of food supplements daily - and this method, along with the prayers of many, many people is proving to be a very effective treatment! George is stil refinishing furniture - our house is bursting at the seams! He has a garden in the summer (and half the winter) and cuts wood for people all year round so we can have an almost perpetual fire from first frost to late spring. Most of the heat in our house is from a special device he has made for the fireplace and solar heat when the sun shines.

Notes for Rose Anna Meyer: In a family newsletter from the Gardner family that Florence Hardin had, " Rose is still school secretary at St. Joan of Arc School, a job I enjoy for many reasons. It nice working in the same place as Geore - and my boss, the Principal in fantastic to work for and with. I do all the school book keeping for the non-parish families and am responsible for collecting tuition from them; that's roughly 100 families. My official hours are from 0800 to 3 - in reality, I work 07:30 to 4:30 because there just aren't enough hours to get finished. At home, I stil do some weaving, quilting, and sewing, but never as much as I'd like to do. Sometimes I wish I could hat my job then I'd have an excuse to quit and stay home - that's something that really appeals to me. I'm also trying to learn to play the guitar - have wanted to for years - it's a very slow process! We think more and more of going back to Wisconsin - each time we take a vacation up there, we look for opportunities. This last summer we spent a week on Washington Island off the northern point of Door County and loved it there. We have a small camping trailer which makes camping quite comfortable and traveling a lot more economical. Whenever we can, George and I take off for whatever time is available for another honeymoon - trouble is, it's never enough time!"

- 529 iv. Jeanne Claire Gardner, born November 23, 1956. She married David Bruce Miller; born September 11, 1955.

Notes for Jeanne Claire Gardner: Information from chart that Betty Geyer gave me Nov. 1999. She said she got the report from Laura Dietz N6721 Ridge Rd., Glenberllah, WI 53023.

In a family newsletter from the Gardner family (Christmas 1982) that Florence Hardin had, " Jean David Miller Live part of the time at 3702 Hyannis Port Drive #1B, Indianapolis 46224. After about a year here in Indy, David has been transferred back to Muskegon, Michigan where he manages the Midstate Airline flight operations in Flint and Muskegon. He is a Midstate pilot also, so at least is able to commute fairly often or Jeanne flies up there for the weekend. Jeanne spent April thru July in Oklahoma City, OK, attending the FAA Air Traffic Control Academy. After passing that she is completing her training at the Indianapolis Enroute Center."

In the Friday, Oct. 1, 1982 Evening Star, "FORMER FAIR QUEEN IS PARADE MARSHAL If past experience is any guide, look for the new Miss DeKalb County Fair on your TV screen in a few years. That's what happened to Susan Griffith, another Hamilton girl who was the fair queen in 1978. Now she's the host of WANE-TV's new "Afternoon" show from 4:30-5:30 p.m. weekdays. Susan will make a triumphant return to the fair on Saturday as grand marshal of the grand parade. She will share the honor with her TV co-host, Lee Kelso, 25, a Muncie native. Miss Griffith only 20 years old, was chosen for the new, live show from a field of about 30 women. She did TV commercial work in Cincinnati and for KISS Radio prior to landing the new position, as well as modeling in the area. Thursday night she showed that she can step down from her new pedestal, when she helped this year's fair queen candidates behind the scenes, with dress, hairstyles, and make-up. She credits the 1978 queen contest as a big step in starting her career. "It's kind of neat getting to come back," she said of Saturday's parade. She has a big fan club in the Hamilton area, and they're certain to be lining the parade route. Kelso, who's worked in Fort Wayne since 1978 for radio stations WMEE and WQHK, also was featured on Channel 15's "PM Magazine." Kelso said the new TV program is one both he and Miss Griffith find challenging because of its everchanging format. "We can react instantly to whatever happens," he said, adding that because the show is company-owned, there is "total control" locally. He and Miss Griffith are looking forward to the Oct. 15 show, he said, because it will be aired live via satellite from Orlando, Fla., where Miss Griffith will be stationed for the show. In addition, the two will be selecting women from the streets of Fort Wayne during the week of Oct. 11 to receive free beauty make overs. The selection will be at random and it's an idea the two young celebrities think will garner them an enthusiastic audience. Miss Griffith and Kelso attended Auburn's A-C-D Festival this year and produced two features on activities which were aired. Of their style and new show, Kelso said, "We're trying not to be video DJs," explaining that live news and features will be their emphasis on the show."

law of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Pat Fee of Hamilton, Miss Susan Yarlot of Waterloo and Miss Mary Babette and Susan Griffith, nieces of the bride, attended as flower girls. The attendants and flower girls were attired in empire sheath gowns of sea spray Irish lace and silk chiffon, featuring oval necklines, elbow-length sleeves with a ruffle, and bow topped back panels. Matching rose headpieces and colonial bouquet for the matron of honor, completed their ensembles. Alan Koldeway of Harlan was Bestman. Joe attends a Theological College - will be there about two more years. Then he hopes to go back into the Navy as a chaplain. Fortunately he has a very understanding and patient wife who goes a long way toward making all this possible. Kathy works now that the girls are both in school. Joanna, 8 years old, is a beautiful little girl. She has cerebral palsy which makes life a bit more difficult for Joanna and her family, but she is equal to the challenge and continues to attain the goals that are so much easier for the rest of us. She handles her crutches with expertise and is learning to read and write. Jessica is a vivacious 6 year old, in first grade and reading at third grade level. She sings with her Sunday School class and also shares her special little songs with us. She is learning to sew - maybe she can help old granny finish the log cabin quilt that I've been working on for 6 years for her!"

Notes for Hugh Mosher:

This story was on the internet. This was prob. from Robert Altenburg.

"So far the most reliable information I have seen comes from "Descendants of High Mosher and Rebeca Maxson through Seven Generations," Revised Edition (1990) by Mildred Chamberlain and Laura Clarenbach. The following is a quote from that book as sent to me by Sam Behling.

The contradictory stories (about Hugh Mosher) began to appar shortley after a notice was placed in the Albany "Advertiser" late in March 1836, and, so it is said, in papers in Washington and Quebec, to the effect that there was in England an unclaimed Mosher estate amounting to $32,000,999 million, " which several days later were said to be in pounds. The first item had said that a search was being made for heirs of Hugh, John, and Daniel Mosher in this county. A scramble ensued. People offered their services as agents, for a sum, about every twenty years for the next century, coventions were held, agents appointed, and final reports issued. Only the agents gained from the "Phantom fortune." Finally, in 1982, the late Ira K. Haywood and his wife Constance Burgess (Mosher) employed a competent researcher in England to look into the records in Cucklington, Somersetshire, from where Charles Edward Banks said in his Biographical Dictionary of the English Immigrants to New England 1620-50, that Hugh Mosier of Cucklington, Somersetshire, had sailed on the James and lived in Portland, Main and Newport and Portsmouth, Rhode Island (confusing him with a later Hugh Mosher of this book.)

In the Presidents, Soldiers, and Statesmen book located at the Eckhart Public Library, "JOSEPH D. WILLIAMSON Was born in Armstrong county, Pa., Feb. 21, 1844, a son of John and Frances Williamson, both deceased. He was married April 12, 1872, in Pittsburg, Pa., to Jemima B. Gourley, born in 1846 in Pa., a daughter of ~~Samuel and~~ Sarah Gourley who are both deceased. Their children are Frances E., Sarah J., Bertha, James, Margaret, Joseph D., Laddy, Harvy, Nellie, Samuel, John T., and George. Mrs. Williamson was farming in his native county when at the age of 17, he enlisted at Apollo, Pa., April 17, 1861, as a private in Co. G., 11th Regt., P. R. C. 2d Brig., 3rd Div., 1st Corps; he was slightly wounded twice; he re-enlisted at Bristoe Station Dec. 31, 1863, and served with his regiment until May 30, 1864, when he with all the Veterans of his Regt. were musted as Co. C., 190th Pa. V. I.; he served as color Bearer of the 11th from May 5 until the Regt. was mustered out May 30, 1864; he was in the 7 days battles on the Peninsula under Geo. B. McClellan, 2d Bull's Run, South Mt., Antietam, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Wilderness Spottsylvania C. H., Laurel Hill, Petersburg, Weldon R. R., in which battle he was captured and held as a prisoner of war until Feb. 14, 1865, when he was paroled and honorably discharged at Pittsburg, Pa., June 16, 1865. He had two brothers in the service Alvin and Benjamin; Alvin was captured at Spottsylvania C. H., May 30, 1864, and taken to Andersonville where he was held 16 months, then to Florence where he died. Benjamin was killed at the battle of Lookout Mt. Mrs. Wiliamson had one brother in the service. Our comrade served three years in the Regular Army after the War and was honorably discharged. He is an engineer and his address is Auburn, DeKalb Co., IN.

In the April 27, 1905, Auburn Paper, Thursday, "An Unusual Record There resides near Auburn probably the only man at present living in the State of Indiana, except Colonel Darwin who wears both the badge of the Grand Army of the Republic and the bronze maltese Cross of the Maltese Cross of the United Spanish War Veterans, Joseph D. Williamson Sr. enlisted in the 11th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry on April 27th, 1861, for service in the Union Army and served as Color Bearer of his regiment most of the time, being engaged in some of the greatest battles of the Civil War, including the Seven Days Fight on the Peninsula, the second battle of Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietam, Gettysburg, Fredericksbur, and the battle of the Wilderness. He engaged in destroying the Weldon Railroad on August 19th, 1864, he was captured and was confined in Libby Prison at Belle Island, Salisbury, and Goldsborough. He was mustered out of the service on June 27th, 1865, and on June 30th, 1866 enlisted in the Regular Cavalry for service in the Indian War in Arizona and New Mexico. When finally mustered out, he had served his country 7 years, 2 months, and 10 days. When the State Troops were ordered to Hammond in 1894, to assist in supressing the great railroad strike, Williamson begged to be permitted to go with Company K, of this city, and did go and served with the company until they were ordered home. When the bugle called "To Arms" at midnight (strikers have captured a train), Williamson seized a refile, although not a member of the company, "fell in" the ranks and served as a soldier during the remainder of the night. When the war with Spain began, Williamson could not resist the desire to again serve his country and begged again to be allowed to accompany the troops in any capacity. Although barred by reason of age, from enlisting, he was permitted to go with Company K, of this city and served as cook during the time in which the regiments were being recruited and mustered into the United States service in Indianapolis. He accompanied the 157th Indiana Volunteer Infantry to Chickmauga, Ga., where he continued to serve as cook for Company K, serving well cooked food to the men when they need it the most, when they were changing from the home life to the camp life, until sickness rendered him unable to work longer and compelled him to return to Indiana. He brought with him a recommendation from Major Kuhlman to the Governor of Indiana that he was authorized to raise a company of Volunteers and that he be commissioned as Captain. However, this section of Indiana had already furnished more than its hare of the first five regiments and the Governor could not well accept another company, so Mr. Williamson was not permitted furth service during the Spanish War. Major Kuhlman has recently rendered a statement of the services of Comrade Williamson to the Commander-in-Chief of the United Spanish War Veterans and authority was granted to elect him as an Honorary Member of the order and he was musted as a member of the Kuhlman Camp, No. 14 on Wednesday evening and now wears the bronze emblem of the United Spanish War Veterans, a privilege enjoyed by but few Civil War Veterans. The military record of Mr. Williamson is distinguished, as he has in reality served in three wars beside the "strike" in 1894."

1908 Auburn Paper, "THE PANHANDLE PIONEER Court Bailiff Williamson, Talks Interestingly of the Days of '66 in Texas. At this time when so much is being written about the wonderful Panhandle country in western Texas and enterprising real estate agents are exploiting the great opportunities presented in this heretofore strange land. Joseph Williamson, the faithful baliff of the DeKalb circuit court, a warrior of many battles and with probably as long a service to his credit in the various wars in this country as any man in this part of the state, tells the following interesting story of the frontier life of the Panhandle country. This is the section of the country that in those days was known as the staked plains and it is only within recent years that settlers have been emigrating to that part of the southwest, and fabulous stories are told of the great wealth of the country which was then considered worthless. Mrs. Williamson crossed the Panhandle country in 1866 -- at the time when he was in the service of his country, defending the frontier posts and the few scattered settlements against the invasions of the Kiowas and Comanche Indians. The army was moving to the southwest from Ft. Smith, Ark., with a train of eight-two wagons. Their journey was for the most part uneventful except that they were often hindered in their progress by the large herds of buffaloes that were feeding on the grasses of the plains along the Canadian river. One day while they were traveling along about fifty miles, south of where the city of Amarillo is now located, Mr. Williamson was in the advance of the wagons about three miles and accompanying him were the scouts and a band of negroes under guard for different crimes. These negroes were obliged to do the work, such as building the bridges and caring for the horses. In the advance Mr. Williamson observed something flying in the wind and riding out on his pony he found on a small dry pole, held in place by rocks placed around the post, a woman's scalp -- the black hair waving in the air. The scalp was stretched across the hoop of a small keg and while it had probably been erected there by some fiendish Indians, it represented to Mr. Williamson and his companions the marking place of a tragedy, the story of which was probably never told. They journeyed down the river a few hundred rods and in the rank grass near the brink of the water, they came upon an old settler's wagon, the bed of which was in pieces and rotten and the tires hanging loose on the fellows. Searching around the wreck, one of the men found a three gallon demijohn and it was suggested that they shake it as there might be something in it. On examination they found that there were three pints of whiskey still left in the rotten keg. The keg was so decayed that they had no difficulty whatever in picking it too pieces. However, they contents were poured out into a quart cup and a pint measure and this was passed around to the men and out of the eleven in the crowd about two-thirds of them drank of the liquor and in a remarkable short time two-thirds of the crowd were "pretty mellow," Mr. Williamson says that it was originally common whiskey but lying n the sun there for a great number of years it had become so concentrated that it was highly intoxicating. A short ways down the river they found, bleaching under southern skies, five skulls and other bones of human beings. Two of the skeletons were those of adults and the other three were those of children. Here was the story of frontier life. These emigrants, evidently a father, mother, and three children, were crossing the plains in a wagon and had probably camped near the water, for the night; when they were surprised and taken by the Indians. Their household goods and their horses were probably taken away with them while the helpless children and the father and mother were cruelly murdered by the Comanches. Mr. Williamson in his interesting way relates this further experience with the Indians of that region. "One day I had wandered off from my companions and swam my horse across a river and as the grass grew luxuriously, I dismounted and threw myself down under the shade of one of the trees, so plentiful along the banks of the river, and allowed my horse to crop the rich grass at will. Presently I was lost in a reverie and my mind was rehearsing some scenes I had left behind me in my home and civilization -- I was awakened by the sound of horse's feet; I quickly sprang to my feet and secured my horse, when presently an Indian came to view and stopped a few yards from me. He was well mounted and fairly armed but at once saw that he was not hostile, as he took no more notice of me than if I was a rock. After he had waited some time another Indian joined him and they greeted each other in grunts. After waiting a half hour another Indian put in an appearance, dragging a dried cow hide by a lariat which was attached to her saddle, coming to the two waiting Indians. The last to arrive sprang to the ground, and I saw by the dress this one was a squaw. She commenced trying to double up the hide so as to place it behind the saddle of one of the Indians who had first arrived but the hide was dry and hard and would not remain doubled. After watching her for some time I walked over to her and when she doubled the hide I jumped onto it with my heavy boots and broke it down flat, then helped her fold the other side in like manner and stood on it until she tied it with strips of buckskin which she produced from her dress. all the time we were at work she was chatting and laughing and as I could not understand one word I kept saying 'Yes,' 'Yes,' and 'No,' 'No.' I then helped her lift the hide up behind on of the 'buck's' horses and tie it to his saddle. Not one of them looked around or seemed to see the woman or me but sat as stiff as thought they had grown in their saddles. After tying the hide securely she uttered a grunt or two and the 'bucks' moved off never looking around. The squaw turned to me and commenced chatting but I was without understanding, then she made a motion to a very pretty braided satchel that she had taken from her saddle and pointed to my hat, a large army hat. 'Devil take her,' I thought, 'she wants to trade for my hat. I commenced shaking my head and repeating 'No,' 'No,' which seemed to tickle her. Finally she stepped up to me and lifted my hat off my head and set it on the ground and then upturned her satchel and poured it full of plums until they spilled over the rim. She then mounted her horse and returned the way she had come. These plums were of the wild goose variety and I afterwards found them growing plentiful in small thickets and on the plains. They were of a dwarf kind. The query to me afterwards was, 'had I made mash on the woman or was she just requitting my kindness?' At any rate I never found out and after leaving that locality, which was near a trading post, her Red brothers sent me many plums of a leaden nature and I can assure you that kind never was appreciated but were so grounded in my mind that I often enact them in my dreams yet; though it is many years since that occurred."

In his obituary in the Auburn Courier, "Joseph D. Williamson, Sr. was born in Leesburg, Westmoreland County, PA, February 21, 1844, and died at the Sacred Heart Hospital at Garrett, Indiana, Saturday, March 13, 1915, aged 71 years aged 22 days. The early life of Mr. Williamson was uneventful, except that it was spent on a farm in Pennsylvania, until he answered his country's call and at the age of 17 enlisted in the 11th Pennsylvania Reserves, serving as color bearer, until taken prisoner at Yellow Tavern, Weldon R. R. Va. in August, 1864, and was confined in Libby and other noted southern prisons, however, it fell to his lot to be privileged to participate in some of the noted battles of the war, including the great battle of Gettysburg. Mr. Williamson was paroled in 1865, and re-enlisted in the Third U.W. Calvary and served in the Indian wars in New Mexico, and Arizona, and many frontier skirmishes. His life story and experience in the services of his country were thrilling and interesting. After his term of enlistment was completed, and he was honorably discharged from the United States service, he came back in his native state Pennsylvania, where in 1871 he was united in marriage with Miss Nina B. Gourley, in Pittsburgh, and to this union thirteen children were born, four of whom have preceded their father to the other world. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson united with the St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran church at Auburn, Indiana, October 3, 1895, by confirmation. He remained an active earnest worker until the end, although his health did not permit him to be as active as he desired. He at one time was the teacher of Sunday school, and while confined in the hospital, in the semi-conscious moments, asked the nurses about going to Sunday School. Mr. Williamson held the responsible position of court bailiff, of DeKalb county circuit court, for fourteen years, and discharge his duties, in the courtroom, with the jury, or members of the bar, just as he had discharged his duties when on picket duty or in line of service with the government as a soldier. Mr. Williamson was a member of the G.A.R. Post, The Eastern Star, Spanish-American War Veterans and DeKalb Lodge No. 214, F. A. M. of this city. He leaves to mourn his death his loyal companion, five daughters and four sons as follows: Mrs. Fred Whereley and Mrs. Bertha Seydel, of Elkhart; Mrs. Magaret Scherer of Mishawaka; Frances and Nellie, of Auburn, Joseph, Jr. and Harry of this city, Samuel G. of Culver, and John, of Elkhart; five grandchildren; three brothers, D. L. Williamson, of Oklahoma; Christ. Williamson, of Greensburg, Pa., and Geo. Williamson of Defiance, Ohio. Thus lived and died a truly Christian patriotic citizen; a well informed man, a great reader, kept abreast of the times, he was not perfect, but yet possessed many good qualities, he will be greatly missed, in many circles. The funeral services were held at the St. Mark's Evan. Lutheran church, at Auburn, March 16, 1915 at 2 p.m. and interment was made at Woodlawn. Rev. A. B. Garman, officiated and Rev. F. F. Thornburg.

In another story, Court Bailliff Williamson tells a story about a battle with Indians, dated March 12, 1908, in the Auburn Weekly Courier.

Frances Williamson, the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Williamson has been a sufferer for some time and was in a state of nervous collapse when she was removed to the home of a sister, Mrs. Nic Shearer, in Fort Wayne about a week ago. The Forst Wayne physician urged an immediate operation and the same was performed Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Some eight tumors and a number of smaller ones were removed in addition to the affected parts. The parents were summoned by phone early Sunday morning, the mother remaining in Fort Wayne and Mr. Williamson returning to take up his duties as bailiff in the court room. She is reported to be in quite a serious condition and the family and their many friends are very much concerned. It is to be hoped that Miss Frances will soon rally and be on the road to recovery before very long."

- 15 xi. Ladie Williamson, born April 03, 1881; died June 10, 1898.

Notes for Ladie Williamson: Tues., The Evening Dispatch, June 14, 1898, "Ladie Williamson, son of Joseph and Jimimia Williamson, was born in Corunna, Ind., April 3, 1881, and departed this life after one week of illness, Thursday morning, June 10, 1898, at the age of 17 years, 2 months and 5 days. Ladie leaves to mourn his early death, a father, mother, five brothers and five sisters besides a host of friends. Ladie was a young man possessing a clean character and lived an upright life. He was genial and courteous in his conduct among men. He was quiet and good natured under all conditions in life. When he was treated lightly by thoughtless boys and men, he never retaliated, but in the spirit of Jesus, bore it patiently and quietly. Those who treated him thus on the streets may find life, if they would pause but a moment, virtues and traits worth of their emulation. While Lad never filled the great positions in life, he entrenched himself in the hearts of many by his trustworthiness and faithfulness to the little tasks committed to his care. He was industrious and generous and was willing to do any kind of work offered him, whereby he might earn a few cents, and then he was free hearted and would give of his earnings to others. Lad was everybody's trusty chore boy. The boy who does well the chores committed to his care, is as successful in that work as the young men who do greater things and is deserving of as much praise. Lad knew what it was to lead a good life and tried to do so to the best of his ability. He made up his mind that it was his duty to live a Christain life and join the Lutheran church, but death came too soon. Notwithstanding this fact, God accepted his motives, and I believe that he said to Lad last Thursday morning. "It is enough, come up higher. Thou hast been faithful over a few things; enter thou into the joys of the Lord." I am glad at this hour that I have nothing but pleasant recollections of him in my heart. The tender tribute that I bring to his memory today, are not flowers of nature's growth, which soon fade, but this is what I bring: That Lad was a good, kindhearted, honest, industrious and generous young man. The funeral services were conducted from the house one-half mile west of Auburn, Saturday at 2 pm. June 12. Interment took place to Woodlawn cemetery, J. D. Brosy officiating."

On the Gravestone at Shiffler's Cemetery, it says Feb. 1

Nancy Schultz of vshultz@gte.net says that he was born Sept. 17, 1790 possibly in York Co. She also said that the county they lived in before Williams Co. was Morrow Co.

The Ancient History of the Distinguished Surname McCafferty (given to me by Nancy Schultz), "The ancient Irish culture has produced many distinguished family names which are native to the Emerald Isle and not the least of which was McCafferty. The world-wide influence of the Irish in the arts, theater, industry, commerce, literature, and the sciences, is totally disproportionate to the population size of that tiny island which averages only about 5 million people.

Historical analysts have researched records using such authors as O'Hart, Woulfe, McLysaght, O'Brien, and the Four Masters, and public records of baptisms, parish records, charters, and ancient land grants. Despite the loss of records caused by a fire in the Dublin Public Records Office in 1922 which was an irreparable disaster to Irish history, sufficient evidence is still available to produce a thumb nail sketch from ancient times.

The name McCafferty appeared in many references, and from time to time the surname was recorded as MacCaffery, MacCaffrey, MacCafferty, MacAffery, MacAffry, MacAfferty, MacGoffrey, MacGodfrey, MacCaugherty, and these changes in spelling frequently occurred, even between father and son. Preferences for different spelling variations usually arose from a division of the family, or for religious reasons or sometimes for patriotic reasons. Church officials and scribes spelt the name phonetically, sometimes translated from the Gaelic, sometimes in several different ways in the lifetime of the same person. The abbreviations of Mc in front of a name, meaning "son of" is popular in Irish names, although this is no guarantee that the name is Irish. The Scottish also use Mc as well a Mac. The prefix 'O' is almost always Irish.

Traditionally, the ancient Kings of Ireland were descended from King Milesius of Spain, the grandson of Breoghan (Brian), King of Galicia, Andalusia, Murcia, Castile, and Portugal. Milesius, a great general/king, was instrumental in defending Egypt from the King of Ethiopia. Milesius turned his attention northward to Ireland to fulfill an ancient Druidic prophecy. He sent an army to explore this fertile island. On finding that his son had been murdered by the three resident Irish Kings (the Danans). Milesius gathered another army to take his revenge on the Irish. He died before he embarked on the trip. His remaining eight sons conquered Ireland.

Heremon, eldest son of Milesius, reigned in Ireland for fourteen years, along with his brothers Heber, Ir. and Ithe. They named the land Scota or Scotia, their mother's name, the land of the Scots. This name would later be taken by the Irish King Colla in 357 when he was exiled to Scotland, leaving the name 'Ir-land', land of ir. youngest of the fours sons of Milesius. to the Emerald Isle. The four Irish kingdoms eventually broke into five separate nations under the High King, or Ard Righ. These royal lines would later produce such great kings as the 4th century King Niall of the Nine Hostages who died in France while cutting off the retreat of the Romans from Britain, and King Brian Boru who died in the Battle of Clontarf in 1014, finally expelling the Vikings from Dublin and Ireland.

The great Gaelic family McCafferty emerged in later years in county of Fermanagh. They were seated in Ballymacaffrey near Five mile Town in Fermanagh near the Tyrone border. The MacCaffertys like their kinsmen the MacGuires claim descent from King Colla da Crioch who returned to Ireland from 30 years exile in Scotland and died in 347 A.D. The MacCafferys were displaced by the Cromwellian invasion and the Plantation of Ulster and moved south to Cavan and Roscommon. Notable amongst the family at this time was Reverend James MacCaffery, distinguished Irish historian.

Invasions by Strongbow in 1172, Cromwell in the 17th century and the devastation of the great potato famine in 1845, caused continued widespread misery and poverty, and the exodus from Ireland began, first a trickle, and then a flood. Fifty years after the famine, the last straw, the population was reduced to less than half.

Irish clansmen joined the armada of sailing ships which sailed from Belfast, Dublin, Cork, Holyhead, Liverpool, and Glasgow, many bound for the New Worl, some to Australia. Some called these ships the White Sails, others, more realistically, called them the "Coffin Ships", when 30% to 40% of the passengers died of cholera, small pox, and the elements.

In North America some of the first migrants which could be considered kinsmen of the sept McCafferty of that same family were Biddy MacCafferty who settled in Newcastle in 1804; Arthur, Charles, Daniel, Edward, Henry, Hugh, James, John, Patrick, and Robert MacCafferty all arrived in Philadelphia, Pa. between 1840 and 1860; Edward, Hugh, Owen, Peter, Phillip, and Thomas MacCaffery all arrived in Philadelphia between 1840 and 1860; Arthur, Charles, Edward, Hugh, John, Michael, Patrick, Roderick, Thomas, and William MacCaffrey all arrived in Philadelphia between 1840 and 1860; Bernard, James, John, Neil, and Patrick MacCaffry all arrived in Philadelphia between 1840 and 1860; Mary McCahery landed in America in 1800.....

Notes for Jane/Susan Divney:

Jake has her name as Jane. It is on her gravestone. Her name "could" be Susan Jane or Jane Susan or maybe she was just nicknamed Susan. In her daughter's obituary it says her name was Susan. In the 1860 census it says Jane. I wonder if there could have been another wife of Benjamin's as Jane would have been 44-45 when she had Mary. According to the census it says she was born in PA.

/Her death date is in the Civil War Diary of William Culbertson. It says she was 66 years , 1 month, 18 days.

On her gravestone, it says the same date and how old she was. They died less than two weeks apart.

Notes for George Washington Sines:

Information from letter from Richard Cooley to Nancy Sines Schultz.

George is in the 1860 Pulaski Twp, Williams Co., OH census. He is 5.

His obituary was in the Thursday Aug. 29, 1929 Bryan Press. "George Sines, son of Simon and Rebekah Sines was born in Williams Co., OH, Jan. 2, 1855. When he was eight years old his father moved to Defiance Co., where he grew to maturity and remained on the home farm until 1907. He was always pleasant and wore a smile that would not come off.

Whenever he made a friend he kept him as a friend. His character was above reproach and in all his dealings he believed in the Golden Rule "Do unto others as you would have them do to you." On the evening of August 17, 1929 at the home of his niece, Cora Tressler, where he had made his home for nearly eight years, he departed this life without a moments warning. While his intimate friends knew that Mr. Sines for several years had been suffering with an incurable disorder of the heart he appeared to be in perfect health and was working the same day when the good Master summoned him on high to labor in His vineyard. He leaves to mourn their loss, three sisters and one brother, Sarah Parnham, of Bryan, Mary Pardee of Evansport, Alice Leek of Pulaski and Martin Sines of Evansport, and other relatives and many friends. Interment in the Evansport cemetery. Services conducted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tressler by the Rev. W. H. Clay.

Brother, thou art gone before us,
Where thy saintly soul is flown,
Tears are wiped away forever,
And all sorrow is unknown.
From the burden of the body,
From all care and fear released,
Where the wicked cease from troubling,
And the weary are at rest
O'er the tollsome thous't traveled,
And endured the heavy load;
Christ hath brought thy footsteps languid
Safely to His blest abode.
Thou art resting now, like Laz'rus
On the heavenly Father's breast,
Where the wicked cease from troubling
And the weary are at rest.

His obituary says, "James Oren Cooley, son of Andrew and Ann Cooley was born in Pulaski Township, Williams County, Ohio, on Feb. 6, 1854 and died July 4, 1924 at his home in Springfield Township, aged 70 years, 4 months 28 days. On the evening of Independence Day the entire community was shocked to hear that their old friend and neighbor had passed out of this life without a moment's warning. While his intimate friends knew that Mr. Cooley for several years had been suffering with an incurable disorder of the heart, he appeared to be in perfect health and went about his work on the farm without complaint. Accompanied by his little grandson, he went to a neighbor's farm yard across the road to drive home a farm animal that had gone astray. Over exertion on his part caused the impaired heart to cease beating and Mr. Cooley dropped to earth. Little Forrest called to his grandpa and receiving no answer, ran to call help, but when picked up a few minutes later, the soul had left the body. As a boy Mr. Cooley worked on his father's farm and attended the district school. When twenty-one years old he went west and for six years worked on farms in Iowa and Kansas, after which he returned to Ohio, and on October 9, 1882 was united in marriage to Miss Phila A. Cleveland. To this union was born six children, Oren D., of Hamilton, Ontario, Philo C., near Bryan, Morris L., who preceded him in death Nov. 7, 1922, J. Otis of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Miss Parline at home. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Cooley labored industriously on farms in the Beaver Creek neighborhood till 1890, when they bought a small farm in Springfield township to which more acres were added as circumstances would permit, and on which they established a most comfortable home. Here the children grew to manhood and womanhood and were reared in habits of industry and uprightness, which will abide with them through life. Besides the companion and children Mr. Cooley leaves to mourn their loss, eight grandchildren, three brothers Sanford A., and William of Evansport and Oliver of Williams Center; two sisters Mrs. Mary McMann, near Pittsburgh, Pa. and Mrs. Sarah Garber of Bryan, also a great number of nephews and nieces, grand nephews and grand nieces who will sadly miss the pleasant smile of "Uncle Jim." Sept 22, 1897, and died in Farmer township, Defiance Co., O. Nov. 7, 1903 aged 6 years, 1 month, and 15 days. From his youth although apparently a healthy child, fate seems to have been against him and if there was a contagious disease in the neighborhood he was always the first of the family to take it. For four weeks he had been confined to his bed with typhoid fever and after the fever had been broke up and abcess formed on the base of his brain which broke and ended his life. Willie was a bright and intelligent boy and was loved by all who knew him on account of his happy and cheerful disposition. He leaves to mourn his departure, his father and mother, two brothers, two grandmothers, seven uncles, four aunts, and a host of cousins and other relatives and friends. On Nov. 9th at 10:30 a.m. a large number of relatives and friends as assembled at the Union Church at Glenburg where the funeral services were conducted by D. N. Kely, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Williams Center. The remains were laid to rest in the Evansport cemetery." After his obituary there is a card of thanks and then a poem. Sad and silent is our loved home,

Since our darling passed away,
And we miss the childlike prattle
That did greet us day by day;
"But we know he is an angel
With that bright celestial band.
And we hope and pray to meet him
In that holy heavenly land.
Farewell, Willie, yes, we'll meet thee
With the angels by and by Where there is no teas, nor parting in that heavenly land on high.
He has only gone before us
To the realms of light and love,
And we patiently wait the summons
There to meet him up above:
There we all will be united

With the dear ones gone before
And with strains of sweet music
Praise the Savior evermore.

BY COVERED WAGON TO INDIANA

This story of pioneer life in Indiana is based on the experiences of Daniel Altenburg and his wife, Sarah Latson, who came to DeKalb County, from Ohio by covered wagon in 1837 (correction 1838). It was written by Daniel Altenburg's granddaughter, Clara Altenburg Zimmerman, from the recollections of her grandfather and grandmother and other members of their family.

Daniel Altenburg was born July 19, 1809, in Montgomery County, New York. His pioneer farm was three miles east of Auburn, north of the present state road #8. He died in Auburn, January 19, 1888. dated Oct. 8, 1956

Editors note: Clara (1869 - 1959) was the daughter of Henry Esidore Altenburg and Sarah Bodine. She married John Zimmerman. They had four children: Nellie Zimmerman Weaver (1892-1950), Robert Zimmerman (1897-1897), John Joseph Zimmerman (1899-1975), and Lois Zimmerman Wilcox (abt. 1903-abt. 1993)

BY COVERED WAGON TO INDIANA

Written by Clara Altenburg Zimmerman

The sunshine pouring through the grapevine by the window made a beautiful picture of shadows on the floor of Mrs. Alden's kitchen. That was early one morning in June 1837. The room was also used as a living room of the small house in a little village in central Ohio. The floor had been painted a soft brown, just the color of the hazel nuts that grew on the two large trees in the yard. Mrs. Alden had just finished the pleasant task of bathing, dressing, and feeding her baby. She held him nestled in her arms as she crooned the usual lullaby – most mothers love to do – while he slept, when a few minutes dare be taken for the joy of holding the baby. She was thinking of her new home – a very common, rather small house, plainly furnished with the most necessary articles for a growing family, and kept immaculately clean. The house with its fresh coat of white paint, the green shutters, was, of course, like most of the small houses of that time. They were "L" shape, a story and a half, the usual pattern young farmers wanted for their growing families. The front door, opening from the porch, made shelter where visitors could linger, remembering many things they had nearly forgotten to tell before saying "good-by", "do come over", and "do come back again soon."

In the yard were trees, lilac bushes, many plants that were called "Pineys" before they were known as "Peonies", bleeding hearts, fever fue, pinks and all the most loved of the common plants, crowded into the rich ground along the walk leading from the gate to the front door. Mrs. Alden was a happy contented woman as she sang, and rocked her baby, But the hour of counting her blessings was soon interrupted when the door was opened and her husband came hurriedly, and of course a bit noisily, into the room. "Why, Daniel, what has happened – are the children all right – you look so anxious – what is the matter?" "Well, there's matter enough, Sarah. I just came from talking with Mr. Bevins at the bank. He tells me the panic we have been hearing so much about is right here. All over the whole country there is the worst panic we ever had. Banks are closing, no one is willing to loan money, no one has money to loan, no pay for work, no work to do. I do not know which way to turn. All we hear is panic, panic, panic!" "Well, Daniel, the first thing you can do now is to put this child in the crib while I go call the girls to help finish the work. We will have dinner and talk over our plans. Some way will be found to be out of all our troubles – there will be a 'way to turn!'" Sarah was ready to take charge of any situation that needed action – she was ready for any work her hands could do. Her rule was do the first thing your eyes fall on, then call for everyone to "get busy." Her household had the help of a younger brother, Stephen, and an orphan girl to help with the work. With a family of eight to care for it was not hard to know "where to begin." Her mind had to be nimble as well as her feet – or was it the other way around – quick mind, nimble feet. Any way there was much work to be done. Sarah tried to be cheerful as she planned the work to be done, trying to cover her many worries, planning anew the most natural thing in the world, making a home for growing children – the food, clothing and shelter – in face of a panic – about which, until today, they knew only rumors. Daniel was filled with anxiety he had never before know, after hearing the other men at the store add their fears to the general opinions of the village officials. He always turned to Sarah for help – for her way of looking on the brightside, laughing away worries that appeared large to him. Now she knew there was no time for laughter, with such a condition abroad in the land – at their very door ordering them to give up their home, and that every soon. They decided they should see Cousin William for advice and counsel. The next day Daniel came home in great excitement, full of enthusiasm for a new plan. “Well, Sarah, William is about ready to go out to Indiana where they will take up land, build a log cabin, clear a few acres for planting corn and potatoes, then come back for his family. He wants me to go with him and take up a quarter section of land near him – then help him and he will help me put up a cabin – and we will all go back with them in the fall – be all settled by winter in a cabin on our own land! What do you think of that – a farm of our own in Indiana!” Sarah thought it might be all right – “but it might be years before we have a home there – and at that a log cabin to live in! Think of the hard work of clearing the land – could you stand that? But of course we will go if you are of the same opinion and you come back for us.” “Of course I can stand the work! Look at my strong arms – good for any kind of work! What anyone else can do, I can do and I will!” His assurance and confidence thrilled the whole family and half the lifetime of hard work was nearly half done right there. Trying to keep level headed, Sarah said, “Our boys will soon be of help to you – they do need to keep well and be strong and to learn to work – someday the farm will be their own.” “Cousin William says there are many bears, wolves, deer and catamounts in that part of the country. There will be many kinds of work to do – then there will be fishing and hunting and plenty of building going on – but – are you willing to go, Sarah?” With such enthusiasm growing among the whole family who could hold back from such an adventure. Only one thing to do – follow the advice of Cousin William and go West the very next week to begin life as a pioneer in the sparsely settled part of North Eastern Indiana. For the next few months Sarah found much to do to be ready for the long trip in ox drawn wagons over new trails, through deep woods, over almost impassable swamps and muddy roads. When Daniel returned in September for his family he was more than ever filled with enthusiasm about the land he found for his home. In a few weeks everything was ready for loading into the covered wagons. Old friends came to help. The house had been sold – all financial affairs settled, all obligations met, and they were ready for loading into the covered wagons. Old friends came to help. The house had been sold – all financial affairs settled, all obligations met, and they were ready to begin anew – becoming first settlers in a wonderful new part of the country. Old neighbors brought gifts for Sarah – plants and roots of favorite roses. From Mrs. Bevins came roots of her thousand leaf rose bush – for the new home – where they hoped would be found “thousands of good friends” in the land that seemed so far away. All her friends came with some little shrub or root of favorite plants “to be remembered by” for they might never be able to meet again – visiting would not be possible when friends were so far away.” There was a general movement that year, 1836, into the neighboring state, for since the days of Jefferson people were being shifted toward the West, many were moving from Ohio into the Northern part of Indiana that only a few years before had been made a new State in the Union. Traveling by ox drawn wagons filled with household goods as well as people, called for courage and endurance, as most of the way would be over trails through forests and swamps. The families would take turns in walking, driving the cows, or guiding the slowly plodding teams of oxen. In or about the wagons with covered domes that for a few months would be “home sweet home” for the people, were stored away tools, a plow, bags of feed, while of course behind the wagons would be the cows – contented ones – and watching over the whole crowd would be the faithful dog Tige. In some manner room was found for safely carrying dishes. A small mirror – a wedding gift from her mother to Sarah – has been in the home of her granddaughters to this day. The picture on the lower part of the mirror is a small farm house and yard with most of the implements usually in use on a farm nearby where the family gathered to count their blessings evidently. The glass mirror, perhaps never too bright and clear, has become dull with age, and the many disappointments it has met with in its long life. Once it new only young faces – now ages has brought wrinkles and white hair (if any at all) – to those who love and care for the things that came in the covered wagon over a hundred years ago.

The sunshine cheered them with its brightest rays on that morning in October 1838 when they began their journey to the West in the “rumbling chariot of progress” that Daniel called their covered wagon. They decided to go by the new road to the river, crossing at Defiance where they would camp for a few days, for it had long been the ambition of Daniel to visiting the settlement and the Fort at Defiance, in the Maumee Valley.

They were filled with enthusiasm for the novelty of life on the road – camping out was a pleasure for everyone. The beauty of October weather, the blue of the sky, the floating fleecy clouds by day, the starry heavens at night made them remember the handiwork of the Lord – to realize the world is a beautiful world. They were full of joy for being alive and ready for every new day. They hoped the journey would last for many weeks – then as the sameness began to grow too ordinary, they were aware of many tiresome days before they reached the end of the journey. They passed fields of corn in shocks like Indian teepees – waiting for the day when people for miles around would gather for husking bees. Then the corn would be husked, store in bins. For that great day there would be plenty of food and plenty of fun – for when a red ear of corn was found, the prettiest girl or woman would have to be kissed. No one had to be driven to that ordeal, while the fight put up – or put on – by the blushing lady to keep the wrong man at a distance was quite an engagement and all red ears were not found on corn stalks.

The fear of meeting Indians grew less as they drew near the settlement at Defiance. The Maumee Valley was said to be the heart of the Indian Nation at one time, the center, where the tribes came to live, to trade and to hold great council meetings. Daniel had read history, an stories of Indian wars, listed to men tell of the wars they had been in with Indians his own experiences while in Pennsylvania and New York and Ohio all gave him much interest to tell his family as the rested by the camp fires near the river crossing where they rested for a few days on their way “to the West.” So much of interest had occurred on this Historic ground, it was full of romance and charm as he told the story to his listeners.

At Defiance the river Auglaize swept in to join the Maumee on the way to the Great Lakes on the North. Winding through rich farming land, it gave to the soil for miles around a richness that has produced fine crops in grain fruit and vegetables, and also health and happiness to generations of inhabitants of the Maumee Valley.

Ancient tribes of Indians had gathered from great distances, often whole seasons were required for the journey to the Auglaize – that name in the Indian language meant “falling timbers.”

Men of the forest found this to be a strategic center of the Northwest Territory. It is said they seemed led by intuition in selecting this part of the country for their own great gatherings before the white man came to drive them to lands beyond the Mississippi River.

General Wayne had built a road from the East to the first Settlement in the County and built the Fort in Defiance in August 1794. It had required eight days for that work and when finished he declared that “he defied all the English – the Indians – and devils in hell” to take that Fort! General Scott then declared “it should then be called Fort Defiance.” In 1812 the Fort Defiance became an important point in concentration of troops under General Harrison.

The surrounding land near the Fort was highly cultivated. Immense orchards of apples an peaches were bearing fruit in season. It was a great trading point for the French Canadians as well as Indians. The Maumee Valley, extending a hundred miles East and West and the same distance North and South from Defiance was ceded by the Indians to the U.S. in 1817; the town of Defiance was laid out in 1822. It had been a growing town for about 15 years when the Aldens stopped on the way to Indiana. The “spirit of progress” was not suggesting to them to stay in a well settled County – but led them on to come out of a dense forest with years of hard labor to build their own homes.

After a visit to the Fort and the stores where were to be seen things more interesting than all out of doors to the children on that beautiful October day. They were given sugar cakes, cookies and a few toys. While Daniel had very few pennies to spend for unnecessary things, who could refuse to buy a few pieces of candy for the children? Surely not Daniel Alden. At the Mill they saw great logs being turned into lumber and placed in neat piles to be used in the building of homes and stores going on all over the county. The sweet odor of fresh sawdust at the Mill reminded the men of their own cabins waiting in the woods to be finished before winter set in, so now they should be on their way toward the West. The big Black Swamp was just ahead of them which they would avoid by taking the trail north from Defiance.

The swamp area was covered with forests of oak, elm, and other trees of gigantic size. Years of hard labor were required to convert that swamp land into good farm land, that now, at this date has become more like prairie land in the well developed Valley.

But wagon wheels must be kept rolling along from the Ohio land. Winds were growing colder, roads rougher, streams were to be crossed where danger of sinking in the mud gave some concern to the drivers of those wagons. They were finding road of corduroy – but “not the velvet kind” the women said. The wagons kept rumbling slowly along toward the State line. Before nightfall they looked for a camping place. While preparing supper they observed smoke from a fire that meant there was surely food cooking and other campers were not far away. The men and boys investigating found a camp where Indians were having a meal. They were friendly and offered food to the visitors. Over the fires were kettles of food. Several women with very dark faces, long black hair, robes of dark blankets, were dishing up food – soup or rice or hominy – like thick gray gravy, was dipped into bowls of red or green pottery. The men of the forest drank from the bowls offering some to the white visitors that was kindly refused. The red men gave grunting sounds to their children warning them to keep quiet and to pay no attention to their visitors. Great formality was observed by some representatives of two great Nations as they happened to meet along the way – white men moving in, red men moving out of what had been their own land in the central part of the United States.

The Aldens felt no fear of their new neighbors that night as their camp was well guarded by the watching Tige, who would not sleep while wolves howled or owls wailed, or any sounds new to him were heard – his snarls and growls would warn any prowling thing on the ground or in the air to keep away. He was not afraid but would defend his family, though every hair along his back would rise in anger at this command.

As the distance increased from their dear little home in Ohio they grew serious about their venture into a strange place for making their home. The romance was fast disappearing – the wagons were jolting and tiresome – the rumbling had lost the charm of the first few days of the journey. The women began to question the idea – “Sarah, do you think we made a mistake to leave home and come to such a wild, lonely place to live. Nothing but trees, trees, trees! How will we ever live in the woods. All the people we met are so old looking – they must be forty or fifty years old – and not a tooth, and so wrinkled and dark. Will we grow to look like that?” “Now Abigail, no one has seemed to be sorry they live here, everyone is friendly and they seem happy. Perhaps they have no time to feel sorry, they have so much to do. They have been kind to us though we are all strangers. We will hard work and few comforts, but we will keep well and be glad we came to Indiana.”

After moving the children to give more comfort to the “front seat” occupants, Sarah continued, “We are not moving along very fast are we in our old chariot, as Daniel calls this covered wagon; but we will surely be at the end of our journey in a few days. We will be sure to like our new cabin always we will be able to see the sky, the wonderful clouds at sunset and at sunrise too, for early in the morning there will be the milking to do and the sky all blue and pink and white will be like a tufted quilt as the sun comes up for another day. And on rainy days there will be music in our ears as the raindrops fall on the roof.”

"Oh, yes, if raindrops fall on our heads, or we run for pans to catch the music as it patters on our beds! You always hear music, Sarah, in everything."

"Well I cannot help it, there is so much music in everything. I hope I will hear it in the woods always."

Oh, Sarah, I do not think even a flash of lightning can get into the woods, but there, the moonlight last night was beautiful as I walked with Stephen by the wagon. Did you hear that terrible bird? Stephen said it was an owl (which was not a familiar bird to Ohio people). After crossing the St. Joseph River they came in a few days to a small house, the first log house in Indiana. The people were friendly, insisting on their staying over night at the cabin. Good advice was given about finding the way to the next neighbor's cabin. The trail was found to be worse and worse. Following the narrow trails from the Ohio line they passed a small settlement now known as Hamilton. A few days later they reached Steubenville, Ind. Where they lingered for a few days before turning South. Following trails made by Indians was little better than cutting the way through brush and trees by ax in hand. They were later to learn more of those trails that Indians had found sufficient for their needs. Having no trade to carry on, there was no need for wagons. Roads later became necessary as vehicles were being used by the Indians. Between Pottowotome villages and trading Posts were well beaten trails. Two of the main trails between Fort Wayne, Ind. and White Pigeon, Mich. crossed the land in DeKalb County were leading southeast was a trail intersecting one from Toledo near the St. Joe river that led to one near LaGrange, Ind. The first roads, of course, followed the Indian trails as far as practical. Soon after leaving Steubenville, the mad going ahead to chop the way for the teams to follow, the became really lost. It was a most discouraging hour, nearly dark, snow beginning to fall, wind blowing colder, wolves were howling, women and children frightened half to death at the idea of spending the night in the woods. To make matters worse, the oxen refused to move another step. They stood as though matters had gone far enough. A sort of mutiny possessed those dumb beasts. Daniel, in exasperation, thought that nothing in the world could compare with the headstrong determination of those oxen. Kindness had no effect, beating did not help. Tempers of drivers grew more and more ruffled. The women requested: "no swearing, remember the children" – but there did seem need for strong words; at least the name of those dumb beasts should be spelled with an A. The confusion and noise was more than the baby could stand so his crying was added with all his might. Believing they were not far from the home of the Smith family, they all joined in shouting which soon brought help, as Mrs. Smith recognized a baby's crying. To see men coming with lanterns to their rescue was a most welcome sight to the weary travelers. One wagon was left where it was, fast in the mud; the other driven to the shelter offered by their new friend, shelter for man and beast. Warm food and dry clothing were provided for the night. Small cabins were large with kindness and real hospitality shown for strangers, and many fine friendships were formed, never to be forgotten.

In the morning they were ready for another day only possible because of the kindness of all those good people among the early settlers. Courage was restored and the future looked brighter to the Aldens as they started on their way to their own home in the woods, many miles away.

After several hours and a gain of only a few miles they saw beyond a creek a group of three or four cabins, a settlement that later became the town of Waterloo. The creek to be forded gave them another kind of trouble. The bank of the creek was steep, the water rather deep, the wagons unwieldy with their loads of household goods and several of the people did not relish the idea of possibly being upset in the water.

The wagons were fastened together, one team leading, the other to the rear to push or to hold back as they made their way down one bank, across the bed of the creek, and up the other bank where they rearranged their loads, and with the cows following in more or less contentment they proceeded on their way. It required all that day to travel the five miles to the five little cabins and a saw mill that made up the beginning of village – a town – a city the loveliest of the plain – sweet Auburn, on the banks of Cedar Creek. In the village they found the spirit of friendliness they had found everywhere. The women and children were left at the one house called an Inn while the men and older boys went on to the farm to finish the cabin and to unload the wagons. After a few days the fireplace was pouring out a cheerful welcome to the rest of the family. The room was overflowing with happy cheerful people in what was to be their home for a few years, come what may of good or evil, health or ague, disappointment or prosperity. They were not afraid. The first work to be done was to provide fuel to burn. The trees must be felled, cut into right lengths and piled near the door, corded into rows.

The green logs would sizzle and fry, but after some time would give off a heat near the fire, while away from the fire one would almost freeze. It has been said the reason for the War of Independence was carried on for as many years was that men would rather march to the beating of drums and sleep in tents than to sit in ladder back charis or on settees before a fireplace and nearly roast or freeze to death. But that was many years, many wars ago; we still have fireplaces and antique chairs and like them. Many women would give any amount of money or stand for hours at an auction to become the owner of a ladder back chair, settee, spool beds or an old stand that had been in the home of an old pioneer, or if from their own grandfather's log cabin it becomes a precious heirloom.

The winter of 1837 and 1838 (prob. Meant 1838 and 1839) was most severe. Traveling was almost impossible with snow two feet deep. With only few comforts in the cabins, the families managed somehow to survive. How happy they were to know that other families were moving into the county also; when they could see smoke pouring from other chimneys it meant that others were there to clear the land for more than forest timber; it meant they could reach toward an ideal, a home, it meant work, early and late, but it meant progress and eventually, success.

There was much sickness in the winters of those first years and it was not until 1850 that they began to be free of the common diseases. In the winter of 1842-43 many people lost their stock by starvation as the grain and hay gave out. One man, while hunting, found the partly devoured and frozen bodies of nine deer in the woods. Under one roost, he found eighteen wild turkeys and many smaller game frozen.

When the sugar camps were ready during the months of March or April, the maple trees provided an abundance of sap to be boiled down into syrup or great cakes of sugar to last throughout the year, often being the only sugar obtainable. The stacks of buckwheat cakes must be covered with sugar or simply floating in the maple syrup; buckwheat cakes were the daily food for many families during those pioneer days.

Surveying the land, clearing the fields, planting the corn, beans and potatoes was the work taken up in earnest by the older members of the families in the springtime. The value of help from the moon was not ignored, for agriculture, moon and stars were related; better results were believed to result when things growing underground were planted in the dark of the moon; the lighter plants, to run over the ground in the sunshine, the rain or the moonlight would be better planted in the light of the moon. Next to the Bible, the most faithfully studied book was the Almanac – the old reliable family guide.

There were days of sickness when chills and fever, aches and pains, had the whole family in the house. Depending on home remedies, the help of good neighbors when necessary, the women had all and more than they could do when the ague came to abide with them. Sometimes it was called the "dumb ague". Swamps gave out many germs to anyone disturbing their long slumbers; "malaria to the new settlers" seemed to be their cry! As the summer advanced into another year, the cabin of the Aldens took on a more cared for appearance, with lilac bushes and woodbins by the door. Along the pathway to the gate, blue flags from the swamp gave a welcome to all who came to the cabin and flowers grew as though they were glad to be in the yard. The deep dark woods around the cabin made it look small and lonely, but always the smoke rolling from the chimney gave it a look of home, calling the children to stay nearby, not to wander far away, for wolves were too near. For more than one reason was it necessary to save candlelight by being "early to bed"; there was a strong urge to get away from the lonely darkness of the woods that at night seemed filled with some great power of danger complaining of the coming of people to disturb the life in the forest. Neighbors often came to compare the worries of the times. Their respect for old customs called for organization of a church. A class was formed with all the Methodists in the township, and on October 31, 1839, the Methodist Church was organized in the village of Auburn, with three charter members, Wesley Park, his wife Sophia Park and Fannie Smith. Daniel Altenburg was made a class leader later.

In the merry month of May there was a wedding in the home of Daniel and Sarah. The cabin must be made as attractive as possible for such an occasion. Branches of all the flowering trees must be carried home by the children; the lovely white dogwood added beauty and charm to the little cabin where the young people were married – to become amongst the first young pioneers to make their home in DeKalb County. They were to make their home with the Aldens. The woods and fields in May and June supplied the settlers with fruit; strawberries were abundant and later came the cranberries in the marshlands in the North and west part of the county. Wild game provided the meat for the settlers. With two friendly Indians for guides, many hunting and fishing trips were made to the lakes near the state line on the north. Obbenoble and Mingo had been living in the nearby forest since the death of their mother. They were liked and trusted by the settlers for they were good Indians.

The farmers found it most annoying to have so much of their livestock carried away by the wolves and bears. On the farm of John Esseg a trap was built that on one morning held only the paw of a bear. A few men set out at once on a bear hunt but it was not for several months that a bear was found with only three feet, evidently the same one that had visited the Esseg trap and had left his calling card!

One day the children went for a walk, following the path made by the cows that were turned into the woods every morning to graze and rest by the pond near the clearing. The children had been cautioned to look out for wild animals, especially the bears and never to go far from the cabin, but they were not frightened as they gathered wild flowers that grew so abundantly by the great beech and maple trees that never before had known little white children to be gathering flowers beneath their branches. The early spring beauties, the delicate blossoms veined with pink, were a favorite of all the wildflowers everywhere. In moist places near the pond there were blue and white violets, Indian turnip or Jack-in-the-Pulpit, Dutchmen's Beeches that made the children shout with laughter as they gathered great handfuls of the wildflowers.

Noticing that the sun was going down, the older girls said, "We must go now, - we have all the flowers we can carry". In terror, one began to call, "Oh look – look! It must be a bear – it hobbles so funny!" They all began to run toward the path. Danny carried the smallest child, Sylvia, calling to the rest to "hurry out of there". They all ran as fast as they could over the rough ground, a bear moving along slowly not so far behind them. They remembered to call to the cows browsing along the way and the sound of the bells soon told that they were following on the way home with the children.

When they knew they were near the clearing, their voices were joined in their screaming for they wanted to be heard. At the wood lot, cutting and piling up the wood, Stephen and Abigail heard the commotion and ran to meet the frightened boys and girls who made them understand there was need for help – for one child was missing. Little Sadie, a new neighbor's child, was not with the rest – she must be lost in the woods! Run for father and the rest of the men! Ring the dinner bell that would bring everyone within hearing to help!.....they would know that a dreadful thing had happened at the Alden's! Soon a number of men and boys armed with some kind of an instrument to use if necessary, were on the way to the pond in search of the little girl. They found bear tracks lading into the woods. All night they searched, going in all directions from the pond, but they were not able to find little Sadie. In the morning they were joined by the two Indians, Obbenobbe and Mingo. All day they searched; they found a piece of a yellow calico dress so they continued toward the creek. The next day, Obbenobbe found her, lying near the water, exhausted and frightened nearly to death, very thirsty and hungry. They took her on Mingo's horse to her mother who had been nearly frantic with worry and grief. Soon all the good women were helping her to care for the child and she recovered and lived to be an old lady – who told her grandchildren of her terrible experiences in the woods when she was a little girl.

The winter sunshine streaming into the room looked again upon Sarah as she was bathing dressing and feeding her baby, another one, before the fireplace in the cabin. Into the room the boys came rushing, to tell her some Indians were coming “four or five - some with papooses on their backs - squaws they were”. One of the boys ran to call father, for noone could tell how friendly the strangers would be, and they should be met with equal numbers at least. In as cordial manner as she could manage Sarah invited them to come in, which they meant to do anyway, and to be seated, showing them a bench and a chair. They watched her dress her baby and were pleased when Sarah put a white baby dress on the Indian baby. The mother was pleased and held the baby in the new dress in her arms as she went away, as proud as could be. The Indian men let it be known they wanted corn, so they were told to go into the loft to shovel down all they wanted which was all they could find. They gathered their blankets up and left with all the supply of shelled corn.

After a few days, the Aldens were the visitors and found the Indians engaged in making maple sugar. Offered a taste of the syrup, the visitors politely refused but made the Indians know they were pleased to be thought of. Reaching home, they told the rest of the family why they could not taste the fresh syrup; a little black dog was so busy cleaning the fresh syrup off his body, it was plain to be seen he had been swimming in the extra supply. He had a sweet tooth and toenail which was more than they had!

After a few days, one rainy day, there came a group of Indians to the cabin. The guns they carried were left leaning against the house, under the eaves, it so happened. The boys tried to tell them the rain would fall into the guns as it did into the rain barrell at the corner, but the Indians only shook their heads, they did not understand, and walked on into the house asking for food. They were given all they wanted, then went to find their guns, grunting and acting queerly as they looked at the boys. Trying to be good friends, the boys did all the tricks they knew to entertain the Indians; they turned cartwheels, stood on their heads, performed wrestling acts, played leap frog and did some singing, but the Indians only gave them “queer sounds” as they went away. Those boys did not lose their scalps as they feared might happened, but forty years later they were all quite bald, due not doubt to the scare they received on that day when the Indians called on them.

The Aldens' cabin was not far from the crossroad east of their home where a school house was built. It was a small one room cabin with one window and one door and of course a fireplace and it was considered quite enough to start students on their way to higher education and fame and fortune. The desks were of split logs against the wall on two sides and across one end of the room. The seats also were of split logs resting on poles for legs and furnished flat but splintery support for students who were seated facing the walls and thus giving the schoolmaster better control over his young enemies.

The better to whack
The bent over back
Of a youngster learning subtraction

From his seat at the table
The master was able
To see all that caused any distraction.

The learned from those hard benches the art of enduring the hardships and privations of life; they also learned the love of books and papers, for they became lost in another world where life could be like a dream, a pleasant dream.

Not everyone enjoyed the long days in school. Stephen said they were always at loggerheads with the teacher, and to learn to read from the flat side of the log was very hard! But they did learn to love freedom and the life out of doors. The schoolmaster was annoyed at the noise of the whispering smaller children as they tried to learn "Up, up, Lucy, the day has begun". Little Henry would say, "Double up Lucy, the day has begun". The teacher gave him a slap on the back with a book which brought forth a loud "Ouch", then the students were so amused there was much laughter, so everyone had to be given a slap with the book - a very welcome interruption by some of the hard working students.

Before order was restored, the door was thrown open and a man burst into the room crying, "Alden's killed, Alden's killed". For a moment no one stirred, then all the pupils rushed to the door, crying as they ran to the cabin where everything was confusion, made worse by the cries of the family, as they saw their father being carried into the cabin, very badly hurt.

For several days, Daniel and Stephen with other helpers had been clearing the land for farming; many trees had been chopped down, all had gone well. This day had started out as the others. Daniel had heard the singing of the axe as it chopped its savage way into the heart of the tree, then with a wailing sound, the tree slowly gave up its hold and began to fall, branches swishing and scraping through the trees, then, as it struck other trees was thrown aside. The men called out, "Look out! Dan! - look out there!" - too late - Daniel was thrown to the ground with the falling tree. It was some time before he could be freed and taken home. Then someone must be sent to Auburn for a surgeon. Hours later, - the next day, a young doctor came on horseback; in place of the older surgeon who had been called to another part of the county for a similar accident - it happened that two other men had been hurt in the same way on the same day. The young surgeon did all he could do for the patient; neither chloroform nor ether was known or in use at the time, 1848. Whiskey was usually used to deaden pain, and now it was ordered by the doctor; the amputation of the arm was accomplished with the aid of several good neighbors and the kindly young doctor.

It was months before Daniel was able to leave his bed. The foot and ankle had been twisted or broken. The lost arm gave him much distress and pain, so a second or third operation was made to try to give him more comfort. Daniel was never free from pain the rest of his life, and he knew that he was face to face with some unconquerable thing, needing help from Divine Power. He learned to depend on his bible and the beautiful lines from some wonderful hymns gave him help in enduring his pain.

Daniel Alden, at first, had found the life of the pioneer to be an interesting adventure. He did not regret the choice that had led to hard work with little time for anything but the most essential work. He was satisfied with his lot in life up to the time of his unfortunate accident. No he must learn to live, to contribute some share in the work for his family - not become a defeated man. His spiritual life must be cleared as the forest was cleared of natural growths; he must live and work. His agreeable personality brought him many friends and he became an outstanding young man in the community. He was generous to a fault, ever ready to help those in need. His good sense of humor would stand in his mind and be a help to him, as the burden laid on his shoulders seemed to be too great. His fine spirit as a pioneer was not crushed.

Tall of stature, his blue eyes and always his happy smile gave one confidence in his fine character. He had many good friends among his neighbors. His children adored their father and loved to be near his work. When their walks took them through the woods or the fields he would tell them of the flowers and birds common to the forests and streams near their home. His love for all things "lovely or of good report" was shared by his family. Now he must learn to live and to work and to suffer.

The progress of the times called for better roads and towns, homes and improved farms. In the work of clearing the land, neighbors came to help in the "burnings". Great majestic oak, walnut trees, hickory and elm trees and graceful willows - all the trees of the forest and swamp, had to fall before the army of determined men who were hearing the all of progress. In the minds of the people were better homes, books and newspapers, as they outgrew early conditions.

When the years of hard work and careful management brought some degree of prosperity to Daniel and Sarah, a new house was built. Facing the north, the first room had to be on some special occasions the dining room. On the right, the little parlor with windows on the north and west, became the room of joy, of sorrow, days of pleasure or sadness. From the east side of the kitchen, a stairway led to a room above where the six brothers slept. The three girls had to be satisfied with the parlor for their sleeping room. The porch, with seats on both sides seemed to invite friends to "come in!" "be seated" "stay awhile". The door of the kitchen opened on the yard where on sunny days the lines of snowy white washing warned everyone not to go near those clean clothes! The corner room, off the kitchen with the south and west windows gave Sarah a view of the sheds where the sheep, the cow, the chickens could be heard at night should someone be prowling around or some hungry animal come to disturb them.

To Sarah and her daughters, the years had brought better times; it was possible to have about them the things so dear to a woman, the things that give comfort and pleasure in the home. A natural pride was satisfied in the rag carpet for the parlor, the first in that neighborhood. Although getting the material ready was really work, the rolls of bright colored carpeting were a joy and the home was cheerful and happy. Perhaps nothing gave so much comfort to everyone as did the new oil lamps! To clean and fill the lamps every morning was a favorite bit of work!those lovely lamps on the shelf!.....no more candles!not for that family! They never dreamed that a day would come when oil lamps would be replaced by candles, and that dinner for company would be served on bare tables and with napkins of paper!

In the evenings, the oil lamps were a blessing indeed, for books and newspapers were in daily use. Around the table, the young readers of deep dark subjects needed much light to bring out the beauties said to be found in Algebra and mathematics. Then by the melodian they would gather to sing the songs so dearly loved the the mother, "How Firm A Foundation", "Am I a Soldier of the Cross"...how their voices would ring out in "December as Pleasant as may". They could all sing heartily.

In 1861 came the all of the President for volunteers to join the army. Four sons joined the Army of the Potomac and through four long years served in helping free a race of people from slavery. Then came a day when they were needed at home. Years of toil and hardship had taken the courage and health of women and many lives were forfeited. The brave and energetic little mother, unable to endure longer the hardships and anxious days of war, was taken to death. She had done all she could do in life; she had been able to hear music in everything, as she hoped to do, but most of it had been in the harmony she found in there own family; she had been a cheerful, happy woman, yet ready for the adventure into a new world when the call came for her to go.

On the same day, her brother Stephen, after a long illness, was taken also. In the new Methodist church in Auburn was held the funeral of a brother and sister. Many people who could see more to love than to blame came to show their love and respect to two of their friends. In a small town is often found the very heart of kindness. Showing sympathy, helping to bear the burdens and sorrows of others when some of their numbers are taken, is the common way of life.

On a gently sloping hillside in the first cemetery, the sister and brother were buried. Because of the stream at the foot of the hill, the great trees of oak, elm and beech giving beauty to the surroundings, the spot was thought to be a fitting meeting place for one who so loved the beauty of nature. A few miles away toward the east was the farm where they had lived and made on of the first homes in the township. Near the spot where she was laid to rest a small common field stone marked the grave of an Indian woman who was given a Christian burial by the good neighbors of Obbennobbe and Mingo. The three young sons of Stephen and Abigail all died within the next few years - years of grief and sorrow for the Aldens. Daniel never seemed the same again - learning to live with new people - finding new ways of doing his work - not rushing into work as he would rather do -; he had to fit the work to his ability. Old friends found it distressing to witness his suffering. New friends were hard to meet. He had toiled to make the land contribute to his well-being; now his fight was to brain his spirit to accept disappointments as a good Christian should do. He lived many years never losing his faith and trust in God, never free from suffering.

When the word came that war was ended, noone was more thankful than Daniel for the safe return of the soldiers. His four sons and one son-in-law had served the four years of the Civil War. The citizens celebrated the return of the men of the county with a great meeting. There were speeches and of course a bon fire and songs, "When Johnny comes marching home again, hurrah", "The flag that made us free", "Glory, glory Hallelujah". There were about eight hundred people in the town by the close of the war.

Led by the same spirit of progress their father had known thirty years before, the older sons joined in the general movement into the neighboring states, and in the Michigan forests on the north, found their wok in life clearing the land, making room for farms, towns and industrial plants. They were true pioneers, carving a living out of virgin forests, building homes, becoming true citizens.

With the country turning from forest into productive fields, the farmers were thinking of better living in the towns, and were leaving the farming to younger men. Back in DeKalb county, the land Daniel and his sons had made ready, was sold, and Daniel moved into Auburn. A new house was built on North Mains Street and as though to help replace the trees he had helped destroy, he now encouraged the planting on many new shade trees. One large maple still is standing the site of his old home. Many large maples are still the joy of the citizens who have always cared well for "the loveliest village of the plain".

At the new house, Daniel had one room built for his own. It contained all the old furniture, the iron cooking vessels by the huge fireplace, the walnut table, the stand, the lounge, the cupboard with fancy designs in the doors - a good pattern for pie crust when one had time to mark the crusts as they should be. Two windows on the south let the sun cheer him on winter days, the open door on the west made the cool breeze on summer days most welcome. On the table were his books, The Patriarches of the Bible being his favorite next to the Bible. Beneath the windows, the lounge was well supplied with pillows and blankets, his woolen shawl always ready for him. The rocking chair, a stool, a few smaller chairs nearly filled with room, but when friends came there was always room "for one more". On the wall between the windows was a popular picture of that time, "The Stream of Life". On a river there was a rowboat, filled to capacity with a family of perhaps three or four generations - the most happy, placid faces, looking toward the shore they were nearing, the younger ones looking with some regret toward the shore they were leaving, and still keeping their hats on in case they could return. Still younger folks were happy just to be on the way - no hats to bother them, such a beautiful river, such lovely, people such a happy family.

The other and more attractive picture was a brightly colored map of Indiana. It seemed like a jewell box of gems, each one more beautiful than the other, each county a gem of another color. Indiana will always be the most beautiful state to the children who remember that room. The map was covered with a protecting coat of varnish to save it from dust or perhaps from the unwelcome visits of flies with their extra touches of black.

A few years after the close of the war, several army surgeons were living in Auburn. They were Dr. D. J. Swartz, Dr. J. B. Casebeer, Dr. J. N. Chamberlain and Dr. J. A. Cowan. They were consulted by the family and it was believed that an operation might correct the condition in the shoulder of the long suffering Daniel. But it was found to be too late. There was no help for him - he must live on as he had learned to do until the Lord called him.

It was not his lot to recover his health, but he lived more than the years usually allotted to man. His days were spent in caring for his garden, trying to raise bees and honey. But his bees did not seem to care for a nervous man; they were not congenial friends, so it was not a success as a business. For a few years he was given the office of Justice of the Peace and was in the J. L. Davis block in the office of H. C. Peterson.

He had married Susanna, a splendid woman, who was kind and patient with his outbursts of rebellion over his lot, for there would come some dark days when his patience would desert him. She had great understanding of his burden that it had been his duty to bear in some way. He would often turn to the old songs they used to sing, "Shall I be carried to the skies, while others sail through bloody seas?"

He told his devoted wife and daughters one Sunday morning in January, 1888, that he had a vision of a lovely place, but was not allowed to enter for he was told there was one more sacrifice he had to make. He did not tell them more about it. They asked him to rest while they prepared some food for him, so he fell asleep. When the daughters returned, they found he had been permitted to enter heaven.

The Methodist Church he had helped to establish in the early days could not hold all the people who came to show respect for one they had known for many years and who was regarded to be one of the heroic pioneers. He was a man who did not accept defeat in life but was sustained by his faith in God.

Poems

by

Harry Altenburg Hanes

As far as I know he wrote these poems.
Another little books was made of his poems.
I do not think these were included.

When I was a little boy
I lived by myself
All the bread and cheese I got
I layed upon the shelf
The rats and the mice
They led me such a strife
I was forced to go to London
And buy me a wife
The roads were so rough
And the lanes were so narrow
I had to bring her home
In a wheel barrow—
The wheel barrow broke
And my wife got a fall
The dogs took wheel barrow
My wife and all
To Jimmie from Grandad
(The piece I used to speak in my FIRST Childhood)

Christmas 1953

For Jimmie and another separate cover

Note:

For Jimmie

Seven and a half inches long
 One of my girls has a fine greenest
 I've seen since ever I saw a pencil
 I've heard of it all and have it yet.
 The most of living things are and better
 Christmas, Birthday, Holiday too
 Will I have it for my good pleasure
 Even my pencil has a pleasant use
 Oh

When I've had pencils kindly given
 As advertisements for this and that Like Jline Bros Lumber Co.-Soken Bash and Door
 Or makers of the Statron hat
 In the street I've found pencils on kind and another
 Some longer some shorter some bad and some good
 Rubber tipped or ink out both ends sharpened
 School-boy style some paper some wood
 I've borrowed pencils of my neighbors
 Of all sorts of wood, of green and black
 And even I do have hats to wear it
 Some-times I do forget to give them back
 I've seen pencils in public places
 Not only seen but used them too
 Fastened to a long string dangle
 Anchored with an iron shoe
 I've been in church where they passed the basket

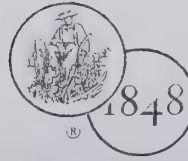

Where each one got a subscription slip
 And to the side of each the teeniest
 Pencil fastened with a clip
 And giant pencils most like a broomstick
 Tied by a cord and hanging down
 On the side of the junk-mans wagon
 So he could write with mittens on Pencils made for different purposes made
 Of different materials I must own
 And its almost past believing
 Pencils made to write on stone
 Made of lead they're called lead pencils
 Made of graphite they called the same
 Made of chalk they call them crayons
 There's not really nothing in the name
 I have seen folks write on windows
 Not in malice let us hope
 And the pencil they were using
 Was just a piece of a cake of soap
 There was Pa's old pencil he kept in his desk
 Your aunt will remember I think
 You pressed on the top and it opened its mouth
 Like a calf just learning to drink
 They write of love they write of hate
 Some sorry some glad
 But the pencil I think that suits ME best
 Is the one that writes to Dad
 Now when I started this to write
 I had a happy thought
 That I would call to memory
 All the pencils I had bought
 Borrowed begged or stolen
 Or in any way possessed
 And picked out of memories pile
 That would suit my purpose best
 And so I measured my display
 And then I got a hunch
 Of all the pencils I ever had
 Not a poets in the bunch
 There is the so called carpenters pencil
 Its red or green and long
 Implying that he's a mechanic
 Who wears it in the band of his hat
 The cabinet maker has his own choice

Made of lead they're called lead pencils
 Made of graphite they called the same
 Made of chalk they call them crayons
 There's not really nothing in the name
 I have seen folks write on windows
 Not in malice let us hope
 And the pencil they were using
 Was just a piece of a cake of soap
 There was Pa's old pencil he kept in his desk
 Your aunt will remember I think
 You pressed on the top and it opened its mouth
 Like a calf just learning to drink
 They write of love they write of hate
 Some sorry some glad
 But the pencil I think that suits ME best
 Is the one that writes to Dad
 Now when I started this to write
 I had a happy thought
 That I would call to memory
 All the pencils I had bought
 Borrowed begged or stolen
 Or in any way possessed
 And picked out of memories pile
 That would suit my purpose best
 And so I measured my display
 And then I got a bunch
 Of all the pencils I ever had
 Not a poets in the bunch
 There is the so called carpenters pencil
 Its red or green and long
 Implying that he's a mechanic
 Who wears it in the band of his hat
 The cabinet maker has his own choice__ REPEATED PART OF POEM ↑
 Of a pencil he thinks will do
 A long slim pencil with lead so hard
 It nearly cuts the wood in two
 The copying pencil in the hands of the clerk
 Who works like a demon insane
 The pencil that lays on the typewriters desk
 In front of the stenographer Jane
 I've told you of pencils a great many kinds
 I've told you of pencils galore
 Yet I'm sure if you'd help me and we'd study together
 We could think of a great many more
 There's styptic pencil you use when you shave
 And a lot of pencils miscellaneous
 The eye-brow pencil to tempt Dan Cupid
 And the whole great state Pencilvenious

I just made it up it wasn't a dream
You know I'm a wee bit off of the beam
In fact while Awake Not a dream could be
But a chance to tell 'em what they meant to me
And so I just told them the best way I knew
And would have included my grandchildren too
But I can't tell them all however I try
I could write and write till my pencil went dry
So Waking or sleeping dreaming or not I'm pretty well pleased with the ones I have got

MY DREAM CAME TRUE.

What is this dream that I have dreamed?
I was lifted high above the world, yet quite alive,
And saw the Babys' yet unborn.
An Angel said, "You may choose out five."
As I looked I wondered which to choose.
Then going from crib to crib, at last I said
As I turned to the Angel and pointed out,
"I'll take the girl, that little redhead."
For a second choice again I sought
This one, so pale and thin, with eyes so bright,
Said the Angel as he wrapped her up
"Man, You surely are choosing right!"
What? All Girls, These Babes so sweet?
Mom and I have so wanted a Son,
But who could refuse this plump little Girl
Whose sweet little face, my heart has won?
At the next crib, another little girl babe,
From where do all these little girls come?
This, another girl to love and to own,
Please bundle her up, and send her home.
Then the Angel opened another door,
Oh, here's the chance, a Boy for Me!
I choose the ~~red~~head with the bright blue eyes,
Please send him to my home address C. O. D.
Then the Angel asked, "Are You Satisfied?"
As I answered yes, he began to laugh
As he replied, "You have chosen well,"
"You have picked the ones You Already Have!"

I have always flowed
About this land that
Now I could ~~do~~ ^{do} what some one
Made a living at

I've worked on a farm
And fed the hogs
Harnessed the horses
And hauled the logs

I've worked in the factory
With its filth and grime
I've ditched and built houses
From time to time

I've plastered I've painted and
Some things not so fine
But this is the first I've tried
Just being 79

Rejected.

A stranger stood at the gates of hell and the Devil himself had answered the call,
He looked him over from head to toe and said my friend I'd like to know what you have done in the line of sin to entitle you to come within,??

Then Franklin D. with his usual guile stepped forth and flashed his toothy smile.
When I took charge in thirty three
A nation's faith was mine said he.

I promised this and I promised that and I calmed them down with a fireside chat.
I spent their money on fishing trips and fished from the decks of their battleships,

I gave them jobs on the P.W. A.
two days a week, two dollars a day.
Then raised their wages and closed their shops,
I killed their pigs and burned their crops.

I doubled crossed both old and young,
And still the fools my praises sung.
I brought back beer, and what do you think?
I taxed it so high that they couldn't drink.
I furnished money with government loans,
When they missed a payment I took their homes.

When I wanted to punish the folk you know,
I'd put my wife on the radio.
I paid them to let their farms lie still,
And imported foodstuffs from Brazil.
I curtailed crops when I felt real mean
And shipped in corn from the Argentine.

When they would start to worry and fret
I'd get them to chanting the alphabet.
With the A.A.A. and the N.L.B.
The W.P.A. and the C.C.C.
With these many units I got their goats,
And still I crammed it down their throats.

My workers worked with the speed of snails,
While the tax payers chewed their fingernails.
When the organizers needed dough
I closed up their plants for the C.I.O.,
I ruined jobs and I ruined health,
And put the screws on the richman's wealth,
And some who couldn't stand the gaff
Would call on me and how I'd laugh,
When they got too strong on certain things,

I, d pack and head for Old Warm Springs.

I ruined their country their homes and then,
I placed the blame on the nine old mags
Now Franklin talked both long and loud,
And the Devil stood and his head he bowed,
At last he said let's make it clear,
You, I'll have to leave you can't stay here,
For once you mingle with this mob
I, I'll have to hunt myself a job.

Well it's WINTER now But aint SUMMER nice
When They aint no snow and they aint no ice
No cold wind to freeze your ears and your nose
And chill your bones right through your clothes
You dont have to batten the windows and doors
You dont have to stuff rags in the cracks in the floor
When you just dont have tons and tons of snow
To track around wherever you go
All though the house your feet Slop Slop
And your wife has to follow you round with the mop.
You dont have snow to shovel and scoop
Catch your death of ~~the~~ cold and die with the Croup
No wonder so many old people dies
My eyes! aint Summer nice

No cold wind, no sleet, no snow, no ice
It's SUMMER now and aint WINTER nice
They aint no bugs and they aint no flies
They aint no gnats and they aint no flees
No chiggers to gnaw your skins and your knees
No skaters around your head a buzzin'
Bogging a kiss and calling you Cousin
No lawn to mow no grass to rake
No weeds to pull no garden to make Dont have to lay and fawn all night
And fall asleep just about day light
Roll out of bed before sun rise
My eyes! aint Winter nice
No gnats No skaters No chiggers, no flees

I aint goin' to need this house no longer,
I'm movin' out tomorrow.
Hope to move without no fuss
Not to cause my friends to sorrow
For when this house desolves away
And I break these earthly bands
I got a "building of God eternal in the Heavens,"
A "house not made with hands"
Jesus said "There are many mansions"
And we know his word is true;
For those who don't deserve a mansion
He says I'll make a place for you.
So I got a place, a building, a house,
A home awaiting there
A house that's always new and tidy
That will never need repair.
Aint goin' to be no leaky shingles
Aint goin' to be no sagging door
Aint goin' to be no busted windows
Aint goin' to be no hooved up floor
I don't know yet the street and number
But my name is on the door.
A home eternal in the Heavens
I aint goin' to need this house no more

Just Talking

The "Man" has gone to his eternal home
And I am left here all alone
Old home gloomy as a rainy day
My heart heavy as a stone

Just sitting here and thinking
Don't know what I'm thinking but Sort of dreamy reminiscence
Just can't figure nothing out
Listen wasn't that a foot step
Thought I heard some one a walking
Stopped to listen just a moment
And I heard myself a talking
Don't know what I'm talking but Guess it wasn't worth to mention
Wasn't much I don't remember
Wasn't paying me ~~any~~ attention

Just talking, talking, talking,
So it goes from day to day
But how would I know what I was thinking
If I never heard me say

Yours truly old Nance

Either you will or else you wont
Either you shall or else you shant
Either you can or else you cant

You either speak truth or else you lie
Either you live or else you die.

You can live to the Lord and in his name
You can die in the Lord and its all the same

So living or dying lift up your head
You belong to the Lord living or dead

I saw a Wayward traveler in tattered garments And
He struggled up the Mountain it seemed that he was sad
His back was laden heavy his strength was almost gone
Still shouting as he forerunjer deliverance will come

The summer sun was shining the sweat was on his brow
His garments worn and dusty His steps seemed very slow
But he kept pressing onward for he was heading home
Still shouting as he forerunjer deliverance will come

I saw him in the evening the sun was bending low
He'd over topped the Mountain and reached the vale below
He saw that golden city his everlasting home
And shouted loud "Hosanna" deliverance will come

While gazing on that city just o'er the narrow flood
A band of holy angels came from the throne of God
They bore him on their pinions Safe o'er the dashing foam
And joined him in his triumph deliverance has come

I heard the song of triumph they sang upon that shore
Saying Jesus has redeemed us to suffer never more
Then cast his eyes backward upon the race he'd run
He shouted "Alleluia" deliverance has come

Palms of victory I shall wear

SCHEDULE E—PERSONS BENEFICIALLY INTERESTED IN THIS ESTATE.

13. That Schedule E, following, sets forth the names of all persons and corporations beneficially interested in this estate at the time of decedent's death, as well as those who may have received property listed in Schedule B herein, the nature of their respective interests, their relationship, if any, to the decedent, together with the ages of all minors, annuitants and beneficiaries for life, if any.

It also contains a statement showing which of the beneficiaries named in decedent's will, if any, died prior to the decedent, as well as those if any who have died since the decedent, the dates of their deaths, their heirs and the relationship of such heirs to the decedent in case they take any property by virtue of the death of this decedent.

It also contains a statement showing the amount of the exemption, if any, which is claimed by or on behalf of each of said beneficiaries, together with a detailed statement of the facts upon which any claim of exemption is made on account of any legacy, devise or interest passing for any religious, charitable or educational purpose or to any "mutually acknowledged" or "adopted" child as provided by statute.

It also shows the amount of tax claimed due from the respective beneficiaries, but without prejudice to this petitioner or to any of the beneficiaries or interested parties to petition a rehearing from or otherwise contest any order of this court imposing a tax in this estate.

Note—In stating relationship of grandchildren, cousins, nieces and nephews, trace the relationship thus—A, son of B, brother of decedent,—and otherwise show the stirpes.

Note—In setting forth information relating to the first four columns in the form below, commence in the proper column as indicated at the top of the form using as much space to the right as necessary, and dropping down one line as to each succeeding column.

For example:

(If more space is required attach additional sheet or sheets, immediately following.)

14. That petitioner has made due and diligent search for property of every kind, nature and description left by the decedent, and has been able to discover only that set forth in Schedules A and B, and that no information of any other property of the decedent has come to his knowledge, and that he verily believes that decedent left no property except as therein set forth. That all the sums claimed as deductions in Schedule D are lawful, just and fair, and that to the best of petitioner's knowledge, information and belief the decedent made no gift, grant or conveyance of any property, real or personal, in contemplation of death, or to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after death, except as may be specifically set forth in the appropriate sub-schedule of Schedule B.

Petitioner further says that wherever in any of said sub-schedules the word "none" has been written in, or wherever such sub-schedule has been left blank, such word or omission is to be taken as equivalent to an affirmative allegation by deponent that the decedent left no property or made no transfers of the kind to which sub-schedule relates.

Wherefore, your petitioner prays the court for an order finding and adjudging the net cash value of the property of the decedent, at the time of the transfer thereof, and the amount of inheritance or transfer tax for which the same is liable, and for all other proper relief.

NOTE RELATIVE TO SUPPLEMENTAL AFFIDAVITS.

If the petitioner desires so to do, he may attach in support of this petition, supplemental affidavits of any experts or other competent persons, as to the value of any of the property listed, and in such case the form of the supplemental affidavit may be substantially as follows:

being first duly sworn, on oath says: (1) that (giving a short statement of facts showing competency); (2) that he is familiar with the property hereinafter described and which is also described in the attached petition of the above entitled estate, in Schedule thereof; and that from such experience or knowledge affiant says that it is his best judgment and opinion that the fair cash market value of the said property hereinafter described, on the day of A. D. was as set forth opposite the description thereof following: (Signature and Jurat, of course, should follow the description of the property.)

If the petitioner desires to attach the supplemental affidavit of any person, regarding any other fact with which the petitioner is not familiar the form of the affidavit will be governed by the facts to be related therein. Any form which clearly sets forth the facts will be sufficient.

Such a supplemental affidavit will probably be more frequently needed to set up facts relating to transfers possibly in contemplation of death, or with regard to partnership property, etc.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARATION OF THIS PETITION AND SCHEDULE.

This petition and schedule is prepared by State Board of Tax Commissioners, and approved by the State Board of Accounts.

1. The petition and schedule should be so prepared that little evidence need be adduced at the hearing before the court other than the introduction of the petition. A full and detailed statement of every fact which the estate desires to have considered in the assessment of the tax should be included as well as a statement of any matter concerning which the Auditor of State or his representative might properly inquire at the hearing.

2. The only way the inheritance tax law can be uniformly and equitably administered is for the tax to be assessed upon the full fair market value of the property as of the decedent's death as provided in the statute, and this will be insisted upon in each estate. If incorrect values are given in the petition and schedule, the inheritance tax proceedings must necessarily be delayed until further evidence of value can be obtained and the resulting controversies determined.

If the tax is assessed on the values as given in the petition and it is thereafter found that any of them were materially incorrect, a rehearing or reappraisal will be asked for by the Auditor of State.

3. No form can fit all cases and this form has been prepared to fit the ordinary case, and give such suggestions as will make petitions as uniform as possible.

The petitioner should make a clear statement of any necessary fact not indicated by the blank form. Where necessary or advisable, for clearness, the lines indicating the columns may be entirely ignored. The important thing is not the columns but a clear statement of the facts relating to the particular schedule.
